600 in Area Strike Phone Firm

By CHARLES BERMPOLH
More than 600 members of Local 1120 of the Communication Workers of America are standing firm with the State membership in demanding greater job safety in high crime areas. The installers and repairmen represented by the union are also holding the line against the suspending of three New York City local presidents by the Telephone Company on Saturday.

Pickets have been set up at Telephone Company buildings in Newburgh, Kingston, Poughkeepsie, Catskill, Hudson, and the Monticello area. In Kingston, striking workers have ringed the company office on Broadway and have formed a line in front of the Converse Street business office.

An 11th hour meeting between union and management broke down completely Sunday when the three CWA presidents were suspended. The original issue was a demand by installers for escorts in trouble-packed areas.

Receiving a 14-day suspension was James McCabe, president of Local 1101 in Manhattan, Brooklyn, and The Bronx. Arthur J. Schulhoff, president of Local 1102 in Staten Island, got a seven-day suspension, and John J. Renck, president of Local 1106 in Queens, received a three-day suspension.

William J. Pearson, manager of the Converse Street business office, told The Freeman today that normal telephone service will not be affected by the strike but should a dangerous electrical storm develop, knocking out service in a wide area, then there would be trouble.

Pearson said that there was a "skeleton crew" of management personnel standing by to take care of "out-of-service" repair jobs.

Service calls come into the business office at the average rate of 90 to 100 a day, but many of these calls, it was pointed out, do not require the dispatching of a serviceman.

Pearson released the following statement: "There is no justification for an extension of the illegal strike. Yesterday (Sunday), the Telephone Company offered to go to immediate arbitration to decide the issue of the company's suspension of three union officials. The company is unable to understand the union's refusal to accept the arbitration proposal which was made in an effort to keep 27,000 telephone employees on the job throughout New York State so the escort issue could be resolved in a peaceful atmosphere.

"We had hoped," the statement continues, "that the union would give a fair trial to the temporary escort proposal which it agreed to in principle on Wednesday. In its proposal, the company offered to extend this temporary agreement from 14 to 30 days. However, this too was rejected by the union.

"A few months ago, CWA signed a contract with the company which included a 'no strike' clause. Now, we have the same union calling a statewide expansion of a wildcat strike."

The union had requested that escorts be sent in with repair and installing workers in high crime neighborhoods.

A Union Reply

Robert Smith, representative of some 130 workers in the Kingston area, told The Freeman at the Broadway picket area, "If the company wanted to have a peaceful solution, they shouldn't have suspended the local presidents."

Smith pointed out that the suspended presidents were "only following the wishes of the membership" in supporting the strike, and that the suspensions themselves were "typical union-busting tactics."

Referring to the charge that the union was attempting to flex its muscles in a "power play" move, Smith claimed that this was not the case but that "this is purely a human issue—we want to protect our people."

The CWA representative said that the union was a "community minded union" which always "bargains in good faith" but that it was the suspensions that triggered the State-wide walkout and that such suspensions have taken place in the past.

Smith claimed that, "We're kind of happy that we work for the Bell System" but that there were far too many instances of "muggings and robberies" in high-crime, or "ghetto" areas, and that, as such, the strike is "strictly on the safety issue" and also "on those reprisals."

Kingston strike headquarters has been set up in the Millard Building off Broadway on Prince Street.

Resnick Shuns U.S. Senate Race Against Javits

By RAY TYSON and LYNN MULVANEY
Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick will not oppose Sen. Jacob Javits for U. S. Senator next year.

Predicted correctly in Saturday's Freeman, the Ellenville congressman's decision was announced at a Poughkeepsie press conference this morning.

Resnick, who instead will seek reelection to his current post, won handsomely on his first two tries, gave three reasons for his long-awaited decision:

1. He is now sure there are other possible contenders who support the administration's views on Vietnam policy.
2. He does not see any particular advantage in being a senator rather than a congressman, although he realizes there is supposed to be greater prestige and status in being a member of the Senate.
3. Financially, it is prohibitive, he indicated, stating that the cost of just seeking the nomination would be about $250,000, a primary would run into a million and the campaign itself, three million.

Names Candidate

Asked whom he considered a likely candidate to do battle with Javits, Resnick named three and scratched a fourth from a list of possible nominees.

He gave the nod to upstate industrialist, Howard Samuels of Canandaigua, Zerox president, Sol Linowitz and Morris Abrams. He said he "could never accept" Congressman Samuel S. Stratton. It is felt that Resnick finds the Amsterdam Democrat too conservative.

He added he thought Javits could be beaten citing his recent loss in the Constitutional Convention contest. Javits then lost out in his bid to be a delegate to the convention.

Asked if he would accept the nomination on a draft of the convention, Resnick quipped that he felt the only honest draft was within Selective Service. He said he did not see such a possibility ever arising.

Mention of his possibly seeking the governor's post at a later date brought forth this comment from Resnick, "I will have to wait and see." He said he would wait until reelection in 1968 and make plans at that time as to what the political future might hold for him.

No Comment

Arriving at his decision through independent action, Rep. Resnick said he did not consult Senator Robert Kennedy. He offered a "no comment" when asked if the White House had encouraged his running for the Senate.

Resnick is known to have enjoyed White House favor during the past three years. During last year's campaign, he received a handsome assist locally when President Johnson, Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman and Secretary of the Interior, Stuart Udall made personal appearances in Ulster County with Resnick.

Sources close to the 28th District have made it known that Resnick, who about three months ago announced his sizable interest in the senatorial seat, has been encouraged to run by several financial interests in New York City.

Resnick is also thought to enjoy a popularity similar to Javits in the metropolitan areas. It is also widely speculated that the Tammany organization was looking closely at his candidacy. Senator Kennedy was once heard to say that Resnick would make a

Flood Control Meet Thursday

The Army Corps of Engineers has scheduled a meeting Thursday on a proposed flood control project along the Esopus Creek for Kingston, in New York City.

Attending the meeting will be a host of city officials in addition to engineers, planners and the Kingston urban renewal executive director.

Propose Levee

The proposed plan, according to Eric Hemphill, KURA executive director, is to build a levee along the Esopus Creek from Washington Avenue to behind Britts in the Kingston Shopping Plaza.

The area is subject to flooding, which is somewhat frequent but can be quite severe. The last bad flood was in 1955 followed by slight flooding in 1961.

The cost of the project is believed to be somewhat less than a million dollars. One of the things to be discussed Thursday is of the City of Kingston will have to pay anything for the flood control undertaking.

It is known that the Army Corps of Engineers must have the land made available to them at no cost. The problem appears to be cost sharing of the land.

Runs Through UR

The urban renewal people are involved because part of the proposed project runs through the Uptown Urban Renewal Project area.

The portion is from Washington Avenue to the Sears property line and would include Murphy Street. According to Hemphill, Murphy Street fronting the creek is scheduled to be eliminated if the urban renewal program Uptown ever gets off the ground.

It is currently being held up due to changes in the original plans. Hemphill says there's a possibility that Kingston could lose the flood control construction if definite word can't be Representing the city will be Thomas Wickman, city engineer. Asked for some of the details on the project, the city engineer said he hasn't seen what the Corps of Engineers was going to propose.

Will Not Attend

Mayor Raymond W. Garrahan said he probably wouldn't be at the meeting since it is basically an engineering discussion and he is not an engineer.

Hemphill will take representatives from KURA's planning firm, Raymond and May and its engineers, Brenner and Larios, Newman and Doll. Newman and Doll are the engineers for the Uptown project.

Officials from the Department of Housing and Urban Development have also been invited by Hemphill.

Representatives of Kingston Shopping Plaza will be in attendance at the 11 a. m. meeting.

The project has been under discussion, by Hemphill's agency, at any rate, for the past 2½ years. The most that could come out of Thursday's meeting would be the go-ahead for the Corps of Engineers to request funds for the project. If approved, it could take several more years to complete the project.

Hemphill said this morning he considers it a "worthwhile project," one that would protect the Murphy Street area and attract developers.

If completed it should remove the specter of flooding from that area of the Esopus Creek.

Castroites Hijack Airliner; Six 'Invaders' Put on Parade

HAVANA (AP) — Five partisans of Fidel Castro hijacked a Colombian airliner with more than 70 persons aboard to take them to Havana Sunday. Meanwhile, the Cuban government displayed six captured invaders from Florida whom it accused of planning to kill Castro.

The Cuban government said the plane, whose passengers included four U.S. citizens, was free to resume its flight. All the passengers were reported safe.

The six captive Cuban exiles paraded at a four-hour news conference, all said they were recruited and trained by the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency in Florida.

Two said they carried poisoned bullets intended for Prime Minister Castro. Two others said they were CIA agents. Cuban authorities declined to say whether the captives would be shot.

Guests at the news conference included delegates to the meeting of the Latin American Organization of Solidarity—OLAS—a gathering of revolutionaries from 27 nations. Cuba apparently aimed to use the captives to offset Venezuelan charges that Cuba landed guerrillas near Caracas in May.

The Colombian government said the DC4 plane, flying from Bogota to the Colombian islands of San Andres and Providencia in the Caribbean, carried 71 passengers and four crewmen. It said the pilot, Rafael Madero, telephoned from Havana to report that a group of pro-Castroites had forced him to fly there.

Havana Radio said the plane had 78 passengers and four crewmen and that the armed men who took it over were four Colombians and an Ecuadorian. It said the hijackers asked to remain in Cuba and the government was considering the request. There was speculation the hijackers wanted to pay a dramatic visit to the OLAS meeting.

One passenger, U.S. Army Capt. Harris Wheeler, 25, honeymooning with his wife, Helga, 19, of Modesto, Calif., said the pilot announced the plane was being diverted to Panama.

"I didn't know we were coming to Havana until I saw a MIG over the airfield and I was sure I wasn't in Panama," Wheeler said.

The Wheelers were married Saturday. His parents live in Barranquilla, Colombia, where the plane made a stop. Along with the rest of the passengers, they were taken to a downtown Havana hotel by bus. The other U.S. citizens on the flight were Mr. and Mrs. Victor Estrada of Chicago.

The passengers said they never saw the armed men, but Enrique Mendez and his wife said they were sitting near the crew's quarters and knew something unusual was going on. The flight from Barranquilla to Havana took about 4½ hours.

In Miami, Maj. Armando Freitas, leader of an anti-Castro military group, the Second Front of Escambray, said four of the captured exiles paraded in Havana Sunday were members of his force—Pablo Garcia Roqueta; Alberto Laucercia Diaz; Francisco Avila Azcuay and Jose Roy Rodriguez.

The four said on Havana Radio Sunday night that another member of their band—Placio Hernandez—was wounded when they were captured July 18 and was in a Cuban hospital.

Freitas said the Second Front aims to kill Castro as part of a campaign of "irregular warfare" to topple Cuba's Communist regime.

Details of the plot against Castro were not given. Asked by newsmen if he felt his group could have carried out an assassination, Laucercia smiled and replied: "Circumstances force me to say no."

Cuban officials said the four Second Front men were captured near Honda Bay in Pinar del Rio Province after coming ashore from an "armed mother ship." They displayed arms and explosives they said the four had brought for sabotage and terrorism.

Plan UR Review At Meet Tonight

A citizen's committee of business leaders will meet at the Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corp. offices, 607 Broadway tonight at 8 p. m., to discuss urban renewal in Kingston.

The meeting will be closed to the public and invitations have been sent to Eric Hemphill and Frank A. Reis, Kingston Urban Renewal executive director and chairman, respectively and Mayor Raymond W. Garrahan and James F. Howard, Democratic alderman from the 10th Ward, chairman of the Common Council Committee on Urban Renewal.

Also invited is the entire UR board. This includes William Mahoney, Vincent G. Connelly, Edmund S. Peppard and David Schechter, along with Reis.

It is not known at this time just how many of the businessmen who went to New York City last Monday will be at the meeting. However, Richard M. Kalish, who in some quarters is considered the leader of the businessmen's group, will be there.

In other UR developments, Corporation Counsel Aaron E. Klein, has written a letter to William M. Young and Company, demolition contractor for KURA, in regards to their dumping on 4th Avenue. Klein called it a health hazard and unless the company rectified the situation he would be forced to take legal action against the New Jersey firm.

Late Bulletin 2 Policemen Charged With Murder of 3

DETROIT (AP)—Detroit police said today that two Detroit policemen have been charged with murder in connection with the slayings of three young Negro men at a motel during the recent riots.

Prosecutor William Cahan said the officers are Ronald August and Robert Paille.

Cahan said August is charged in the murder of Aubrey Pollard.

Paille is charged in the slaying of Fred Temple.

Travia Wary of Rocky's Tax Hike Plan

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Assembly Speaker Anthony J. Travia took a wait-and-see stand today on Gov. Rockefeller's hint that he might recommend an increase in state taxes next year.

Travia, the Legislature's ranking Democrat and president of the Constitutional Convention, accused the governor of "poor fiscal planning," but declared his willingness to study any Rockefeller tax proposal.

He and Sen. Majority Leader Earl W. Brydges could exercise great influence over any tax legislation.

"I'll take a look at the governor's program," Travia told The Associated Press in an interview. "I've gone for taxes before."

He added, however, that he thought it was far too early to make a judgment on whether a take like will be needed.

Rockefeller raised the possibility last Friday at a news conference when a reporter asked whether he could rule out a tax increase.

"Let's face it," the governor replied, "I'd like to avoid it if it's at all possible. But we have to look at what's coming on us."

At the time, Rockefeller talked of rising expenditures for education, welfare and state employee wages and the need to find revenues to meet them.

Asked today about the governor's indication of a possible increase, Travia remarked:

"The governor is trying to prepare the way for something because of the mistakes he made. The problem is a badly planned financial picture."

The speaker declared his belief that that the governor took a fiscally unsound step in balancing his $4.9 - billion budget this year by counting on $45 million in revenue from the now-faltering lottery and $51 million from a proposed bond issue.

And Travia took note of the fact that the governor said it would cost the state $528 million a year to take over the local costs of operating welfare programs—a Travia proposal at the convention.

"I disagree that the figure would be $528 million," the speaker said. "He's including the cost of Medicaid."

"Hes looking for an out on taxes," Travia added. "Even if we did have the state assume the welfare costs, it wouldn't have to be done all at one time. We could phase the localities out."

Travia's expressed willingness to examine any tax proposal from the governor was somewhat similar to Brydges' reaction.

Brydges said last Friday, "We are going to have to take a good, hard look at possible increases."

According to Hemphill, Murphy Street fronting the creek is scheduled to be eliminated if the urban renewal program Uptown ever gets off the ground. It is currently being held up due to changes in the original plans. Hemphill says there's a possibility that Kingston could lose the flood control construction if definite word can't be discussed, by Hemphill's agency, at any rate, for the past 2½ years. The most that could come out of Thursday's meeting would be the go-ahead for the Corps of Engineers to request funds for the project. If approved, it could take several more years to complete the project. Hemphill said this morning he considers it a "worthwhile project," one that would protect the Murphy Street area and attract developers. If completed it should remove the specter of flooding from that area of the Esopus Creek.

Some Counties Closed to USSR Diplomats

WASHINGTON (AP)—Soviet and East European diplomats can travel the New York State Thruway through the state, but they won't be able to stop many places along the way.

Several counties traversed by the highway are still on the list closed to the diplomats, despite the limited easing of U.S. travel restrictions. A number of other counties in the northern part of the state also are on the banned list.

The State Department said Saturday it has reduced by 3.5 per cent the areas of the United States ruled off-limits for Soviet officials.

Before the easing, about one-fourth of U.S. territory was off-limits to Soviet diplomats. Less of the country was barred to Communist East Europeans from Poland, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Romania and Bulgaria.

The changes were based both on reciprocity and on U.S. security needs. State Department officials said. The restrictions do not apply to Soviet citizens working for the United Nations or those in this country under U.S.-Soviet exchange programs or as tourists.

The Thruway is to be used only for transit through closed areas. The regulation applies also to Routes 287, 6, and 17 between New York City and Sullivan County; Route 190 between Buffalo and Niagara Falls; Route 87 (Northway) between Albany and Glens Falls. In addition, Routes 9 and 9B are to be used only for transit to and from Canada from Chazy and Rouses Point through Cooperville.

New York counties closed to Soviet citizens subject to travel regulations are Cayuga, Chautauque, Clinton, Erie, Franklin, Fulton, Hamilton, Herkimer, Jefferson, Lewis, Madison, Monroe, Montgomery, Niagara, Oneida, Onondaga, Oswego, St. Lawrence, Saratoga, Schoenectady, Schenectady, Seneca and Wayne.

Buffalo and Niagara Falls, however, are open to travel by Soviet citizens, though they are located in otherwise closed areas.

Gold: It's Potential
The world gold situation gets more intriguing every day. In the whole monetary world, it commands increasing attention.

In 1966, South Africa produced 74 per cent of the Free World's precious metal. The bulk of that was hoarded and hence, the gold reserves of the world were not significantly enlarged.

There is a move afoot to create an international currency. But gold would still be the metal cherished by governments. The gold miners of South Africa are steadily demanding higher wages. As a result, the profits from this basic industry are getting down to a base where profits don't exist.

Quantities of gold are still available in South Africa which, if the gold is to be mined, would force higher prices for the metal. Wages and production costs are combining to upset the present price-cart.

Every investor in America knows that during the past 30 years the buying power of the dollar has been declining. The federal debt has skyrocketed. Money supplies have mushroomed. The dollar has suffered a blow in the solar plexus.

But gold has remained at $35 an ounce. There is no logic to this. It lacks sense. As this column has been predicting for some time, gold at $35 an ounce is unrealistic in the world economy.

Few people in America in 1933 understood the action whereby the price of gold was increased from $20.67 an ounce to $35. And few investors today are cognizant of the potential of gold equities.

In 1966, the Free World production of this metal totaled about 41,000,000 ounces. It is tremendously significant that the bulk of this gold was hoarded. Gold by itself earns nothing. Yet, as this column has pointed out in recent weeks,

A 42-year-old homeless man, appearing in City Court charged with public intoxication, was suddenly stricken Saturday morning with a heart seizure, and was rushed to Kingston Hospital where he died.

The man, Guy Poland, who listed no address, suffered a heart seizure while awaiting his case in City Court, police said.

Police said Poland was arrested Friday night and charged with public intoxication.

The world yearns for gold. And at $50, $70, $100 an ounce, the marginal mines in South Africa that can't make anything at present prices would be opened and the thirsty gold world would have some of its thirst assuaged.
The leading gold producer in the United States is Homestake Mining. This corporation owns very valuable acreage in this country. And, were gold to be increased somewhat in price, a boom would come into the stock.
Canada's leading producer is Dome Mines.

Convention Eyes Membership Hike

BY GERRY McLAUGHLIN
ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The Constitutional Convention was set today to take up a proposed legislative article that some top Democrats view as the key to a Democratic take-over of the Legislature.

A proposal to raise the Senate from 57 to 60 members was one of the key provisions in a draft article before the work-laden convention today. Democratic Convention President Anthony J. Travia said the measure "gives us a real shot" at capturing the Senate from Republicans.

At the same time, a floor fight was developing over a move to take away the governor's power to veto reappointment bills.

The main legislative proposal, sent to the floor last week, also would continue the number of Assembly seats at 150 and replace the controversial "lulu" expense allowance for lawmakers.

Today's calendar—the largest of the session thus far — was dominated by the legislative proposal and by proposed repeal of the Blaine Amendment, barring state aid to sectarian institutions. However, prospects were slim that the touchy Blaine issue would come up for action until later this week.

Meanwhile, these were among other top items contending for convention attention:

WIRETAPPING—Gov. Rockefeller called on the convention today to pass a measure providing "authority for wiretapping and electronic surveillance under appropriate safeguards." Since Travia has expressed support for a somewhat similar proposal, its chances of passage appeared good. The state's law on wiretapping and electronic eavesdropping, or "bugging," has been struck down by the U. S. Supreme Court.

CRIMINAL JUSTICE—Rockefeller has expressed support for a measure that would create a department of criminal justice, with its chief officer to be appointed by the governor. The proposal differs from one backed by U. S. Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, who suggested that the attorney general's office be made appointive and that the attorney general be made head of the proposed new department.

LABOR—Also on the calendar but unlikely to be debated today was a section that would spell out the rights of working men and women in New York. It would spell out their rights to bargain collectively and obtain workmen's compensation for job-connected illness or injury.

TAXES — The convention seemed ready to vote on a measure that would continue to exempt pension contributions of public workers from state income taxes.

The proposed substitute for the Blaine Amendment was sent to the floor last week by the Committee on Bill of Rights and Suffrage. Basically, it embodies the recommendations of the State Board of Regents, in that it:

—Repeals entirely the existing mandate that state aid shall not be granted "directly or indirectly" to church-related schools.

—Substitutes the language of the First Amendment of the federal Constitution, providing basically that "The Legislature shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion..."

—Provides for taxpayer suits to restrain unconstitutional uses of public money.

Republicans prepared to try to amend the legislative article to delete a proposal that would strip the governor of his veto power over bills on legislative and congressional redistricting.

Their chances of success were brightened somewhat when Travia said in an interview that he had "no strong feelings on the matter."

Person To Person

We read that an authority said, "Life is a constant struggle for survival, but in our modern age it seems to us that the many pitfalls have reached an all time high."

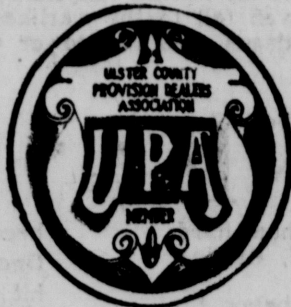

Primitive man had to face many dangers, savages and wild beasts, but not the myriad hazards of industry, machines, traffic, speed, and more speed on land, sea and air. And you don't have to leave your home to meet the enemy. More accidents now occur in the home every year than anywhere else. The purpose of some of these columns, therefore, is to throw more light on the sources and reasons for accidents... perhaps be of some help in avoiding them. Look for this valuable report, and we do hope to SERVE you well here and in business.

Guadalcanal Attack

BY RELMAN MORIN

AP Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON (AP) — The island was so little known that no reliable maps, much less charts of the surrounding waters, could be found.

These were not the only question marks. How many enemy troops were on the island? Where were their main defense positions? How much resistance could be expected on the beach? The operation was full of disquieting x-factors.

Marines Attack

Nonetheless, on Aug. 7, 1942—25 years ago today—units of the U. S. First Marine Division attacked Guadalcanal in the Solomon Islands and began the first American offensive in the Pacific war.

The ensuing battle, which lasted six months, snapped the chain of Japanese victories in Southeast Asia and the South Pacific. From that day forward, the Japanese were forced to fall back steadily until the final surrender, V-J Day, three years later.

"After Guadalcanal in the latter part of 1942," said Capt. Ohmae Toshikazu of the Imperial Japanese Navy planning staff, "I felt we could not win."

In Japanese strategic planning, the island was a key to what might have been the expulsion of all Allied forces from the Pacific. Having overrun Indo-China (now called Vietnam), Malaysia, the Philippines, and the Netherlands East Indies, and reduced the British bases in Hong Kong and Singapore, the Japanese were preparing to deliver the coup de grace—the capture of Australia and New Zealand.

Moving southward, the Japanese army was to take New Guinea. The navy's mission was to establish a base for air and sea operations to protect the flanks of the invading forces. Guadalcanal had been selected as the site for this base. An airfield was under construction when the U. S. Marines suddenly struck.

Without exception, Marine and Army officers say, "They are better educated today, better trained, better equipped. They exhibit the same devotion as we saw among the men on Guadalcanal."

Crash Landing

WAYNE, N.J. (AP) — A private plane en route to Lake George, N.Y., crash-landed Sunday when both engines failed after taking off from Wayne-Totowa Airport.

Henry Carsforth, 42, of Wyckoff, the pilot, received a cut nose in the crash. His wife, Audrey, 42, their son, Allan, 12, and Miss Carol Wicken, 23, all escaped injury.

The plane, which came down in a cornfield near the airport, was damaged heavily, police said. The craft was a Navion registered to the Falco Machine Co. of Paterson.

Tenacious

"They were tenacious, fearless, and convinced of their superiority," says Maj. Gen. Raymond G. Davis, who was a captain commanding a special weapons company on Guadalcanal. "They considered dying an honor and they just kept coming."

There were Americans, too, who "just kept coming."

American fighter pilots were always outnumbered over Guadalcanal. But Capt. Joe Foss shot down 26 Japanese planes and was awarded the Medal of Honor.

Convention Eyes Membership Hike

By GERRY McLAUGHLIN
ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The Constitutional Convention was set today to take up a proposed legislative article that some top Democrats view as the key to a Democratic take-over of the Legislature.

A proposal to raise the Senate from 57 to 60 members was one of the key provisions in a draft article before the work-laden convention today. Democratic Convention President Anthony J. Travia said the measure "gives us a real shot" at capturing the Senate from Republicans.

At the same time, a floor fight was developing over a move to take away the governor's power to veto reappointment bills.

The main legislative proposal, sent to the floor last week, also would continue the number of Assembly seats at 150 and replace the controversial "lulu" expense allowance for lawmakers.

Today's calendar—the largest of the session thus far—was dominated by the legislative proposal and by proposed repeal of the Blaine Amendment, barring state aid to sectarian institutions. However, prospects were slim that the touchy Blaine issue would come up for action until later this week.

Meanwhile, these were among other top items contending for convention attention:

WIRETAPPING—Gov. Rockefeller called on the convention today to pass a measure providing "authority for wiretapping and electronic surveillance under appropriate safeguards." Since Travia has expressed support for a somewhat similar proposal, its chances of passage appeared good. The state's law on wiretapping and "bugging" has been struck down by the U.S. Supreme Court.

CRIMINAL JUSTICE—Rockefeller has expressed support for a measure that would create a department of criminal justice, with its chief officer to be appointed by the governor. The proposal differs from one backed by U.S. Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, who suggested that the attorney general's office be made appointive and that the attorney general be made head of the proposed new department.

LABOR—Also on the calendar but unlikely to be debated today was a section that would spell out the rights of working men and women in New York. It would spell out their rights to bargain collectively and obtain workmen's compensation for job-connected illness or injury.

TAXES — The convention seemed ready to vote on a measure that would continue to exempt pension contributions of public workers from state income taxes.

The proposed substitute for the Blaine Amendment was sent to the floor last week by the Committee on Bill of Rights and Suffrage. Basically, it embodies the recommendations of the State Board of Regents, in that it:

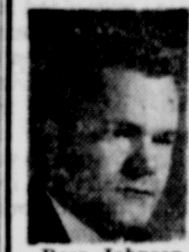

—Repeals entirely the existing mandate that state aid shall not be granted "directly or indirectly" to church-related schools.

—Substitutes the language of the First Amendment of the federal Constitution, providing basically that "The Legislature shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion..."

—Provides for taxpayer suits to restrain unconstitutional uses of public money.

Republicans prepared to try to amend the legislative article to delete a proposal that would strip the governor of his veto power over bills on legislative and congressional redistricting.

Their chances of success were brightened somewhat when Travia said in an interview that he had "no strong feelings on the matter."

Person To Person

We read that an authority said, "Life is a constant struggle for survival, but in our modern age it seems to us that the many pitfalls have reached an all time high."

Primitive man had to face many dangers, savages and wild beasts, but not the myriad hazards of industry, machines, traffic, speed, and more speed on land, sea and air. And you don't have to leave your home to meet the enemy. More accidents now occur in the home every year than anywhere else. The purpose of some of these columns, therefore, is to throw more light on the sources and reasons for accidents... perhaps be of some help in avoiding them. Look for this valuable report, and we do hope to SERVE you well here and in business.

Guadalcanal Attack

By RELMAN MORIN
AP Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON (AP) — The island was so little known that no reliable maps, much less charts of the surrounding waters, could be found.

These were not the only question marks. How many enemy troops were on the island? Where were their main defense positions? How much resistance could be expected on the beach? The operation was full of disquieting x-factors.

Marines Attack
Nonetheless, on Aug. 7, 1942—25 years ago today—units of the U.S. First Marine Division attacked Guadalcanal in the Solomon Islands and began the first American offensive in the Pacific war.

The ensuing battle, which lasted six months, snapped the chain of Japanese victories in Southeast Asia and the South Pacific. From that day forward, the Japanese were forced to fall back steadily until the final surrender, V-J Day, three years later.

"After Guadalcanal in the latter part of 1942," said Capt. Ohmae Toshikazu of the Imperial Japanese Navy planning staff, "I felt we could not win."

In Japanese strategic planning, the island was a key to what might have been the expulsion of all Allied forces from the Pacific. Having overrun Indo-China (now called Vietnam), Malaysia, the Philippines, and the Netherlands East Indies, and reduced the British bases in Hong Kong and Singapore, the Japanese were preparing to deliver the coup de grace—the capture of Australia and New Zealand.

Moving southward, the Japanese army was to take New Guinea. The navy's mission was to establish a base for air and sea operations to protect the flanks of the invading forces. Guadalcanal had been selected as the site for this base. An airfield was under construction when the U.S. Marines suddenly struck.

Amphibious Landings

Amphibious landings were to become a twice-told story to hosts of American fighting men in the later stages of the Pacific War. But at Guadalcanal—"It was an experience you just couldn't visualize," says Col. David R. Griffin, who was then a Marine second lieutenant. "I think the reaction of most of us was apprehension."

However, there was no enemy resistance on the beach. The Marines quickly attained their first assigned objectives. A perimeter was established and enlarged. The first Japanese reaction did not come until two weeks later, on Aug. 21, and the attacking force was wiped out to the last man. The Marines soon acquired a healthy respect for the fighting qualities of the Japanese.

Tenacious

"They were tenacious, fearless, and convinced of their superiority," says Maj. Gen. Raymond G. Davis, who was a captain commanding a special weapons company on Guadalcanal. "They considered dying an honor and they just kept coming."

There were Americans, too, who "just kept coming." American fighter pilots were always outnumbered over Guadalcanal. But Capt. Joe Foss shot down 26 Japanese planes and was awarded the Medal of Honor.

What is the main difference between the Americans who fought on Guadalcanal and those in action in Vietnam today?

Without exception, Marine and Army officers say, "They are better educated today, better trained, better equipped. They exhibit the same devotion as we saw among the men on Guadalcanal."

Crash Landing

WAYNE, N.J. (AP) — A private plane en route to Lake George, N.Y., crash-landed Sunday when both engines failed after taking off from Wayne-Totowa Airport.

Henry Carsforth, 42, of Wyckoff, the pilot, received a cut nose in the crash. His wife, Audrey, 42, their son, Allan, 12, and Miss Carol Wicken, 23, all escaped injury.

The plane, which came down in a cornfield near the airport, was damaged heavily, police said. The craft was a Navion registered to the Falco Machine Co. of Paterson.

Less Guns or Butter?

The United States may be rich enough to finance anti-riot urban programs that will cool off the rest of the summer and also meet all its commitments abroad, especially the Vietnam war, as President Johnson assured his press conference. But the taxpayers of this country would have gone along more readily had he assured them that he would cut other domestic spending to lift the load off their shoulders, too.

Not only the President, but Vice President Humphrey declared the nation can and should spend more to eliminate slumism, as he called it. Speaking to the Congress of Cities convened in Boston by the National League of Cities, Humphrey blamed the Congress for lacking a sense of urgency in appropriating money for substantial aid to our citizens.

"Our gross national product is big enough, I think we are rich enough, I think it is important enough for us to meet our responsibilities at home without neglecting responsibilities in the world," President Johnson said. "I would hope that not many people would feel that because we have a problem at home is any indication that we would ignore or surrender our interests abroad."

In that, the President is right. Few people want to surrender in Vietnam before our goal there, of freedom and independence for South Vietnam, is assured. But that is no token that they want to spend and spend at home, when one-fifth of the gross national product is already committed to the Federal government in taxes. Surely, some of this spending that is not for either the foreign war or the home war can be reduced.

Nor should the fact that riots have broken out in several big cities this summer produce an avalanche of spending that does not reduce the root causes of the crisis in the cities. We want the riots eliminated, but we want the rioters found and put to tasks that will help them earn an honest living, not simply paid to remain quiet. They'll come back for more and more, if they find it is that easy. Let's help them, not pay them off.

On Space Spending

A survey by opinion-sampler Louis Harris finds that Americans, by a slim 46 per cent to 43 per cent margin, are now opposed to the program to land a man on the moon. More than 60 per cent said they would oppose it if the Russians were not in competition with us.

Not surprisingly, low-income people and those over 50 were heavily represented in the opposition.

Though the question was not asked, it is a safe assumption that a majority of Americans, in this poll or any other, would like to see some space or other funds diverted to projects or defense closer to home.

This sentiment seemingly has few echoes in Congress. Viewing the wreckage after the House vigorously wielded an ax against an appropriations request by the Department of Housing and Urban Development, Rep. Louis Wyman, R-N.H., reminded his colleagues:

"There is just about enough in the present appropriation for this model cities program to fuel and fire one large Saturn rocket."

Nevertheless, the House went on to chop $425 million from the $662 million request. Meanwhile, a House-Senate conference committee was only able to weed out a mere $234 million from the space agency's $5 billion budget for 1968.

America, says President Johnson, can afford both the Vietnam war and the poverty war. It can also probably afford the moon race and anything else it feels it must do.

The conflict, however, is not over means but ends.

Sociologists, philosophers, engineers, architects and city planners met in Washington recently to talk about ends.

According to "City," published by non-profit Urban America, Inc., the conferees agreed that space and weapons programs, complex as they are, have the advantage of clearly defined ends. But there is no similar agreement about the ends of urban rehabilitation.

Said Dr. Ronald F. Hornig, science adviser to the President, "The suburban commuter, the small downtown businessman, the low-income resident, the real estate developer, all have quite different goals."

Though different, those goals all come under the heading of "the good life."

But, said scientist Walter Rosenblith of MIT, "We cannot define 'the good life' in measurable and operational terms; we cannot foresee how this definition might change in the future, and we cannot judge adequately all the effects of means which might be used to achieve it."

Thus Americans remain, in general, in favor of large-scale spending programs on domestic problems.

Butter and Guns Theory Impractical During a War

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4 — The Johnson administration is still not facing up to the fact that "butter and guns" during a war are impracticable and can only result in a floundering economy.

The President's message, proposing a surcharge of 10 per cent on the taxes of individuals and corporations together with some other technical devices to increase revenues, does not go to the heart of the problems of inflation. Usually during a war, not only is an excess-profits tax imposed, but wage-and-price controls as well. The President has suggested cuts in certain expenditures, yet the total budget seems likely to go soaring upwards just the same.

Congress Skeptical
The message sets forth a policy of trying "to provide the fairest and least disruptive means of sustaining—without inflation—America's unprecedented period of uninterrupted prosperity." The current inflation, however, is already noticeable as prices have been steadily rising, with higher wages being demanded at the same time. The President is promising that spending will be reduced, but members of Congress in both parties are skeptical about such a result.

The tax bill will not be passed until a little later in the present session of Congress when there is a clearer idea of just what the total federal budget is going to be. It seems certain, however, that there will be a tax increase, as this will be regarded by members of both parties as the lesser of two evils. There is a hesitancy, for instance, to pass wage-and-price-control legislation or to impose an excess-profits tax.

No plan that raises taxes is, to be sure, popular, though harm is done by handling tax problems on the basis of what is politically advantageous or disadvantageous than by putting into effect a policy that will preserve some kind of economic equilibrium.

Mr. Johnson says the currently projected deficit of 29 billion dollars, if not offset by increased revenues, "poses" a clear and present danger to America's security and economic health. He predicts that it could cause a spiral of inflation which would bring "brutally higher interest rates and tight money which would cripple the home builder and the home buyer, as well as the businessman."

But the real question is whether the 7.4 billion-dollar increase in revenues which will cut down the 29-billion-dollar deficit by about a fourth will produce in the minds of economic experts any feeling of confidence. For a 16 billion-dollar deficit is almost as ominous as one of 29 billion, since large deficits are becoming an annual affair.

War a Factor
Undoubtedly the Vietnam War is a big factor in the government's deficit, but this is not the whole story. The public is confused by the maze of figures and the constant reference to the Vietnam conflict as a war of prolonged expense. The "Great Society's" programs nevertheless have expanded steadily.

Federal outlays and grants have been authorized on a truly unprecedented scale in American history. It is conceded that many of these federal appropriations are desirable, but it is being asked why the government shouldn't hold down domestic appropriations for two or three years, until it is practical for the Vietnam War expense to be substantially reduced.

It is obviously difficult for an administration which faces a presidential-election campaign within the next twelve months to suspend those domestic expenditures which mean votes in various areas of the country. So the new tax proposal and the size of the budget are designed to interfere as little as possible with the flow of government funds into the economy.

The tax measure will mean a relatively small diversion of private funds into the treasury. The high rate of government spending will continue, and if "inflation" can ever be called "prosperity," then the two terms will coincide at least until after the 1968 election. Eventually there will have to be a day of reckoning, because the current fiscal policy is based largely on political expediency.

The fish, it seems, are always somewhere else. We tried Shrewsbury Rocks, off New Jersey. All we caught was a burn. Someone on the ship-to-shore phone said he was "killing them" at the Acid Banks. When we got there, the story was that they were at Barnegat Light. There was nothing at the light, unless the fish were inside it.

Scores of millions of Americans spend hundreds of millions of dollars on rods, spinners, flies, heavy sea gear, boats and bait. They fish the blue lakes, the swift brooks, broad rivers, the bays and the endless seas. A good fisherman is always hooked. He pits his wits against something he cannot see.

He requires skill and patience and, if he goes home empty and feels that it was a good day, he is a true fisherman. On the recent trip to the Bahamas, Away We Go IV provided the seas for big bill fish. The outriggers rocked their golden arms against the blue skies, and, behind the boat, the little balao and mullet skipped and splashed.

We bagged some big barracuda, the dentist's delight. But the marlin were deep and we took to watching for birds to lead us to the big catch. The sea birds need three or four times their weight in food

In the cool jungle below, the big marlin, or the heavy tuna, must eat too. So he positions himself beneath the surface, swimming slowly and saving his strength. He looks up, catching the refraction of sunlight against the surface of the groundswells. When he sees a school of small fish, he makes his run upward, twisting his head and bagging as many as possible.

The little ones see him coming and they break the surface in small flying arcs, like a water fountain. We saw black fin tuna come up flying and the birds dove hard, but the black fins were too big for them. Away We Go moved sedately through the battle, dragging the skipping bait, but the big fish would have been a fool to take balao when he could have tuna.

Sometimes, in his fight for food, he too breaks the surface and, for a moment, he hangs in space, a shining giant, before he falls back in white spume. In this case, he stayed just beneath the surface and his tail made boiling swirls in the quiet water.

Drew Pearson Says

Congress Fiddled

WASHINGTON — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey pointed an accusing finger in the right direction when he blamed Congress last week for failing to respond to the crisis in our cities.

What Humphrey could have said, but discreetly didn't mention, is that Congress is run by a gaggle of old men from small towns, who never been much interested in the problems of the cities.

Even as riots raged out of control in city after city, the old men cracked the whip and the House obediently voted down the rent-subsidy and rat-control programs. They also looped a whopping two thirds off the model-cities control programs. These are measures that would ease the pressure in the slums and help to prevent future riots.

Nor did the Senate Appropriations Committee, contemplating the House action, show much disposition to restore the cuts. Throughout the three-day hearing Senators wandered in and out of the ornate committee chamber without the slightest show of urgency. At its most crowded moments only eight of the 17 committee members bothered to show up at the hearing. Usually only two or three were present.

Only 68-year-old Sen. Milton Young of La. Moore, N. D., showed any awareness that the riot-wrecked cities might have to be rebuilt. He demanded to know whether these cities would be "rewarded" by receiving priority over other cities in the model-cities program.

Robert Weaver, the Negro Secretary of Housing and Urban Development, hastily assured Young that no favoritism would be shown to cities hit by riots.

"It's a sad commentary," piped up 66-year-old Sen. Gordon Allott of Lamar, Colo., "that the federal government has to provide 80 per cent of the money to help cities do the things they should have done anyway."

Weaver suggested tactfully: "The cities just don't have the financial capacity to do this."

Pork More Popular
Meanwhile, the House demonstrated far more eagerness to vote $4.6 billion for dams, harbor improvements and other public works projects. This is the pork that wins them votes back home.

The bill was steered easily through the House by 80-year-old Rep. Mike Kirwan of Youngstown, Ohio, who received enthusiastic pats from his pork-hungry colleagues.

One of the most astute was 57-year-old Congressman Jamie Whitten of Charleston, Miss., who has blocked funds to help feed hungry Mississippi Negroes. Yet while he opposed spending one cent for food, he got $4 million out of Kirwan for public works projects in his state.

He verbally embraced Kirwan. "I have come to love him," exclaimed Whitten happily, "and to appreciate his great contributions to our nation."

This was how Congress fiddled while Newark and Detroit burned. It is also typical of how Congress has lost touch with the times. For Congress has become largely a council of elders, dominated by tired old men whose only claim to power is their ability to outlive their colleagues. The Seniority system has given command of the committees to these men, with no consideration for their ability, honesty, or possible senility.

The system has produced chairmen who are not representative of the country's geography, its desires, its politics or its people.

All Powerful Chairmen
The committee chairmen have the power to appoint subcommittees, to set hearings, to decide what witnesses will appear and to determine when and whether committee meetings will be held. They also have the first and last words in the floor debates.

With half the electorate under 30, the committee chairmen average more than 67 years of age. Most of them come from small rural towns. Most are Southerners; thus Congress is not unlike a Union army run by Confederate generals.

In the Senate, ten of the sixteen chairmen are from the South; the rest are Westerners. Although 65 is often the mandatory retirement age in private industry, ten of the Senate chairmen are past that age and six are past 70.

The situation is much the same in the House. Of the twenty chairmanships, fourteen are held by Congressmen from Southern and border states. Thirteen of these legislators are past 65, seven over 70.

Henry J. Taylor Says

The Death of Athens

ATHENS, Greece—The previous government's unlimited promises and unlimited spending, equivalent to President Johnson's Great Society, have been leading to bankruptcy through bureaucracy.

What about Mr. Johnson's magic candy cane? Is the welfare state a feasible state or merely the state of mind of our Washington spenders? Moreover, few things could be more instructive to us at home than this very ancient city's ancient past.

Socrates warned as early as 365 B. C.: "The poorer citizens have captured the government and have voted the property of the other citizens into political hands for redistribution among themselves. Politicians have strained their ingenuity to discover new sources of revenue in this circle of action."

What's new about President Johnson's candy cane?

At one period Athens never seemed so great, nor its future so secure. But as so often happens, when an institution or great personality seems at its highest force, actually the process of irredeemable decay has already set in.

Brief Democracy
In the best but brief days of Athens' democracy only about one in 10 persons had sufficient interest to vote. Finally, those eligible were paid to come to the market places, listen to the speeches, and vote.

The political spiders did the rest.

There were barbarians (as always) out side the walls. Babylon and Egypt fell to the warlike Assyrians, Nineveh fell to the warlike Chaldeans, and the power of the Chaldeans fell before the growing might of the Persians. Then, with Athens as Persia's goal, the Persians were continued, on and off, for hundreds of years.

When Alexander's homesick army refused to cross the Indus this was the end of Alexander the Great and he died before he, too, could return home, age 33.

Within Greece itself, Croton was less wealthy than Athens but better organized for war. So was Sparta. The aura of invincibility ultimately surrounded Sparta. In the Spartan constitution of Lycurgus the state was everything, the individual nothing. Orders were final. Questioning them was impossible. Propaganda and education were synonymous.

Under her totalitarian system Sparta never needed more than 8,000 highly trained fighting men to threaten rich Athens and seldom committed that many to combat.

Oratorical Death
Athens died in an age of oratory. False promises, unobtainable promises, broken promises—these three things are the curse of men and nations. In the politicians' failure to defend sound principles the Athenians ceased to know what sound principles were.

Athen took the place of liberty, and there was a sick sentimentality that condoned criminality and even the lack of patriotism as society's fault and dismissed the individual from responsibility—an important false reading of human nature.

Athens should have learned from Crete, as we should learn from this century's events involving England. The Athenians certainly had plenty of time.

Crete flourished long before Athens' glory in the 5th century B.C. The Greeks called it simply "The Great Island." Four thousand years of civilization overlay it. Zeus himself grew up in a Cretan cave on Mt. Ida. Legendary King Minos' errand wife fell in love with a bull and spawned the monster Minotaur. Minos had Daedalus build the labyrinth (you can see the ruins at Knossos) to imprison it.

It is, as well, a home of Apollo's beloved dolphin, the darling of the Aegean, the "desire of the sea." And you eat souvlaki, a pastry-lamb yogurt staple which both Homer and Aristotle recommended.

Many Conquerors
After the Minoans, many aggressors overran the great island—the Arabs, Byzantine, Venetians, Romans and Turks left their trace.

The Athenians knew all this and learned nothing. History has nations come up from bondage to prosperity, then descend from prosperity to selfishness, selfishness to dependency, and dependency to fear.

Many civilizations have collapsed because economic, military and social problems became so complex and burdensome that the spirit and will of the people were no longer sufficient to cope with them. This is the enemy inside that can cost us our place as the world's No. 1 power.

Nothing happening here in Greece now is as important in our American lives as this parallel.

Less Guns or Butter?

The United States may be rich enough to finance anti-riot urban programs that will cool off the rest of the summer and also meet all its commitments abroad, especially the Vietnam war, as President Johnson assured his press conference. But the taxpayers of this country would have gone along more readily had he assured them that he would cut other domestic spending to lift the load off their shoulders, too.

Not only the President, but Vice President Humphrey declared the nation can and should spend more to eliminate slumism, as he called it. Speaking to the Congress of Cities convened in Boston by the National League of Cities, Humphrey blamed the Congress for lacking a sense of urgency in appropriating money for substantial aid to our citizens.

"Our gross national product is big enough, I think we are rich enough, I think it is important enough for us to meet our responsibilities at home without neglecting responsibilities in the world," President Johnson said. "I would hope that not many people would feel that because we have a problem at home is any indication that we would ignore or surrender our interests abroad."

In that, the President is right. Few people want to surrender in Vietnam before our goal there, of freedom and independence for South Vietnam, is assured. But that is no token that they want to spend and spend at home, when one-fifth of the gross national product is already committed to the Federal government in taxes. Surely, some of this spending that is not for either the foreign war or the home war can be reduced.

Nor should the fact that riots have broken out in several big cities this summer produce an avalanche of spending that does not reduce the root causes of the crisis in the cities. We want the riots eliminated, but we want the rioters found and put to tasks that will help them earn an honest living, not simply paid to remain quiet. They'll come back for more and more, if they find it is that easy. Let's help them, not pay them off.

On Space Spending

A survey by opinion-sampler Louis Harris finds that Americans, by a slim 46 per cent to 43 per cent margin, are now opposed to the program to land a man on the moon. More than 60 per cent said they would oppose it if the Russians were not in competition with us.

Not surprisingly, low-income people and those over 50 were heavily represented in the opposition.

Though the question was not asked, it is a safe assumption that a majority of Americans, in this poll or any other, would like to see some space or other funds diverted to projects or defense closer to home.

This sentiment seemingly has few echoes in Congress. Viewing the wreckage after the House vigorously wielded an ax against an appropriations request by the Department of Housing and Urban Development, Rep. Louis Wyman, R-N.H., reminded his colleagues:

"There is just about enough in the present appropriation for this model cities program to fuel and fire one large Saturn rocket."

Nevertheless, the House went on to chop $425 million from the $662 million request. Meanwhile, a House-Senate conference committee was only able to weed out a mere $234 million from the space agency's $5 billion budget for 1968.

America, says President Johnson, can afford both the Vietnam war and the poverty war. It can also probably afford the moon race and anything else it feels it must do.

The conflict, however, is not over means but ends.

Sociologists, philosophers, engineers, architects and city planners met in Washington recently to talk about ends.

According to "City," published by non-profit Urban America, Inc., the conferees agreed that space and weapons programs, complex as they are, have the advantage of clearly defined ends. But there is no similar agreement about the ends of urban rehabilitation.

Said Dr. Ronald F. Hornig, science adviser to the President, "The suburban commuter, the small downtown businessman, the low-income resident, the real estate developer, all have quite different goals."

Though different, those goals all come under the heading of "the good life."

But, said scientist Walter Rosenblith of MIT, "We cannot define 'the good life' in measurable and operational terms; we cannot foresee how this definition might change in the future, and we cannot judge adequately all the effects of means which might be used to achieve it."

Thus Americans remain, in general, in favor of large-scale spending programs on domestic problems.

Butter and Guns Theory Impractical During a War

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4—The Johnson administration is still not facing up to the fact that "butter and guns" during a war are impractical and can only result in a floundering economy.

The President's message, proposing a surcharge of 10 per cent on the taxes of individuals and corporations together with some other technical devices to increase revenues, does not go to the heart of the problems of inflation. Usually during a war, not only is an excess-profits tax imposed, but wage-and-price controls as well. The President has suggested cuts in certain expenditures, yet the total budget seems likely to go soaring upwards just the same.

Congress Skeptical

The message sets forth a policy of trying "to provide the fairest and least disruptive means of sustaining—without inflation—America's unprecedented period of uninterrupted prosperity." The current inflation, however, is already noticeable as prices have been steadily rising, with higher wages being demanded at the same time. The President is promising that spending will be reduced, but members of Congress in both parties are skeptical about such a result.

The tax bill will not be passed until a little later in the present session of Congress when there is a clearer idea of just what the total federal budget is going to be. It seems certain, however, that there will be a tax increase, as this will be regarded by members of both parties as the lesser of two evils. There is a hesitancy, for instance, to pass wage-and-price-control legislation or to impose an excess-profits tax.

No plan that raises taxes is, to be sure, popular, though harm is done by handling tax problems on the basis of what is politically advantageous or disadvantageous than by putting into effect a policy that will preserve some kind of economic equilibrium.

Mr. Johnson says the currently projected deficit of 29 billion dollars, if not offset by increased revenues, "poses" a clear and present danger to America's security and economic health. He predicts that it could cause a spiral of inflation which would bring "brutally higher interest rates and tight money which would cripple the home builder and the home buyer, as well as the businessman."

But the real question is whether the 7.4 billion-dollar increase in revenues which will cut down the 29-billion-dollar deficit by about a fourth will produce in the minds of economic experts any feeling of confidence. For a 16 billion-dollar deficit is almost as ominous as one of 29 billion, since large deficits are becoming an annual affair.

War a Factor

Undoubtedly the Vietnam War is a big factor in the government's deficit, but this is not the whole story. The public is confused by the maze of figures and the constant reference to the Vietnam conflict as a war of prolonged expense. The "Great Society's" programs nevertheless have expanded steadily. Federal outlays and grants have been authorized on a truly unprecedented scale in American history. It is conceded that many of these federal appropriations are desirable, but it is being asked why the government shouldn't hold down domestic appropriations for two or three years, until it is practical for the Vietnam War expense to be substantially reduced.

It is obviously difficult for an administration which faces a presidential-election campaign within the next twelve months to suspend those domestic expenditures which mean votes in various areas of the country. So the new tax proposal and the size of the budget are designed to interfere as little as possible with the flow of government funds into the economy.

The tax measure will mean a relatively small diversion of private funds into the treasury. The high rate of government spending will continue, and if "inflation" can ever be called "prosperity," then the two terms will coincide at least until after the 1968 election. Eventually there will have to be a day of reckoning, because the current fiscal policy is based largely on political expediency.

The fish, it seems, are always somewhere else. We tried Shrewsbury Rocks, off New Jersey. All we caught was a burn. Someone on the ship-to-shore phone said he was "killing them" at the Acid Banks. When we got there, the story was that they were at Barnegat Light. There was nothing at the light, unless the fish were inside it.

Scores of millions of Americans spend hundreds of millions of dollars on rods, spinners, flies, heavy sea gear, boats and bait. They fish the blue lakes, the swift brooks, broad rivers, the bays and the endless seas. A good fisherman is always hooked. He pits his wits against something he cannot see.

He requires skill and patience and, if he goes home empty and feels that it was a good day, he is a true fisherman. On the recent trip to the Bahamas, Away We Go IV prowled the seas for big bill fish. The outriggers rocked their golden arms against the blue skies, and, behind the boat, the little balao and mullet skipped and splashed.

We bagged some big barracuda, the dentist's delight. But the marlin were deep and we took to watching for birds to lead us to the big catch. The sea birds need three or four times their weight in food every day, so they hunt hard. The flock spins off, darting, twisting, diving.

In the cool jungle below, the big marlin, or the heavy tuna, must eat too. So he positions himself beneath the surface, swimming slowly and saving his strength. He looks up, catching the refraction of sunlight against the surface of the groundswells. When he sees a school of small fish, he makes his run upward, twisting his head and bagging as many as possible.

The little ones see him coming and they break the surface in small flying arcs, like a water fountain. We saw black fin tuna come up flying and the birds dove hard, but the black fins were too big for them. Away We Go moved sedately through the battle, dragging the skipping bait, but the big fish would have been a fool to take balao when he could have tuna.

Sometimes, in his fight for food, he too breaks the surface and, for a moment, he hangs in space, a shining giant, before he falls back in white spume. In this case, he stayed just beneath the surface and his tail made boiling swirls in the quiet water.

My wife and I fish as a team. Her excitement builds as she sits in a fighting chair squinting at the bait. She becomes breathless, sitting. Once, a 400-pound lemon shark hit her line and she had him well hooked on 80-pound test, but I thought he'd make her quit.

She will not accept help. No one is allowed to hold the rod for a moment while she wipes the perspiration dripping salt from brows into blue eyes. She put the drag on and he made one giant leap and two runs aft. Then he decided to play it cool and just lie in the water. Kelly tried to reel in 400-pounds of dead weight and her feet went right through the ice box. The splintering sounded like rifle fire.

mer, which is one reason why he is content to eat tin cans and garbage. This one brought his dorsal fin above the surface, and she brought him in one notch at a time. In a half hour, she hauled him 300 feet and he was alongside the starboard rudder.

She stood up to look at the tremendous length of him just beneath the surface. For the first time, the contentants saw each other. He swam lazily toward the center of the boat, close aboard, and she grabbed a big gaff with one-inch white nylon line and jabbed behind his head. The shark was one foot too deep.

He saw the hook coming and didn't flinch. Slowly, he swam under the boat and, when he came out on the port side amidships, he felt the line tighten and he yanked his head once. The line broke and he left, trailing the line down his side. Kelly screamed a bad name at him and burst into tears.

If you are a fisherman, you can understand this. If you are not, none of it makes sense. She caught a good African pompano, but even while she was boiling it, she was moaning about that lemon shark. Lou Garcelon, who runs the Grand Marina, talks about the biggest marlin he ever saw.

When he hooked into it, the marlin didn't jump. He dove deep right behind the boat and the reel sung out on drag until it smoked. An hour later, he had the marlin up, with nylon tangled around his big bill, and blood all over the sea.

The odds were still with the fish. He snapped the line and swam away. Two days later, a dying marlin was found on the beach at Bimini with nylon line all over his bill. It was the biggest seen in the Bahamas. Nobody caught nobody.

It's the only sport which can be exciting, even when you come up empty . . .

Drew Pearson Says Congress Fiddled

WASHINGTON — Vice President Hubert Humphrey pointed an accusing finger in the right direction when he blamed Congress last week for failing to respond to the crisis in our cities.

What Humphrey could have said, but discreetly didn't mention, is that Congress is run by a gaggle of old men from small towns, who never been much interested in the problems of the cities.

Even as riots raged out of control in city after city, the old men cracked the whip and the House obediently voted down the rent-subsidy and rat-control programs. They also looped a whopping two thirds off the model-cities control programs. These are measures that would ease the pressure in the slums and help to prevent future riots.

Nor did the Senate Appropriations Committee, contemplating the House action, show much disposition to restore the cuts. Throughout the three-day hearing Senators wandered in and out of the ornate committee chamber without the slightest show of urgency.

At its most crowded moments only eight of the 17 committee members bothered to show up at the hearing. Usually only two or three were present.

Only 69-year-old Sen. Milton Young of La. Moire, N. D., showed any awareness that the riot-wrecked cities might have to be rebuilt. He demanded to know whether these cities would be "rewarded" by receiving priority over other cities in the model-cities program.

Robert Weaver, the Negro Secretary of Housing and Urban Development, hastily assured Young that no favoritism would be shown to cities hit by riots.

"It's a sad commentary," piped up 60-year-old Sen. Gordon Allott of Lamar, Colo., "that the federal government has to provide 80 per cent of the money to help cities do the things they should have done anyway."

Weaver suggested tactfully: "The cities just don't have the financial capacity to do this."

Pork More Popular
Meanwhile, the House demonstrated far more eagerness to vote $4.6 billion for dams, harbor improvements and other public works projects. This is the pork that wins them votes back home.

The bill was steered easily through the House by 80-year-old Rep. Mike Kirwan of Youngstown, Ohio, who received enthusiastic applause from his pork-hungry colleagues.

One of the most ecstatic was 57-year-old Congressman Jamie Whitten of Charleston, Miss., who has blocked funds to help feed hungry Mississippi Negroes. Yet while he opposed spending one cent for food, he got $4 million out of Kirwan for public works projects in his state.

He verbally embraced Kirwan. "I have come to love him," exclaimed Whitten happily, "and to appreciate his great contributions to our nation."

This was how Congress fiddled while Newark and Detroit burned. It is also typical of how Congress has lost touch with the times. For Congress has become largely a council of elders, dominated by tired old men whose only claim to power is their ability to outlive their colleagues. The Seniority system has given command of the committees to these men, with no consideration for their ability, honesty, or possible senility.

The system has produced chairmen who are not representative of the country's geography, its desires, its politics or its people.

All Powerful Chairmen
The committee chairmen have the power to appoint subcommittees, to set hearings, to decide what witnesses will appear and to determine when and whether committee meetings will be held. They also have the first and last words in the floor debates.

With half the electorate under 30, the committee chairmen average more than 67 years of age. Most of them come from small rural towns. Most are Southerners; thus Congress is not unlike a Union army run by Confederate generals.

In the Senate, ten of the sixteen chairmen are from the South; the rest are Westerners. Although 65 is often the mandatory retirement age in private industry, ten of the Senate chairmen are past that age and six are past 70.

The situation is much the same in the House. Of the twenty chairmanships, fourteen are held by Congressmen from Southern and border states. Thirteen of these legislators are past 65, seven over 70.

Henry J. Taylor Says

The Death of Athens

ATHENS, Greece—The previous government's unlimited promises and unlimited spending, equivalent to President Johnson's Great Society, have been leading to bankruptcy through bureaucracy.

What about Mr. Johnson's magic candy cane? Is the welfare state a feasible state or merely the state of mind of our Washington spenders? Moreover, few things could be more instructive to us at home than this very ancient city's ancient past.

Socrates warned as early as 343 B. C.: "The poorer citizens have captured the government and have voted the property of the other citizens into political hands for redistribution among themselves. Politicians have strained their ingenuity to discover new sources of revenue in this circle of action."

What's new about President Johnson's candy store?

At one period Athens never seemed so great, nor its future so secure. But as so often happens, when an institution or great personality seems at its highest force, actually the process of irredeemable decay has already set in.

Brief Democracy
In the best and brief days of Athens' democracy only about one in 10 persons had sufficient interest to vote. Finally, those eligible were paid to come to the market places, listen to the speeches, and vote.

The political spiders did the rest.

There were barbarians (as always) outside the walls. Babylon and Egypt fell to the warlike Assyrians. Nineveh fell to the warlike Chaldeans, and the power of the Chaldeans fell before the growing might of the Persians. Then, with Athens as Persia's goal, the Persians were continued, on and off, for hundreds of years.

When Alexander's homesick army refused to cross the Indus this was the end of Alexander the Great and he died before he, too, could return home, age 33.

Within Greece itself, Croton was less wealthy than Athens but better organized for war. So was Sparta. The aura of invincibility ultimately surrounded Sparta. In the Spartan constitution of Lycurgus the state was everything, the individual nothing. Orders were final. Questioning them was impossible. Propaganda and education were synonymous.

Under her totalitarian system Sparta never needed more than 8,000 highly trained fighting men to threaten rich Athens and seldom committed that many to combat.

Oratorical Death
Athens died in an age of oratory. False promises, unobtainable promises, broken promises—these three things are the curse of men and nations. In the politicians' failure to defend sound principles the Athenians ceased to know what sound principles were.

License took the place of liberty, and there was a sick sentimentality that condoned criminality and even the lack of patriotism as society's fault and dismissed the individual from responsibility—an important false reading of human nature.

Athens should have learned from Crete, as we should learn from this century's events involving England. The Athenians certainly had plenty of time.

Crete flourished long before Athens' glory in the 5th century B.C. The Greeks called it simply "The Great Island." Four thousand years of civilization overlay it. Zeus himself grew up in a Cretan cave on Mt. Ida. Legendary King Minos' errand wife fell in love with a bull and spawned the monster Minotaur. Minos had Daedalus build the labyrinth (you can see the ruins at Knossos) to imprison it.

It is, as well, a home of Apollo's beloved dolphin, the darling of the Aegean, the "desire of the sea." And you eat souvlaki, a pastry-lamb yogurt staple which both Homer and Aristotle recommended.

Many Conquerors
After the Minoans, many aggressors overran the great island—the Arabs, Byzantine, Venetians, Romans and Turks left their trace.

The Athenians knew all this and learned nothing. History has nations come up from bondage to prosperity, then descend from prosperity to selfishness, selfishness to dependency, and dependency to fear.

Many civilizations have collapsed because economic, military and social problems became so complex and burdensome that the spirit and will of the people were no longer sufficient to cope with them. This is the enemy inside that can cost us our place as the world's No. 1 power.

Nothing happening here in Greece now is as important in our American lives as this parallel.

Old Jerusalem Shops Padlocked

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—Arab merchants and shopkeepers in the former Jordanian sector of Jerusalem padlocked their doors today in protest against Israel's unification of the city. Observers termed the strike nearly 100 per cent effective.

Israel and Jordan meanwhile resolved a deadlock that had been blocking repatriation of an estimated 260,000 Arabs who fled from the west bank of the Jordan River during and after the six-day June war. But Egyptian civilians from the Israeli-occupied Sinai desert into Cairo newspapers reported an Arab summit conference will be held in Khartoum, the Sudanese capital, starting Aug. 28. The foreign ministers of the 13 Arab nations ended a conference in Khartoum Saturday with a call for the meeting and a pledge to "eradicate all vestiges of Zionist imperialism aggression."

Nearly all the more than 2,000 shops and stores inside the walls of the Old City of Jerusalem and in the new part of the Arab sector were closed by the strike. Only three bakeries were open.

COMPLIMENTS OF T. ROBERT GALLO

County Post Sought By Paltz Architect

Jedd S. Reisner, architect and New Paltz resident, and a Democratic candidate for the County Legislature representing New Paltz and Gardiner, today listed his autobiography for voter review.

Reisner and his wife reside at 7 Innis Avenue with their youngest son, Holly. Another son, Mark, is presently studying physics at the University of Maryland, and a daughter, Joan, is an art teacher in Iowa. Their home recently selected by the New Paltz Garden Club for a tour, is an outstanding example of an old home restored to meet the needs of modern living.

A member and elder in the New Paltz Dutch Reformed Church, Reisner is also closely associated with the Highland-New Paltz Rotary. He has served as chairman of numerous committees.

A former architectural editor for House Beautiful magazine, Reisner has been a practicing architect since 1944. He has been a visiting professor of Architectural Design at Yale, Columbia, Syracuse, Cornell and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Awards that Reisner has received include: a scholarship for travel and study in Europe, and an award for the best design of the year from Progressive Architecture Magazine for the Wood Products Laboratory at Syracuse University, and a design award from the Association of American School Administrators.

Local examples of his designs are the Marlboro Elementary School at Onteora. In addition several New Paltz homes have been designed by Reisner.

Whitney Gem Theft

No New Evidence

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N.Y. (AP) — Police and FBI agents reported nothing new Sunday in the investigation of the theft of $781,800 in jewelry Wednesday from the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney.

The stolen gems included a diamond necklace that belonged to Whitney's mother; the Whitney sapphire that Mrs. Whitney considers a jinx and which will be consigned to a vault upon recovery; an owl pin, the first gift to her from her husband; a turquoise and diamond set, including a necklace, earrings and bracelet; a ruby pin, emeralds, and a collection of less costly daytime jewelry.

Authorities did not disclose the complete list nor the value of the stolen gems.

The jewels were in a handbag under a blanket in a second-floor bedroom closet of the Whitney's mansion, Overlooked were Mrs. Whitney's Empress pearls, valued at $500,000, and other valuable gems, including jewels left in another bedroom by her sister-in-law, Mrs. George Headley, the former Barbara Whitney.

The jewels, all said to be covered by insurance, were taken between 8:30 and 10:30 p. m. Wednesday while the Whitneys were dining out. Police said there was no sign of forced entry to the house, servants did not report intruders, and two dogs in the house created no disturbance.

Mrs. Whitney did not discover the loss until Thursday when she went to the closet to select jewels to wear that night at a dinner the Whitneys gave at the nearby Hall of Springs. The dinner followed the opening of the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra concert season at the Saratoga Performing Arts Center.

Police said the theft was reported to the insurance company, but local police were not notified officially until about 24 hours later.

The Whitneys attended a cocktail party before the Thursday night concert and hosted a dinner after the performance. "I had to go through the whole party without anybody knowing," Mrs. Whitney said later. "I drank lots of champagne and tried to look happy. But I felt awful."

Reports Given On Tri-Mount Camp Session

The fourth period of the 1967 season at Camp Tri-Mount, BSA began with an indoor campfire and ended on Saturday night in the same fashion. But the fact that 1967 will be remembered as "the year that ended the drought" did not dampen even a little bit of the enthusiasm of the 147 Scouts and their leaders who spent the week at Scout Camp, Camp Tri-Mount, owned and operated by the Rip Van Winkle Council, Boy Scouts of America, is at East Jewett in the heart of Greene County.

Advancement, hiking, and overnight camping out of the central camp area was engaged in during the course of the week. One troop, 41 of Catskill, left camp at 6 a. m. Friday and hiked to the top of Thomas Cole Mountain where they had breakfast before returning to camp. The provisional troop again took the Hunter Fire Tower hike, utilizing the popular Hunter Mountain Sky-Ride to get to the top of the mountain.

Mile Swimmers

The "Mile Swim" took a big jump in the number of Scouts trying to accomplish this long-distance swimming marathon. Those who made it during the fourth camp period were the following:

Elliot Wyman of Troop 39, Flatbush; Arnold Abrahamson and John Pederson of Troop 50, Haines Falls; Rick Castaldo and Robert Zoehfeld of Troop 66, West Hurley; Roger Bel, Fred Drumgold, Steve De Puy and Charles Weiss of Troop 100, Palenville; Wayne Stock of Troop 172, New Paltz; and Ken Berger, Kevin Connell, Kevin Gilson, Mark Kenya and John Starks, all of Troop 89 of Wyckoff, N. J.

The regular Saturday afternoon "Aquamanuevers" were won by Troop 141 of Catskill, occupying the Onondaga Campsite.

The weekend saw the induction of five new members into the Order of the Arrow, Scouting's honor camping society and service group. Receiving their final induction at the Saturday night ceremonial fire were three Scouts and two adult Scouters, as follows: Stephen Hoffer of Troop 20, Hurley; James Courtney of Troop 26, Port Ewen; Audin Jeanne Jr. of Troop 141, Catskill; Robert Lawton, Scoutmaster of Troop 20; and Bart Reilly, Scoutmaster of Troop 26.

Perfect Scores

At the Saturday night awards campfire, special recognition was accorded Troop 141 of Catskill for having made a perfect score every day of the week in the daily campsite inspection. This is a very rare achievement, and indicates that a troop has a good understanding of the value of camp property and a desire to take care of it. The coveted "Honor Patrol" was awarded to the Panther Patrol of Troop 100 of Palenville. Patrol leader is Steven DePuy; Assistant Patrol Leader, Arthur Schmuck; and patrol members Ernest Miller, Charles Weiss and Edward Laterza.

There were 11 "home troop" leaders with their units in the fourth camp period. Camping as Troops were Troop 6 of Kingston, with Scoutmaster Ed Safford and Assistant Wayne Karol; Troop 26 of Port Ewen, with Bart Reilly, Scoutmaster and Bill Zaehner, Assistant; Troop 41 of Catskill, under the leadership of Assistant Scoutmaster Floyd Ward; Troop 50 of Haines Falls, with Assistant District Commissioner Scott Hommel; Troop 100 of Palenville with Scoutmaster Frank Corso and Assistant Scoutmaster Ed Roberts; Troop 141 of Catskill, with Assistant Scoutmaster Audin Jeanne; and Troop 89 of Wyckoff, N. J. with Assistant Scoutmaster George McGuire.

The fifth camp week started Sunday with 150 new campers.

Whitney Gem Theft

No New Evidence

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N.Y. (AP) — Police and FBI agents reported nothing new Sunday in the investigation of the theft of $781,800 in jewelry Wednesday from the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney.

The stolen gems included a diamond necklace that belonged to Whitney's mother; the Whitney sapphire that Mrs. Whitney considers a jinx and which will be consigned to a vault upon recovery; an owl pin, the first gift to her from her husband; a turquoise and diamond set, including a necklace, earrings and bracelet; a ruby pin, emeralds, and a collection of less costly daytime jewelry.

Authorities did not disclose the complete list nor the value of the stolen gems.

The jewels were in a handbag under a blanket in a second-floor bedroom closet of the Whitney's mansion. Overlooked were Mrs. Whitney's Empress pearls, valued at $500,000, and other valuable gems, including jewels left in another bedroom by her sister-in-law, Mrs. George Headley, the former Barbara Whitney.

The jewels, all said to be covered by insurance, were taken between 8:30 and 10:30 p. m. Wednesday while the Whitneys were dining out. Police said there was no sign of forced entry to the house, servants did not report intruders, and two dogs in the house created no disturbance.

Mrs. Whitney did not discover the loss until Thursday when she went to the closet to select jewelry to wear that night at a dinner the Whitneys gave at the nearby Hall of Springs. The dinner followed the opening of the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra concert season at the Saratoga Performing Arts Center.

Police said the theft was reported to the insurance company, but local police were not notified officially until about 24 hours later.

The Whitneys attended a cocktail party before the Thursday night concert and hosted a dinner after the performance.

"I had to go through the whole party without anybody knowing," Mrs. Whitney said later. "I drank lots of champagne and tried to look happy. But I felt awful."

Red China's H-Bomb Vastly Alters World's Peace Equation

EDITOR'S NOTE— Unbidden but determined, Red China has become a full fledged member of the nuclear club. Its pace in atomic weaponry, its politics, and its outlook suggest profound and ominous consequences for the rest of the world. This is the last of three articles.

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE and WILLIAM L. RYAN

Soon Red China will have a finger on the button. Will she, by accident or design, launch a nuclear catastrophe?

Fallout effects of China's H-bomb test last June 17 are enormous. The impact on the vast underdeveloped world is incalculable.

Managed Peace

For 18 years the United States and the Soviet Union have warily confronted each other with awesome nuclear arsenals but managed to preserve nuclear peace. They know what nuclear war could mean.

China, though still a fledgling member of the nuclear club, vastly alters the peace equation. Caught in the madness of the purge that Mao Tse-tung calls the cultural revolution, she is a puzzling X, perhaps even to herself.

Experts put many worried questions: —Do Chinese leaders really know what a nuclear war could mean in human casualties and physical destruction?

—Suppose Red China donated a nuclear weapon to an Arab nation, out of a desire to make the Chinese dragon bigger than the Russian bear in the Middle East. Israel, some scientists say, "practically has the basic stuff lying around" to produce weapons in a few years. Might a new Middle East war some day be an atomic one?

—About 20 nations have the capability, some with little or no outside help, of building a nuclear weapon. Will Red China's success put pressure on those governments to produce such weapons?

Status Uncertain

—Is China really the "crazy, reckless, paranoid country" she appears to be to outsiders, or is her behavior just a passing phenomenon created by Mao's eagerness to shape Chinese into selfless robots?

—Might India and Japan, close enough to feel the hot breath of China's threat, feel impelled now to produce nuclear weapons? Either one can.

Only Japan knows the horrors, first hand, of nuclear weapons. Those used against it were the first A-bombs, enormously destructive but still less powerful than H-bombs.

So deep was the Japanese shock that public opinion violently opposed building such weapons for a Japanese arsenal.

al, and even slowed Japan's development of peaceful atomic power. But now Japan faces a cruel choice: to demand more protection from America—and perhaps from the Soviet Union too—or to gamble that she will not some day be a target of China.

Time has eroded memories of the full terror that the atomic bombs of 22 years ago brought to Hiroshima and Nagasaki. Perhaps more than half the world's population is too young to know much about it. Perhaps, some observers suggest, this fading memory figured in the relative calm with which Asian nations reacted to China's new power. There may be other reasons, too.

Worry Eased

Some of the worry among China's neighbors—India, Japan, Burma, Australia, Malaysia, Indonesia—has been eased by the spectacle of Mao's cultural revolution, suggesting vast political, social and economic turmoil in China. Will the strife not eventually slow or even halt China's nuclear program?

It hasn't, up to now, and the chances seem to be that it will not.

Ten years ago some of China's scientists, including those returned from the United States, were caught in a Mao trap: the Hundred Flowers period, when Mao invited open criticism of his regime. The criticism came in a wave, and then Mao cracked down hard on the critics.

But important scientists got off lightly. Mao distrusted those who had been abroad long years, fearing that they had been contaminated by American and other foreign ideas. But Mao also needed them. They were required only to make routine formal confessions. Other intellectuals were forced into corrective labor for re-education.

Scientists Insulted

And in the cultural revolution, Mao's supporters took care to insult the important scientists. Rule 12 of the Aug. 8, 1966, communiqué that launched Mao's Red Guards, the storm troopers of political orthodoxy, took care to steer them clear of the scientists.

Still, the cultural revolution damaged China's prestige among underdeveloped nations, as did China's abortive diplomatic offensives in Africa and Asia. Perhaps, some Asians reasoned, China was so badly off balance that it could not risk any deep international trouble.

One top China watcher for the U.S. government speculated that "17 years of political infighting left the Chinese people bone-weary of it all; China watchers believe they are witnessing a change of dynasty. Great revisions may come."

But, if Mao's philosophy wins out, Asians will have to take another look.

Few doubt that China eventually will be the dominant power in Asia. It has the resources, and energetic, clever people. The ifs involve China's problems of food, population, education, training, industrialization, advances in science other than in the nuclear field, and, most of all, solving the present political chaos.

Avoided Involvement

So far China has avoided direct involvement in Vietnam. China wants to give no excuse for an obliterating attack on her new nuclear installations.

But whatever happens, China is going to be a major problem, for both the United States and the Soviet Union.

In direct military threat, the United States seems to have little to fear from China until the mid-1970s.

For the United States, various experts agree, one consequence of China's nuclear march will be increased pressure to develop antiballistic missiles to intercept and destroy any incoming enemy missiles. The ABM cost to taxpayers could range anywhere from $4 billion to $70 billion, perhaps just as a starter, for limited defenses.

"It is no longer a question of whether to have them, but when," declares Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., long a member of military and atomic energy committees. Others argue that ABMs will trigger a spiral in the arms race, forcing the Soviet Union to strengthen its striking force or expand its own ABMs.

Sees No Gain

Arguing against extensive ABM efforts now, Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara says that probably "all we would accomplish would be to increase greatly both their defense expenditures and ours, without any gain in real security to either side."

Practical testing of ABMs could violate the limited nuclear treaty which bans atmospheric testing.

Chinese bombs affect Soviet thinking, too. A ban on ABM systems must be considered among "the whole range of questions relating to arms and disarmament," said Premier Alexei N. Kosygin just after China exploded her H-bomb.

China is an infuriating problem to Moscow. China's rulers claim to be the true Communists and denounce the Communist parties in the Soviet Union and elsewhere as "revisionist" betrayers of world revolution. China's feud with Moscow, aggravated by Peking's eagerness for nuclear arms, has ripped the fabric of world Communist unity to shreds.

Peking, calling the Soviet Union its enemy, has laid claim to 600,000 square miles of Soviet territory. The Chinese, with increasing frequency, stir up trouble on Soviet borders. Moscow pumps inflammatory propaganda into Chinese border provinces populated predominantly by non-Chinese people.

No Aid Since 1960

Since 1960, there has been no

Barlycorn Hit

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — The U.S. Alcohol and Tobacco Tax office says it destroyed 714 whiskey stills in North Carolina during the last fiscal year. It said the stills could have produced nine million gallons of whisky.

Soviet scientific help for China. But the experts say China still can spring surprises.

She can develop long-range rockets, they say, by brute engineering. A missile good enough to hit within five miles of an intended target could wipe out Moscow or Leningrad, or Los Angeles or San Francisco. But China, with her vast territory and primarily agrarian population, offers fewer strategic targets. Missiles aimed at China would have to pinpoint missile sites.

In any case, America's China policy is up for re-examination. The average American, looking at the situation, feels helpless; but there are glimpses of optimism.

"It's been a dangerous world for a long time," Sen. Jackson remarks. "But the cataclysmic nature of nuclear warfare has to be a restraining influence. It means destroying mankind. Nuclear weapons carry an enormous responsibility. Failure to understand the nature of nuclear war means annihilation."

He and others point out that the U.S.S.R. modified its stance as it grew more powerful, as its living standards rose, and it had more to lose from holocaust.

In the long view, says an authority on China, advances in technology and science and in satellite communications will tend to knit nations closer together. Nations cooperating with these advances know they can progress faster than nations which try to go it alone. Thus, there may be "a suction on China to join in on this."

Some hope the future will see a wearing down of "hard corners of truth," the beliefs that one country or one group has the absolute truth which others must accept.

Computer Dates

LEOMINSTER, Mass. (AP) — Howard W. Zoufaly says the trouble with computers arranging dates is that boys and girls lie to the computers, "the wrong information is fed to the computers and the wrong people get together." Zoufaly, a handwriting expert, says a studying of handwriting is a far better way to arrange dates.

Science Shrinks Painful Hemorrhoids Stops Itch—Relieves Pain Finds Way That Both Relieves Pain and Shrinks Piles In Most Cases

New York, N.Y. (Special): Science has found a special formula with the ability, in most cases—to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching and relieve pain. In case after case doctors proved, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrink-

Emergency Occurs 40,000 Times Daily; Phone Company Assists

It happens 40,000 times every day—an emergency strikes and someone in the country dials "zero" for the telephone operator, knowing that help is just one ring away.

This is particularly important where children are involved in reporting emergencies. New York Telephone said today. Only one pull of the dial is needed—a simple procedure that has made dialing "zero" a universal emergency number in the United States.

"My mommy won't wake up," says a small voice to the operator on the line, and a highly trained, efficient team of telephone men and women is thrown into action.

"Help! There's a fire in my home. . . ."

"There's been an accident at Main and . . ."

"We're lost. . . ."

In New York City alone, telephone operators receive more than 2,500 calls for help every day.

What's behind the "zero" on the dial? Operators in the telephone companies that comprise the Bell System are thoroughly trained in prompt handling of emergency calls.

They put their training to practical use almost 28 times every minute somewhere in the United States each day.

They can tell a frantic customer what to do in case of fire, and, in many cases, assist in giving first aid advice until help arrives at the scene of an accident.

In addition to having operators on call 24 hours a day, New York Telephone has supervisory personnel who are brought in on emergency calls. Team efforts are especially effective when small children have to be asked for the facts.

The company pointed out that operators are provided with information at their fingertips to direct calls to the proper fire or police department or other public service agencies with a minimum of delay.

They also have facilities for holding the calling line to determine the calling number if the customer hangs up in excitement before giving all the necessary information, the telephone company said. Then the operator can complete the call to the proper emergency agency.

The position of "zero" is next to the finger stop, where it can be found quickly by anyone, even in the dark. With Touch-Tone service "zero" is in a distinctive position on the face of the telephone.

Simplicity is the keynote of designing here, for the Bell System is aware of the importance of teaching children how to use the telephone in emergencies.

With the advice and cooperation of the schools, the System has developed a program for elementary grades that helps to take the panic out of emergencies a youngster may face.

The more familiar the child is with the correct procedure, telephone people say, the more effective he will be in an emergency.

Scientists Insulted

And in the cultural revolution, Mao's supporters took care to insult the important scientists. Rule 12 of the Aug. 8, 1966, communique that launched Mao's Red Guards, the storm troopers of political orthodoxy, took care to steer them clear of the scientists.

Still, the cultural revolution damaged China's prestige among underdeveloped nations, as did China's abortive diplomatic offensives in Africa and Asia. Perhaps, some Asians reasoned, China was so badly off balance that it could not risk any deep international trouble.

One top China watcher for the U.S. government speculated that "17 years of political infighting left the Chinese people bone-weary of it all; China watchers believe they are witnessing a change of dynasty. Great revisions may come."

But, if Mao's philosophy wins out, Asians will have to take another look.

Few doubt that China eventually will be the dominant power in Asia. It has the resources, and energetic, clever people. The ifs involve China's problems of food, population, education, training, industrialization, advances in science other than in the nuclear field, and, most of all, solving the present political chaos.

Avoided Involvement

So far China has avoided direct involvement in Vietnam. China wants to give no excuse for an obliterative attack on her new nuclear installations.

But whatever happens, China is going to be a major problem for both the United States and the Soviet Union.

In direct military threat, the United States seems to have little to fear from China until the mid-1970s.

For the United States, various experts agree, one consequence of China's nuclear march will be increased pressure to develop and destroy any incoming enemy missiles. The ABM cost to taxpayers could range anywhere from $4 billion to $70 billion, perhaps just as a starter, for limited defenses.

"It is no longer a question of whether to have them, but when," declares Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., long a member of military and atomic energy committees. Others argue that ABMs will trigger a spiral in the arms race, forcing the Soviet Union to strengthen its striking force or expand its own ABMs.

Sees No Gain

Arguing against extensive ABM efforts now, Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara says that probably "all we would accomplish would be to increase greatly both their defense expenditures and ours, without any gain in real security to either side."

Practical testing of ABMs could violate the limited nuclear treaty which bans atmospheric testing.

Chinese bombs affect Soviet thinking, too. A ban on ABM systems must be considered among "the whole range of questions relating to arms and disarmament," said Premier Alexei N. Kosygin just after China exploded her H-bomb.

China is an infuriating problem to Moscow. China's rulers claim to be the true Communists and denounce the Communist parties in the Soviet Union and elsewhere as "revisionist" betrayers of world revolution. China's feud with Moscow, aggravated by Peking's eagerness for nuclear arms, has ripped the fabric of world Communist unity to shreds.

Peking, calling the Soviet Union its enemy, has laid claim to 600,000 square miles of Soviet territory. The Chinese, with increasing frequency, stir up trouble on Soviet borders. Moscow pumps inflammatory propaganda into Chinese border provinces populated predominantly by non-Chinese people.

No Aid Since 1960

Since 1960, there has been no Barlycorn Hit

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — The U.S. Alcohol and Tobacco Tax office says it destroyed 714 whiskey stills in North Carolina during the last fiscal year. It said the stills could have produced nine million gallons of whisky.

Soviet scientific help for China, as it grew more powerful, as its living standards rose, and it had more to lose from holocaust.

In the long view, says an authority on China, advances in technology and science and in satellite communications will tend to knit nations closer together. Nations cooperating with these advances know they can progress faster than nations which try to go it alone. Thus, there may be "a suction on China to join in on this."

Some hope the future will see a wearing down of "hard corners of truth," the beliefs that one country or one group has the absolute truth which others must accept.

Computer Dates

LEOMINSTER, Mass. (AP) — Howard W. Zoufaly says the trouble with computers arranging dates is that boys and girls lie to the computers, "the wrong information is fed to the computers and the wrong people get together." Zoufaly, a handwriting expert, says a studying of handwriting is a far better way to arrange dates.

Emergency Occurs 40,000 Times Daily; Phone Company Assists

It happens 40,000 times every day—an emergency strikes and someone in the country dials "zero" for the telephone operator, knowing that help is just one ring away.

This is particularly important where children are involved in reporting emergencies. New York Telephone said today. Only one pull of the dial is needed—a simple procedure that has made dialing "zero" a universal emergency number in the United States.

"My mommy won't wake up," says a small voice to the operator on the line, and a highly trained, efficient team of telephone men and women is thrown into action.

"Help! There's a fire in my home. . . ."

"There's been an accident at Main and"

"We're lost. . . ."

In New York City alone, telephone operators receive more than 2,500 calls for help every day.

What's behind the "zero" on the dial? Operators in the telephone companies that comprise the Bell System are thoroughly trained in prompt handling of emergency calls.

They put their training to practical use almost 28 times every minute somewhere in the United States each day.

They can tell a frantic customer what to do in case of fire, and, in many cases, assist in giving first aid advice until help arrives at the scene of an accident.

In addition to having operators on call 24 hours a day, New York Telephone has supervisory personnel who are brought in on emergency calls. Team efforts are especially effective when small children have to be asked for the facts.

The company pointed out that operators are provided with information at their fingertips to direct calls to the proper fire or police department or other public service agencies with a minimum of delay.

They also have facilities for holding the calling line to determine the calling number if the customer hangs up in excitement before giving all the necessary information, the telephone company said. Then the operator can complete the call to the proper emergency agency.

The position of "zero" is next to the finger stop, where it can be found quickly by anyone, even in the dark. With Touch-Tone service "zero" is in a distinctive position on the face of the telephone.

Simplicity is the keynote of designing here, for the Bell System is aware of the importance of teaching children how to use the telephone in emergencies.

With the advice and cooperation of the schools, the System has developed a program for elementary grades that helps to take the panic out of emergencies a youngster may face.

The more familiar the child is with the correct procedure, telephone people say, the more effective he will be in an emergency.

Humphrey Sees Influence of Law In Jeopardy

HONOLULU (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey told the American Bar Association today the law is losing its "stabilizing influence" because it has failed to provide equal opportunity while guaranteeing equal rights.

"Frustration, alienation and unrest are not surprising consequences," he said in a prepared speech at the ABA's 90th annual convention.

Humphrey pledged that "flagrant disregard for the law" will not be tolerated.

"You know, and I know and the rioters themselves must know that riots will be suppressed," he said. "Order will be restored. Those malicious individuals who spark disorders will be found and prosecuted."

At the same time, Humphrey said the current wave of urban riots is rooted in an "intense frustration" among poor people. He said this "comes from watching the other America at work and play on television and knowing that it is beyond their reach."

Humphrey spoke of "a frustration that comes from paying higher prices in the ghetto shops than those charged in the supermarkets of suburbia—and knowing it."

"A frustration that comes from paying exorbitant interest rates for shoddy goods—and knowing it."

"A frustration of being unemployed for lack of training—and knowing it."

"The consequences of being poor and hopeless in a society where most are not produces a deep sense of alienation," he said. "This feeling is nowhere more fully expressed than in the attitudes of some ghetto dwellers toward the law."

In the slum, the vice president said, the law is known not as "the blindfolded goddess of even-handed justice, but as 'the authoritarian, foreign — Worthy of fear but not of respect.'"

Held in Death

MONTREAL (AP) — A material witness is being held by Montreal police in connection with the death of a 33-year-old Air Force sergeant who was stationed at Plattsburgh, N.Y.

Police said the body of Sgt. Frederick Vaughn was found Sunday in an apartment in the city's west end.

They said the exact cause of death could not be determined immediately but that there had been some bleeding from the nose of the dead man.

So stern were some of the Pilgrim settlers that they even forbade celebrating Christmas.

6 Hurt in 2 Crashes On Rt. 32 Saugerties

Five persons were injured, two seriously, as the result of a truck-car collision on Routes 32 and 212 at the Cloverleaf, Town of Saugerties, Saturday night, and a 20-year-old Brooklyn woman was injured when ejected from a car after it hit a utility pole near the Saxton firehouse.

Kingston State Police Sergeant Charles Bundschuh said Harry Saar, 25, of 1372 Madison Avenue, Brooklyn, was driving on Route 32 at 7:45 p. m. Saturday when his car hit the rear of a truck parked on the shoulder of the highway.

Saar suffered severe lacerations of the face. His wife, Gayla, also 25, sustained bruises and injuries of the right arm. Other passengers were Lorraine Schaft, 17, of 1493 Putnam Avenue, Brooklyn, who received lacerations of the head, and Thomas Ascardi, 19, of 1155 31st Avenue, Astoria, who suffered a possible broken right leg and other injuries.

They were all taken to Kingston Hospital by Saugerties Ambulance Service. Mrs. Saar and Miss Schaft were treated and released. Saar was admitted and Ascardi was later transferred by the same ambulance service to the Elmhurst General Hospital.

Sergeant Bundschuh said Saar was summoned by Trooper Thomas Searies to appear at a later date before Justice of the Peace Calvin Cody, Town of Saugerties, to face a charge of driving at a speed not reasonable and prudent.

The truck driver, Fiore Litina, 41, of Queens Village received a laceration of the scalp. He said he would see his own physician for treatment.

Last Combat Division Ordered to Vietnam

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon plans to order to Vietnam large chunks of the last remaining combat divisions in the United States—and may not replace those units, sources report.

This would help meet President Johnson's new troop authorization for Vietnam which would raise the U.S. manpower commitment in the war to 525,000 by next summer.

Two top White House advisers indicate that meanwhile, U.S. allies in Vietnam are considering what additional troops they might send to back up their reported agreement on the need for increased pressure now against the Communists.

The advisers, Clark Clifford and Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, reported to President Johnson Saturday upon their return from a visit to South Vietnam, Thailand, Australia, New Zealand and South Korea.

"In each instance in our talks with each country, there was recognition that additional pressure should be exerted," said Clifford.

"Everyone feels now is the time for maximum effort," said Taylor, a former ambassador to Saigon. But both said they did not directly ask allies for more troops.

The 45,000-man increase in U.S. strength over the currently authorized 480,000 will go to Southeast Asia between October and next July and will consist of mainly of units now classed as part of the Strategic Reserve. This is an active duty force second.

The Pentagon could replace units pulled from the Strategic Reserve only after perhaps a year or 18 months, sources say. They reason the country might be able to risk temporary diminishing of the force while meeting the challenge of Vietnam.

Another alternative to meet the new manpower authorization is raising draft calls to levels much higher than the planned 24,000 a month. These men would go into entirely new fighting units for Vietnam service.

Cancer Society Offers Pamphlet

A new pamphlet on cancer of the breast is now available without charge from the Ulster County Unit, American Cancer Society. It was announced here today.

The informative publication describes in understandable terms how cancer of the breast develops and how it is treated. It points out that in the United States, breast cancer occurs more often (64,000 cases each year) and causes more deaths (27,000 estimated in 1967) than any other form of cancer in women. The pamphlet stresses that every woman should learn to examine her own breasts, and lists the steps to follow.

It points out that breast cancer is one of the earliest cancers to find and diagnose and notes that 95 per cent of breast cancers are discovered by the women who have them. Free copies may be obtained from the Ulster County Unit office, 400 Broadway.

The tour which starts 11 a. m. to 5 p. m. from the church will include five houses. Luncheon will be served at the church from 1:30 a. m. to 2 p. m.

Company M 50th Anniversary To Be Observed on August 12

Fiftieth anniversary of Company M Veterans' Association will be observed at a banquet Saturday, Aug. 12, at the State Armory. Francis X. Tucker, former Ulster County surrogate judge, will be guest speaker.

James Howard and Robert Rice are honorary chairmen of the anniversary committee. George H. Schick is general chairman and Edward Luedtke is assistant chairman and will serve as toastmaster at the dinner.

Other Workers

Alfred Messinger is banquet chairman and Harry Giles, Leroy Markle, Fred Schwenk and Joseph Sills are assistant chairmen. Harold Sanford is chairman of the invited guest and speaker's committee. Others on the committee are William Jordan and John McGrane. The publicity committee comprises Edwin W. Ashby and Frank Kraus. Bernard Roach is chairman of the presentation committee, assisting are Harold Sanford and Joseph Krueger.

William Jordan, chairman, Bernard Roach, John Krueger and Edwin Luedtke make up the reception committee. The mayor's proclamation committee includes Frank Kraus, Harold Sanford Chris perry.

William H. Jordan is secretary-treasurer. Tucker, member of the law firm of Cook, Tucker and Dwyer of Kingston, served as town attorney of the Town of Hurley 1957-1962. He was appointed Surrogate of Ulster County in July, 1959, elected to a full six-year term in November, 1959, and served until expiration of the term on Dec. 31, 1965.

FRANCIS X. TUCKER

Presently he serves as a member of the Committee on

Character and Fitness, Third District, Appellate Division, and as legislative counsel to State Senator Jay P. Rolison Jr. (R-38th Dist.) He is a trustee of Ulster County Savings Bank and is active in civic affairs as a member of the Board of Directors of Ulster County Chapter, American Red Cross, and executive board of the Rip Van Winkle Council of Boy Scouts.

Fifth Wounded

In April 1917, Company M responded with 150 men to serve in World War I. The company was reorganized while in training at Spartanburg, S. C., and its members transferred to various units of the 27th Division and the 51st Pioneer Infantry.

Its members served in France, Germany and Belgium and saw action at St. Mihiel, Meuse Argonne and along the Hindenburg Line. A fifth of the company were wounded and decorated with the Purple Heart. One received the Divisional Citation and was awarded the Silver Star. Eight made the supreme sacrifice.

Fires Damage Park Building, Motorboat

City Firemen battled a blaze Saturday night for nearly two hours when a two-story building located in Hasbrouck Park, owned by the City and used for recreational equipment storage, caught fire, it was disclosed today.

No injuries were reported. The building, of old stone construction, caught fire shortly before 11 p. m. Firemen said the blaze originated in a second floor storage room.

According to firemen, the building suffered damage from fire, water and smoke. The cause of the fire, firemen noted, has not been determined.

Saturday afternoon firemen were called to Dietz Stadium, corner of North Front Street and Washington Avenue, where a fire had erupted on the baseball diamond.

Firemen noted the fire was quickly extinguished.

And finally, firemen responded to an alarm Sunday afternoon, 2:46 p. m., Ridge Street, where a parked plastic motor boat was engulfed in flames. Firemen said the boat was practically destroyed by fire. They noted the cause of the blaze was unknown.

1,000 Addicts Receive Care Under New Law

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — More than 1,000 persons have been committed under terms of a new state law that authorizes compulsory treatment of certain narcotics addicts, Gov. Rockefeller said Sunday.

Rockefeller, reporting the first four months of operation of the State Narcotic Addiction Control Commission, said most of the persons being treated are between ages 16 and 35.

He said the commission ultimately plans to have more than 30,000 addicts under its care.

The law, enacted in 1966, authorizes compulsory treatment and provides a series of court checks to determine whether an individual is properly accused of being an addict.

About 3,000 persons were referred by the courts to the commission for examination, Rockefeller said, but legal action prevented certification of many recommended for treatment.

The governor noted that 1,841 beds were available by July 31 for the treatment of addicts at five centers run directly by the commission and at 11 institutions operated by other agencies.

ARE YOU A GOOD...

EXPRESSWAY DRIVER?

 YES ☐
 NO ☐

All facts authenticated by and
of the National Safety Council.

Wait a minute! Before you answer the question in the heading, remember there is a whole new set of safety rules for expressway driving. The driver that shoots out on the expressway and still uses the same habits he's used in city driving is an A NUMBER ONE MENACE. Check these ten common expressway driving situations and mark your answers BEFORE you answer the question "Are you a good expressway driver?" You may be surprised, and more than a little shocked, at your score.

Prepared and copyrighted by Cartwright-Feser and Associates, Inc.

- 1 While driving at night in the fast lane, you see the on-rush-ing lights of a wrong-way car in your lane. You swerve left to avoid a head-on collision?
____YES ____NO
- 2 Driving in the fast lane, you see another driver apparently out of gas, parked off the road on the emergency shoulder. You stop to offer your assistance?
____YES ____NO
- 3 Driving in the fast lane at the legal limits of 60 or 70 MPH, you make it a point to keep at least three full car lengths behind the car ahead?
____YES ____NO
- 4 You run out of gas at night. You steer off the road onto the emergency shoulder, park, turn out your lights, and wait for the expressway patrolman?
____YES ____NO
- 5 As you pass an accident, the wrecked cars pulled safely onto the shoulder, you slow down drastically to see whether anyone has been injured?
____YES ____NO
- 6 The car in front of you stops. You can swerve into the fast lane; ram him from behind; or swerve into the chain link divider fence. You choose the divider fence?
____YES ____NO
- 7 Driving in the fast lane, you keep to posted limits, even though cars are leaving you behind and other cars are changing lanes in order to go around you?
____YES ____NO
- 8 On vacation or other long, tiring trips you cinch your safety belt tight to take some of the strain off your back and shoulder muscles?
____YES ____NO
- 9 A hubcap flies off. You signal, pull off onto the shoulder, stop, and carefully back up to the area that you believe the hubcap to be?
____YES ____NO
- 10 A sign indicates that your desired exit is just ahead. You know the exit ramp speed is 40 MPH so you begin to decelerate to the posted exit ramp speed?
____YES ____NO

Here are the answers:

1. NO... The other driver thinks he is right and that you are wrong. His instincts will make him swing to his right. You should swerve right.
2. NO... In some states it is even illegal. Leave the job to the experts, the expressway patrol, who are trained to handle trouble.
3. NO... At least one car length for each 10 MPH. At 60 you need at least 6 car lengths. For maximum safety allow twice that distance.
4. NO... Never turn out your lights. Neither on-coming traffic of the expressway patrol will be able to see you in time to stop.
5. NO... Rubbernecking slows traffic and can cause traffic jams. This also makes for a perfect target for a dangerous rear-end collision.
6. YES... Impact fences are designed to cushion the crash and hold damage and injury to a minimum. It's your safest choice.
7. NO... Move with the traffic, even though it's slightly above the posted legal limit. Note it says "slightly above" the posted limit.
8. NO... Too tight a belt on long trips can restrict blood flow and hamper circulation. Always be sure your belt is firm but not tight.
9. NO... Never back up, not even on the emergency strip. This includes missing an exit. Go to the next one no matter how far it might be.
10. NO... Maintain speed until you reach the ramps deceleration lane, then start to slow. Otherwise you are inviting a rear-end collision.

Each correct answer counts one point.

- 10 POINTS... You're an old pro and rate as a first class expressway driver.
- 9 POINTS... You're still among the expressway elite.
- 8 POINTS... You qualify to run in the expressway fast lane.
- 6-7 POINTS... Stick to the slow lane, as you are just an average expressway driver.
- 4-5 POINTS... Watch yourself. You can get by, but just barely.
- 1-3 POINTS... You're in trouble. Stick to non-expressway roads until you can bone-up on safety rules for expressway driving.

SAFETY and YOU

ARE YOU A GOOD...

EXPRESSWAY DRIVER?

YES ☐
NO ☐

All facts authenticated by and through the courtesy of the National Safety Council.

Wait a minute! Before you answer the question in the heading, remember there is a whole new set of safety rules for expressway driving. The driver that shoots out on the expressway and still uses the same habits he's used in city driving is an A NUMBER ONE MENACE. Check these ten common expressway driving situations and mark your answers BEFORE you answer the question "Are you a good expressway driver?" You may be surprised, and more than a little shocked, at your score.

Prepared and copyrighted by Cartwright-Fesser and Associates, Inc.

- 1 While driving at night in the fast lane, you see the on-rushing lights of a wrong-way car in your lane. You swerve left to avoid a head-on collision?
___YES ___NO
- 2 Driving in the fast lane, you see another driver apparently out of gas, parked off the road on the emergency shoulder. You stop to offer your assistance?
___YES ___NO
- 3 Driving in the fast lane at the legal limits of 60 or 70 MPH, you make it a point to keep at least three full car lengths behind the car ahead?
___YES ___NO
- 4 You run out of gas at night. You steer off the road onto the emergency shoulder, park, turn out your lights, and wait for the expressway patrolman?
___YES ___NO
- 5 As you pass an accident, the wrecked cars pulled safely onto the shoulder, you slow down drastically to see whether anyone has been injured?
___YES ___NO
- 6 The car in front of you stops. You can swerve into the fast lane; ram him from behind; or swerve into the chain link divider fence. You choose the divider fence?
___YES ___NO
- 7 Driving in the fast lane, you keep to posted limits, even though cars are leaving you behind and other cars are changing lanes in order to go around you?
___YES ___NO
- 8 On vacation or other long, tiring trips you cinch your safety belt tight to take some of the strain off your back and shoulder muscles?
___YES ___NO
- 9 A hubcap flies off. You signal, pull off onto the shoulder, stop, and carefully back up to the area that you believe the hubcap to be?
___YES ___NO
- 10 A sign indicates that your desired exit is just ahead. You know the exit ramp speed is 40 MPH so you begin to decelerate to the posted exit ramp speed?
___YES ___NO

Here are the answers:

1. NO... The other driver thinks he is right and that you are wrong. His instincts will make him swing to his right. You should swerve right.
2. NO... In some states it is even illegal. Leave the job to the experts, the expressway patrol, who are trained to handle trouble.
3. NO... At least one car length for each 10 MPH. At 60 you need at least 6 car lengths. For maximum safety allow twice that distance.
4. NO... Never turn out your lights. Neither oncoming traffic of the expressway patrol will be able to see you in time to stop.
5. NO... Rubbernecking slows traffic and can cause traffic jams. This also makes for a perfect target for a dangerous rear-end collision.
6. YES... Impact fences are designed to cushion the crash and hold damage and injury to a minimum. It's your safest choice.
7. NO... Move with the traffic, even though it's slightly above the posted legal limit. Note it says "slightly above" the posted limit.

Rosendale's Underground Vault Office Nears Completion

Completion of 15,000 square feet of office space and storage vaults as the first major unit in a planned "underground city" at Rosendale, is expected by the end of August, it was announced today by New York Underground Facilities, Inc.

The firm, a subsidiary of the National Storage Company, Inc., of Eoyers, Pa., is developing a 31-acre former cement mine to provide maximum security facilities for storage and retrieval of vital records, for alternate corporation headquarters, and for data processing centers.

A. Douglass Walker, executive vice-president of New York Underground Facilities, and his staff already are occupying a smaller office within the mine. Walker said that several banks and corporations have already contracted for vault space.

Allied Chemical Corporation, 61 Broadway, New York City, is the first customer for complete alternate headquarters facilities, leasing 3,000 square feet in a separate unit.

Allied has already shipped in 36,000 pounds of material and equipment—vital records, tape, microfilm, office equipment, bunks, cooking equipment and emergency rations sufficient to allow an alternate headquarters staff to live underground for up to 30 days. The move was under the supervision of Richard A. Schile, Allied's senior financial analyst.

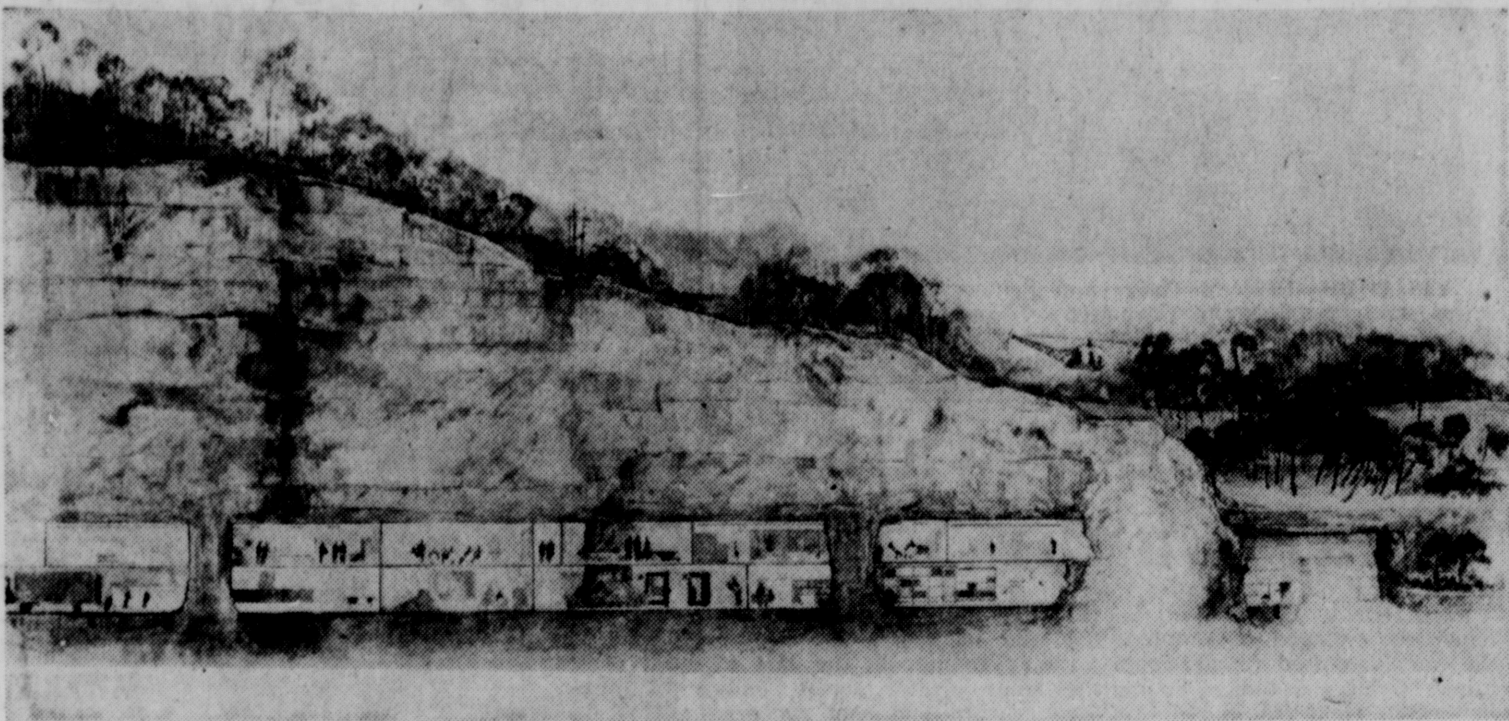

Included in the construction contracts are a stand-by power generator, water supply and sewage facilities, as well as heat, ventilating and humidity surveys made by the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers for Civil Defense purposes. The firm has shown the case to have a production factor of 1,000 or more. It was formerly used for mining limestone for the production of natural cement, an industry which began in the Rosendale area in 1826. Rosendale is located eight miles south of Kingston.

Architect for the "underground city" is Albert E. Milliken, A.I.A., of Kingston. As a lieutenant colonel in the U. S. Air Force Reserve, now retired, Milliken served as project officer for construction of the Air Force Arctic Base at Thule, Greenland, in the early 1950's, designing underground structures there and on the Greenland Ice Cap.

H. Swart and Son of Kingston is the general contractor. Electrical contractor is Whitman Electric, Inc., Kingston, and the plumbing contractor is R. J. Welsh and Son, Saugerties.

North Viets Raid Special Service Camp

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnamese troops stormed a U.S. Special Forces camp near the Cambodian border today, inflicting moderate casualties on the 600 South Vietnamese irregulars and their families. The Communists left the bodies of 60 of their men when they were driven off after "many hours" of fierce fighting, the Vietnamese army reported.

There was no word if any of the dozen or so Americans in the camp were casualties.

In the air war, bad weather around Hanoi limited U.S. warplanes to strikes in the southern part of North Vietnam, with 134 missions flown against truck parks and storage areas. But Air Force pilots reported setting off 70 secondary explosions at one truck park just north of the demilitarized zone and believed they hit either surface-to-air missiles or artillery pieces.

The United States lost three more planes: an F4 Phantom shot down in the north with two crewmen missing, and a F100 Super Sabre shot down just south of Saigon, and a small observation plane shot down on a reconnaissance mission just below the demilitarized zone.

A total of 637 U.S. combat planes now have been reported lost over North Vietnam and 197 over South Vietnam.

The attack on the Special

Forces camp at Tong Le Chan, 54 miles northwest of Saigon, began with a rain of mortar shells. Then the Red soldiers, believed to be the 165th North Vietnamese regiment, stormed the camp.

Otherwise only small scattered actions were reported in the 34 allied ground operations that have been announced.

While the weather was bad over Hanoi, it was clear over North Vietnam's southern panhandle, and Navy pilots from the carriers Oriskany and Constellation said they blasted two enemy torpedo boats out of the water, damaged another and damaged 49 boats of other types.

The U.S. cruiser St. Paul and the Australian destroyer Hobart shelled a North Vietnamese radar station on Hon Mat island, 20 miles north of Vinh, and reported they left the area in flames.

In Kontum Province, 275 miles northeast of Saigon, a South Vietnamese paratrooper battalion tangled with an enemy battalion Sunday. Another paratrooper battalion was rushed into the fight, and the government force claimed 75 of the enemy killed, while suffering only "very light" casualties.

U.S. Air Force, Navy and Marine Corps pilots flew 178 missions on Saturday, the second highest number in the war so far exceeded only by the record 197 last Thursday. The U.S. Command attributed the high number of missions to good weather over North Vietnam.

Navy fliers rocked the Ben Thuy thermal power plant near Vinh, which had been destroyed before but rebuilt. Other U.S. fliers hit a military headquarters 44 miles south of Hanoi, storage areas, truck parks, convoys and barges.

The big B52s struck twice

Sunday in the northwest corner of South Vietnam near the Laotian border. The bombers hammered suspected enemy troop concentrations, bunkers, automatic weapons positions and infiltration routes northwest of the Marine base at Khe Sanh. Strong crosswinds kept South Vietnamese civilian presidential candidates from keeping a speaking date before 1,000 Vietnamese in Quang Tri Sunday. The candidates' plane was diverted to the U.S. Marine base at Dong Ha 10 miles away; but before the welcoming committee could reach the field, the candidates left in a huff and returned to Saigon.

Riot Issue Factor In 1968 Elections

WASHINGTON (AP)—The nation's summer rioting—already generating changes in the Capitol Hill legislative outlook—could be a major issue in the 1968 elections, say Sens. Robert

Killed in Crash

EAST GREENBUSH, N.Y. (AP) — Thomas E. Lemka, 20, of nearby Rensselaer, was killed Sunday when, police said, his automobile left Routes 9 & 20 in this community east of Albany and severed two power poles.

F. Kennedy and Everett M. Dirksen.

Kennedy said Sunday the riot issue will have an election impact and the political party that can maintain order and move to alleviate underlying conditions of riots "is going to receive support next year."

Dirksen, the Senate Republican leader, said unless urban problems are lessened before the election, "it's going to be one of the monumental issues in '68."

Kennedy, a New York Democrat, said it initially could cost $2 billion to $4 billion to fight city slum conditions. Dirksen hinted Congress might be willing to vote more money than previously, observing "maybe we haven't spent enough on the problem of cities."

Kennedy, noting the costs of the Vietnam war, said, "I think also it's more essential that we do what is necessary here for our own people."

"If it's going to be a question of one or the other, and I hope it would not come to that, then I would put the priority here in our own country."

He suggested local communities develop their own programs with the federal role being aid and investment, along with tax incentives to private enterprise to invest in slum improvement.

Dirksen spoke on CBS' "Face the Nation." Kennedy on NBC's "Meet the Press."

Already there are indications the Senate will consider broader housing legislation than was planned prior to riots in Detroit, Newark and elsewhere.

A housing subcommittee will begin work on legislation Tuesday with prospects seen for a program to help slum families buy or rent homes.

Chairman John Sparkman, D-Ala., of the subcommittee said Saturday the bill is sure to include an administration-backed program to fight rats. The House turned down that plan earlier.

Democratic leaders in the House also indicate a slowdown in other antipoverty legislation because of concern about the political effect of rioting in the cities.

The Education and Labor Committee, scheduled to start work Tuesday on an antipoverty bill, now will take no action on it for at least two weeks.

An Associated Press poll of Democrats shows a sharp drop since rioting began in the number who would vote for the administration's $2 billion antipoverty program.

Senate Judiciary Committee hearings on the House-passed antiriot bill also have generated fresh controversy over the antipoverty program.

They were to resume today.

Getting Off Expressway

To leave an expressway safely, do so smoothly without disrupting the flow of the other traffic. The Department of Motor Vehicles suggests the following procedure for getting off an expressway: look for the exit sign in advance so you won't be caught off-guard; signal your intentions, and move over into the turn-off lane; keep your regular speed until you are in the deceleration lane; and then slow quickly. If you miss your exit, go to the next one. Never stop or back up on an expressway.

Detroit Emergency Lifted by Romney

DETROIT (AP) — Gov. George Romney has lifted a two-week state of emergency but there were reminders during the weekend of the riots that erupted in the nation's fifth largest city.

Romney lifted the state of emergency after a meeting with state and local officials Sunday. "Recent days and nights have indicated a return to normalcy in the metropolitan area," the governor said.

That was the signal for withdrawal of the last of some 7,000 National Guard troops ordered to the city and the return of law enforcement responsibilities to local officials in Detroit and the suburbs of Highland Park, Hamtramck, River Rouge and Ecorse.

Three more deaths were added to the city's riot toll over the weekend, raising it to 42. A Detroit fireman injured by a falling power line while fighting a fire died Friday. Two Negroes shot and wounded by National Guardsmen died Saturday.

The list had numbered 41 victims until the weekend, but two fatalities were found to have resulted from nonriot causes and were dropped. Then the three weekend deaths brought the list to 42.

By mid-afternoon, all National Guardsmen had left the city of 1.7 million. State police, called to reinforce Detroit police, had returned to normal duty.

Detroit police, however, remained on extended duty. Police Commissioner Ray Girardin said he will continue cancellation of furloughs and leaves to keep a full complement of officers on duty.

Also during the weekend, Detroit courts finished processing the last of 1,014 prisoners charged with minor offenses such as curfew violations during the riots. Preliminary examinations probably will be completed this week for the 3,166 prisoners being held on felony charges, said Recorder's Court Judge Donald Leonard.

Viet Politicians Leave in a Huff

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnam's civilian presidential candidates left 1,000 persons waiting to hear them and flew 425 miles back to Saigon in a huff Sunday after adverse winds forced them to land 10 miles from their reception committee.

Some accused the military government of sabotaging their campaign trip to Quang Tri city in South Vietnam's northernmost province. They refused the U.S. Marines' offer of two open trucks to take them to Quang Tri from the Leatherneck air strip at Dong Ha.

The group of 10 candidates or their representatives left while a Vietnamese welcoming committee was on its way from Quang Tri to pick them up.

The military regime of Premier Nguyen Cao Ky and Chief of State Nguyen Van Thieu had arranged 22 all-candidate campaign trips to counter criticism that the Thieu-Ky ticket was making unfair use of government planes for campaign trips.

Thieu and Ky, apparently confident they will be elected president and vice president Sept. 3, did not make the first trip Sunday. Some candidates charged this showed the government had meant the trip to be a fiasco.

Ky complained today that the candidates wanted deluxe cars to meet them. We don't have cars for them up there."

He said he would go on future trips if all the other candidates go, but not if they merely send representatives.

Previously, both Thieu and Ky had indicated they would ignore the trips.

At Quang Tri, information ministry loudspeaker trucks had gone through the surrounding countryside to advertise the candidates' visit. The province chief said a regiment of South Vietnamese troops was around the city to prevent any Viet Cong attack.

When the two planes carrying the candidates approached the city, the pilots refused to land because of strong crosswinds and went to Dong Ha.

English Tune Up to Compete In Musicals

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
LONDON (AP) — The English film industry is tuning up for competition in the musical film, which traditionally has been a Hollywood monopoly.

America's pre-eminence in the musical is being threatened by three major projects which will test whether England can match Hollywood's skill in this art form. The first was "Half a Sixpence," starring Tommy Steele and a British cast and directed by an American, George Sidney—"Anchors Aweigh," "Pepe."

Roadshow Release

"Half a Sixpence" ran into problems that extended the schedule to six months. But Paramount is high on its chances and has planned a roadshow release. Two new musical projects recently have started shooting in studios outside London. One is Columbia's "Oliver" based on the London and Broadway hit taken from Dickens' "Oliver Twist." The other is United Artists' "Chitty Chitty Bang Bang," from the Ian Fleming story for children.

"Oliver" is being directed at Shepperton Studio by Carol Reed. He is a curious choice for a musical, having specialized in dramas—"The Third Man," "The Fallen Idol."

"But I did direct a few musicals starring Jessie Matthews before the war," he said. Except for minor musicals starring Miss Matthews and Anna Neagle, England has produced few tunefilms over the years.

Reed was asked why. "It has been largely a matter of economics," he explained. "Musicals are very expensive to make. They require large staffs, long rehearsals and pre-recording sessions before the picture begins. We simply couldn't afford to lavish the money."

U. S. Money Helps

American money has solved that problem. Columbia will spend an estimated $14 million on "Oliver," which stars Ron Moody, Shani Wallis, Harry Secombe and Hugh Griffith.

"Chitty Chitty Bang Bang" is budgeted for $28 million, and United Artists appears hopeful that it will be another "Mary Poppins." The new film also boasts the services of Dick Van Dyke as star and the Sherman brothers as song writers.

Producers of British-made films are rebated part of their costs from a fund supported by theater admission taxes. Broccoli said the government and the unions allowed him to hire American musical personnel above the usual quota.

"The authorities wanted a break-through for the musical film in England, and so they gave us certain concessions," the producer reported.

Scientists Await Clear Lunar Views

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Scientists engaged in mapping the moon awaited results from Lunar Orbiter 5 today—hoping for new, clear views of the rugged, pock-marked lunar surface.

The 860-pound craft's mission was to photograph five possible new astronaut landing sites and work at clearing up the old riddle of whether the moon's features were caused by meteors or volcanoes.

Spokesmen at the Jet Propulsion Laboratory said the first pictures would be flashed on television monitor screens at the laboratory.

The shiny craft's camera system began working Sunday as it swooped low over the moon's surface. Scientists said after the landing site survey it would begin mapping most of the hidden side of the moon.

They hoped, through the new photographs, to see what causes "hot spots" on the moon's surface that are observable from earth. Some contend they may be sunlight reflecting off clouds of gas escaping through volcanic fissures.

Others believe the spots are merely lighter-colored materials on the surface.

Of particular interest were the craters Aristarchus, Censorinus, Dionysius, Dawes and Tycho—the hot spots.

Lunar Orbiter 5, the last in the lunar orbiter series, ends the program that sent successful craft to explore the moon's features. Earlier craft mapped eight potential landing spots for American astronauts, and provided some of the most detailed photos ever taken of the lunar surface.

'Annihilate' Soviet Force Chinese Report

TOKYO (AP) — The Tokyo newspaper Mainichi said today that a wall newspaper in Peking has reported the "annihilation" of a "Soviet cavalry division" that "intruded" into Sinkiang Province.

No mention was made of when the reported clash took place. The Soviet union was identified only as "The 1st Soviet Cavalry Division."

The size of the Soviet force also was not given but the wall newspaper reported simply that it was "annihilated" by the Chinese side.

Mainichi speculated the story may have been circulated by Gen. Wang En-mao, commander of Communist Chinese forces in Sinkiang, as an excuse to close the province's borders and bolster his own position against Mao Tse-tung.

Detroit Emergency Lifted by Romney

DETROIT (AP) — Gov. George Romney has lifted a two-week state of emergency but there were reminders during the weekend of the riots that erupted in the nation's fifth largest city.

Romney lifted the state of emergency after a meeting with state and local officials Sunday.

"Recent days and nights have indicated a return to normalcy in the metropolitan area," the governor said.

That was the signal for withdrawal of the last of some 7,000 National Guard troops ordered to the city and the return of law enforcement responsibilities to local officials in Detroit and the suburbs of Highland Park, Hamtramck, River Rouge and Ecorse.

Three more deaths were added to the city's riot toll over the weekend, raising it to 42. A Detroit fireman injured by a falling power line while fighting a fire died Friday. Two Negroes shot and wounded by National Guardsmen died Saturday.

The list had numbered 41 victims until the weekend, but two fatalities were found to have resulted from nonriot causes and were dropped. Then the three weekend deaths brought the list to 42.

By midafternoon, all National Guardsmen had left the city of 1.7 million. State police, called to reinforce Detroit police, had returned to normal duty.

Detroit police, however, remained on extended duty. Police Commissioner Ray Girardin said he will continue cancellation of furloughs and leaves to keep a full complement of officers on duty.

Also during the weekend, Detroit courts finished processing the last of 1,014 prisoners charged with minor offenses such as curfew violations during the riots. Pretrial examinations probably will be completed this week for the 3,166 prisoners being held on felony charges, said Recorder's Court Judge Donald Leonard.

Viet Politicians Leave in a Huff

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnam's civilian presidential candidates left 1,000 persons waiting to hear them and flew 425 miles back to Saigon in a huff Sunday after adverse winds forced them to land 10 miles from their reception committee.

Some accused the military government of sabotaging their campaign trip to Quang Tri city in South Vietnam's northernmost province. They refused the U.S. Marines' offer of two open trucks to take them to Quang Tri from the Leatherneck air strip at Dong Ha.

The group of 10 candidates or their representatives left while a Vietnamese welcoming committee was on its way from Quang Tri to pick them up.

The military regime of Premier Nguyen Cao Ky and Chief of State Nguyen Van Thieu had arranged 22 all-candidate campaign trips to counter criticism that the Thieu-Ky ticket was making unfair use of government planes for campaign trips.

Thieu and Ky, apparently confident they will be elected president and vice president Sept. 3, did not make the first trip Sunday. Some candidates charged this showed the government had meant the trip to be a fiasco.

Ky complained today that

"the candidates wanted deluxe cars to meet them. We don't have cars for them up there."

He said he would go on future trips if all the other candidates go, but not if they merely send representatives.

Previously, both Thieu and Ky had indicated they would ignore the trips.

At Quang Tri, information ministry loudspeaker trucks had gone through the surrounding countryside to advertise the candidates' visit. The province chief said a regiment of South Vietnamese troops was around the city to prevent any Viet Cong attack.

When the two planes carrying the candidates approached the city, the pilots refused to land because of strong crosswinds and went to Dong Ha.

Negroes Active In Mississippi Dem Primary

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Mississippi holds a Democratic primary election Nov. 7. Phillips is a proven vote-getter who ran for governor in 1963 but lost to Paul B. Johnson.

Mississippi governors are forbidden by the state constitution to succeed themselves, so Gov. Johnson took the unprecedented step of running for lieutenant governor. He held the post when Ross R. Barnett was governor from 1960 to 1964.

The victor in the second primary will face Republican Hubert H. Phillips in the general election Nov. 7. Phillips is a proven vote-getter who ran for governor in 1963 but lost to Paul B. Johnson.

Mississippi governors are forbidden by the state constitution to succeed themselves, so Gov. Johnson took the unprecedented step of running for lieutenant governor. He held the post when Ross R. Barnett was governor from 1960 to 1964.

There have, however, been no signs of attempts to organize bloc voting among Negroes. No candidate for governor has asked for Negro support.

Civil rights leaders are optimistic that Negro candidates will win some local and county offices. More than 50 Negroes are running in the primary, and others will run in the general election. None is in a statewide race.

For any of the seven candidates for governor, a victory in the primary would be only one step on the hard road to the governor's office. The consensus among political observers here is that the top two candidates will meet in a runoff second primary Aug. 29.

English Tune Up to Compete In Musicals

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
LONDON (AP) — The English film industry is tuning up for competition in the musical film, which traditionally has been a Hollywood monopoly.

America's pre-eminence in the musical is being threatened by three major projects which will test whether England can match Hollywood's skill in this art form. The first was "Half a Sixpence," starring Tommy Steele and a British cast and directed by an American, George Sidney—"Anchors Aweigh," "Pepe."

Roadshow Release

"Half a Sixpence" ran into problems that extended the schedule to six months. But Paramount is high on its chances and has planned a roadshow release. Two new musical projects recently have started shooting in studios outside London. One is Columbia's "Oliver" based on the London and Broadway hit taken from Dickens' "Oliver Twist." The other is United Artists' "Chitty Chitty Bang Bang," from the Ian Fleming story for children.

"Oliver" is being directed at Shepperton Studio by Carol Reed. He is a curious choice for a musical, having specialized in dramas—"The Third Man," "The Fallen Idol."

"But I did direct a few musicals before the war," he said. Except for minor musicals starring Miss Matthews and Anna Neagle, England has produced few tunefilms over the years.

Reed was asked why.

"It has been largely a matter of economics," he explained. "Musicals are very expensive to make. They require large staffs, long rehearsals and pre-recording sessions before the picture begins. We simply couldn't afford to lavish the money."

U. S. Money Helps

American money has solved that problem. Columbia will spend an estimated $14 million on "Oliver" which stars Ron Moody, Shani Wallis, Harry Secombe and Hugh Griffith.

"Chitty Chitty Bang Bang" is budgeted for $28 million, and United Artists appears hopeful that it will be another "Mary Poppins." The new film also boasts the services of Dick Van Dyke as star and the Sherman brothers as song writers.

Producers of British-made films are rebated part of their costs from a fund supported by theater admission taxes. Broccoli said the government and the unions allowed him to hire American musical personnel above the usual quota.

"The authorities wanted a break-through for the musical film in England, and so they gave us certain concessions," the producer reported.

Observers generally agree that the leaders in the campaign for governor are Barnett, 69, whose determined opposition to integration of the University of Mississippi brought him national notice in 1962; U.S. Rep. John Bell Williams, 48, who bolted Democratic party discipline in 1964 to support Republican Barry Goldwater for president and as a result was stripped of his congressional seniority; and state Treasurer William F. Winter, 44, whose record as an administrator has been established in a series of state offices he has held.

William L. Waller of Jackson, the district attorney for three counties, and James E. Swan of Hattiesburg, part owner of a radio station WKBH, are also considered strong contenders, but not strong enough to earn places in the second primary.

Two other candidates are in the contest, but have not campaigned seriously.

Negro groups and organized labor have avoided endorsing candidates, although James H. Meredith, the first Negro to be admitted, has recommended that Negroes vote for Barnett and Johnson if they cannot make up their minds.

Estimates of Negro voting strength range from 150,000 to 200,000 of the total voting population of about 700,000. State officials expect about 650,000 voters to cast ballots.

Scientists Await Clear Lunar Views

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Scientists engaged in mapping the moon awaited results from Lunar Orbiter 5 today—hoping for new, clear views of the rugged, pock-marked lunar surface.

The 860-pound craft's mission was to photograph five possible new astronaut landing sites and work at clearing up the old riddle of whether the moon's features were caused by meteors or volcanoes.

Spokesmen at the Jet Propulsion Laboratory said the first pictures would be flashed on television monitor screens at the laboratory.

The shiny craft's camera system began working Sunday as it swooped low over the moon's surface. Scientists said after the landing site survey it would begin mapping most of the hidden side of the moon.

They hoped, through the new photographs, to see what causes "hot spots" on the moon's surface that are observable from earth. Some contend they may be sunlight reflecting off clouds of gas escaping through volcanic fissures.

Others believe the spots are merely lighter-colored materials on the surface.

Of particular interest were the craters Aristarchus, Censorinus, Dionysius, Dawes and Tycho—the hot spots.

Lunar Orbiter 5, the last in the lunar orbiter series, ends the program that sent successful craft to explore the moon's features. Earlier craft mapped eight potential landing spots for American astronauts, and provided some of the most detailed photos ever taken of the lunar surface.

"THE WAR WAGON"</

See Inability to Predict Revenue Economic Threat

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — President Johnson's tax message to Congress discloses that such basic miscalculations of revenue have been made in the recent past as to cast doubt on the ability of the New Economics to function properly.

Activists Policy
The New Economics is an activist policy. It proclaims, among many things, that flexible taxing and spending, precisely timed and applied sensitively, can prevent expansions from deteriorating, as they often have, into recessions. One of its requirements is precise and accurate forecasting of trends. But, in eight paragraphs near the middle of Johnson's 3,000-word tax document there is evidence of very poor forecasting. Johnson frankly concedes that some of the present fiscal problems of big bills and too little money to pay them are caused by the inability to foretell the economic picture even a few months ahead. The Vietnam war, of course, complicates matters.

"The history of war," he explained, "teaches one clear lesson: the costs of conflict can never be precisely estimated nor fully foreseen." Defense spending may, therefore, exceed the January budget by $4 billion, he said.

This inability to forecast Vietnam's costs was, of course, verified before. Just last year a multibillion-dollar underestimate helped throw the economy out of a long period of equilibrium and rekindle the inflation embers.

Not Just Viet
But it isn't just the Vietnam war that has brought about the present situation, which could produce not just high taxes but a high cost of living as well. The errors in forecasting were everywhere.

"Since January," Johnson continued, "revenue estimates have been revised downward by a total of $7 billion." This is a huge error for those who must have precision in order to "fine tune" the economy.

Since some administration spending decisions were based on expectations that more money would be available, some present programs are out of harmony. They are at work in an economy that isn't quite what was foreseen seven months ago.

The specifics of that $7 billion of anticipated but uncollected revenue reveal how difficult it is to forecast precisely and how, when politics are involved, how impossible it is to control the figures.

These are the specific miscalculations, or to use Johnson's term, downward revisions of revenue:

Downward Revisions
—The paper loss of $800 million in revenue because Congress restored the corporate investment tax credit "earlier than the budget had assumed and more generously than the administration has requested."

—The loss of the use of $3 billion because of a decrease in the estimated yield from existing income tax rates, and the inability to collect another $200 million because gift and estate taxes produced less than expected.

—A downward revision of $600 million in revenue because miscellaneous receipts were not accurately estimated. Stockpile sales, for instance, gave $450 million less than had been forecast.

Finally, and most interestingly, some $300 million that the administration had expected but didn't get resulted from "a later effective date for the surcharge on personal income taxes than recommended last January."

"The administration made both the January recommendation and the subsequent decisions to postpone the effective date of the recommendation."

Can an economy remain fine-tuned with such sour notes as produced by the inability to forecast precisely? Can an economy remain in equilibrium, can it avoid inflation, when spending exceeds income expectations by so much?

There have always been scoffers of the New Economics. Some refer to it as the spigot theory—the belief that a spigot of money opened here and one closed over there keeps things in balance.

Other critics say the New Economics should concentrate not on the wiggle in the economic cycle but on the cycle itself. Long-range policy rather than short-term manipulation should be the goal, they say.

And some critics state that until forecasting becomes a science the New Economics itself is as vulnerable to ups and downs as the economic cycle it seeks to control.

Savings Banks Purchase Bonds

New York State savings banks were net purchasers of $144,085,000 worth of bonds, primarily corporate issues, during June, and increased their mortgage holdings by $152,147,000 in the same month, the Savings Banks Association of New York State reported today.

Dr. Austin S. Murphy, association managing director, said that June bond-buying by the savings banks brought about the second highest monthly increase since at least July 1958 in the banks' corporate bond holdings.

The largest was a gain of $155,671,000 in January of this year, but in that month the savings banks also increased their mortgage portfolios by a total of $246,617,000. The June spread of only some $8 million between mortgage and securities investments was unusually small, Dr. Murphy said.

To Issue Paper

VATICAN CITY AP—Vatican informants confirmed today that Pope Paul VI will issue a few days after Aug. 15 a document on reform of the Roman Curia.

The Pope has long promised to modernize the curia, the central office of the Roman Catholic Church, to give it a younger, less conservative tone in line with the updating program outlined by the Vatican Ecumenical Council.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market continued to advance in active trading early Monday.

Continuing its vigorous display of last week, the market made a broad advance. Gains outnumbered losers by 2-1.

The over-all market did better than the Dow Jones industrial average, which was ahead a point or so.

Gains of a point or more were scored by Du Pont, Goodrich and IBM.

Ling Temco Vought rose more than 13 points. The stock was up 6 1/2 Friday on news it had made a tender offer for the stock of Great America Corp.

Polaroid sank a half dozen points. Schering dropped 1.

Some large blocks were traded.

Southern California Edison common was off 1/4 at 37 1/2 on a block of 100,000 shares.

Brown Co. preferred, selling ex dividend $1.50, was off 2 at 22 1/2 on 76,200 shares.

American Investment lost 1/4 at 1 1/2 on 10,200 shares. Martin Marietta gained 1/4 at 25 1/2 on 10,000 shares.

On Friday The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose 1 to 34 1/2.

Prices advanced today on the New York Stock Exchange. Softiron Devices gained about 2 points.

Register Today, Women's League Tells Residents

Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan has proclaimed today, Aug. 7, a special day for Permanent Personal Registration and has arranged to have a registration center set up at the Municipal Auditorium on Broadway.

This center will be open until 9 p. m. tonight and The League of Women Voters of Kingston urges all residents of Kingston to take advantage of these special evening hours and register today for the November election. There will be ample parking and no problems of waiting in long registration lines. In order to vote this year, all citizens must re-register in person, regardless of whether they have registered permanently in the past.

The League of Women Voters began their work for Permanent Personal Registration in the 1920's and have pressed for this reform annually since the early '40's. PPR will guarantee the protection of the ballot by requiring a registration signature for identification of the voter at the polls on election day and annual checks to determine the voter's eligibility. In addition, it will provide added convenience for the voter.

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — State funds of $8.6 million and federal funds of $9.6 million have been approved for 11 mental health centers and nine mental retardation facilities in New York State. Gov. Rockefeller announced today.

The total cost of the projects was estimated at $55.5 million. They are in various stages of planning, architectural design or construction.

First annual revisions of the state's plans for construction of community mental health centers and community mental retardation facilities, establishing priorities, will be submitted to the U.S. Public Health Service.

The state program is directed by Dr. Hyman Pleasure of the Department of Mental Hygiene's Division of Local Services.

Appoint Two To Advisory Board Posts

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Sens. D. Clinton Dominick III, R-Newburgh, and John J. Marchi, R-Staten Island, have been appointed to the advisory board of the New York State Legislative Institute, Senate Republican Majority Leader Earl W. Brydges announced today.

The institute, created by the 1967 Legislature, is to provide a permanent center at the State University's Graduate School of Public Affairs here for high-level research training and information on the legislative process.

A $25,000 planning appropriation was included for the institute, which will have four academic chairs.

The advisory board members serve without salary.

SEAL HARBOR, Maine (AP) — New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller's art collection netted $4,000 for Maine's Republican party.

An estimated 850 persons paid $5 each to view the collection during a two-day exhibit that ended Sunday.

The exhibit marked the first time that the collection, housed in a converted coal wharf on the governor's summer estate, has been opened to the public.

Nail Down Some Profits In High-Multiple Stock

Q) "I have $20,000 cash; 200 shares Memorex; 1,000 Fidelity Trend Mutual Fund; $100,000 2nd trust deeds with a monthly income of $1,500; a $60,000 home. My wife and I are 60 and the children are self-supporting. Should we sell one-half our Memorex and put the proceeds into additional mutual funds? Our trust deed income will last another eight years."

A) You have invested very shrewdly and I commend you for it. Your Memorex is one of the better stocks in the very glamorous magnetic tape business. Like most issues related to computers, the shares have been bid up sharply and have tripled in value in '67. They sold recently at about 60 times estimated earnings for this year, which is a pretty high multiple.

The OTC market — where Memorex is traded — has been getting its full share of speculative activity and I look for some cooling off in many of the really hot issues. I would certainly nail down one-half my profit and if you like an aggressive fund such as Fidelity Trend, you might discuss with your dealer, Invest, Dreyfus or Oppenheimer, each of which has performed well.

Q) "I took your advice recently and exchanged my Sinclair Oil for Atlantic Richfield convertible preferred on a share-for-share basis. Should I hold now or convert, and would this cost money? I don't understand two listings of preferred." H.P.

A) Your shares are usually listed as "pf 3." They sold recently at 88 or 12 points higher than the Sinclair you surrendered so that at this point the exchange has worked out well for you. Your $3 preference stock is convertible into 85 shares of Atlantic Richfield common and sells at about its conversion value. The yield is 3.5 per cent and the shares move closely in price with the common to which they are related. No money is required to convert, but I see no advantage in doing so at present.

See Inability to Predict Revenue Economic Threat

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — President Johnson's tax message to Congress discloses that such basic miscalculations of revenue have been made in the recent past as to cast doubt on the ability of the New Economics to function properly.

Activists Policy
The New Economics is an activist policy. It proclaims, among many things, that flexible taxing and spending, precisely timed and applied expansively, can prevent expansions from deteriorating, as they often have, into recessions. One of its requirements is precise and accurate forecasting of trends. But, in eight paragraphs near the middle of Johnson's 3,000-word tax document there is evidence of very poor forecasting. Johnson frankly concedes that some of the present fiscal problems of big bills and too little money to pay them are caused by the inability to foretell the economic picture even a few months ahead. The Vietnam war, of course, complicates matters.

"The history of war," he explained, "teaches one clear lesson: the costs of conflict can never be precisely estimated nor fully foreseen." Defense spending may, therefore, exceed the January budget by $4 billion, he said.

This inability to forecast Vietnam's costs was, of course, verified before. Just last year a multibillion-dollar underestimate helped throw the economy out of a long period of equilibrium and rekindle the inflation embers.

Not Just Viet
But it isn't just the Vietnam war that has brought about the present situation, which could produce not just high taxes but a high cost of living as well. The errors in forecasting were everywhere.

"Since January," Johnson continued, "revenue estimates have been revised downward by a total of $7 billion." This is a huge error for those who must have precision in order to "fine tune" the economy.

Since some administration spending decisions were based on expectations that more money would be available, some present programs are out of harmony. They are at work in an economy that isn't quite what was foreseen seven months ago.

The specifics of that $7 billion of anticipated but uncollected revenue reveal how difficult it is to forecast precisely and how, when politics are involved, how impossible it is to control the figures.

These are the specific miscalculations, or to use Johnson's term, downward revisions of revenue:

Downward Revisions

—The paper loss of $800 million in revenue because Congress restored the corporate investment tax credit "earlier than the budget had assumed and more generously than the administration has requested."

—The loss of the use of $3 billion because of a decrease in the estimated yield from existing income tax rates, and the inability to collect another $300 million because gift and estate taxes produced less than expected.

—A downward revision of $900 million in revenue because miscellaneous receipts were not accurately estimated. Stockpile sales, for instance, gave $450 million less than had been foreseen.

—Finally, and most interestingly, some $800 million that the administration had expected but didn't get resulted from "a later effective date for the surcharge on personal income taxes than recommended last January."

(The administration made both the January recommendation and the subsequent decision to postpone the effective date of the recommendation.)

Can an economy remain fine tuned with such sour notes as produced by the inability to forecast precisely? Can an economy remain in equilibrium, can it avoid inflation, when spending exceeds income expectations by so much?

There have always been scoffers of the New Economics. Some refer to it as the spigot theory—the belief that a spigot of money opened here and one closed over there keeps things in balance.

Other critics say the New Economics should concentrate not on the wiggles in the economic cycle but on the cycle itself. Long-range policy rather than short-term manipulation should be the goal, they say.

And some critics state that until forecasting becomes a science the New Economics itself is as vulnerable to ups and downs as the economic cycle it seeks to control.

Savings Banks

Purchase Bonds

New York State savings banks were net purchasers of $144,085,000 worth of bonds, primarily corporate issues, during June, and increased their mortgage holdings by $152,147,000 in the same month, the Savings Banks Association of New York State reported today.

Dr. Austin S. Murphy, association managing director, said that June bond-buying by the savings banks brought about the second highest monthly increase since at least July 1958 in the banks' corporate bond holdings. The largest was a gain of $155,671,000 in January of this year, but in that month the savings banks also increased their mortgage portfolios by a total of $246,617,000. The June spread of only some $8 million between mortgage and securities investments was unusually small, Dr. Murphy said.

To Issue Paper

VATICAN CITY AP—Vatican informants confirmed today that Pope Paul VI will issue a few days after Aug. 15 a document on reform of the Roman Curia.

The Pope has long promised to modernize the curia, the central office of the Roman Catholic Church, to give it a younger, less conservative tone in line with the updating program outlined by the Vatican Ecumenical Council.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market continued to advance in active trading early Monday.

Continuing its vigorous display of last week, the market made a broad advance.

Gains outnumbered losers by 2-to-1.

The over-all market did better than the Dow Jones industrial average, which was ahead a point or so.

Gains of a point or more were scored by Du Pont, General and IBM.

Lang Temco Vought rose more than 13 points. The stock was up 6 1/2 Friday on news it had made a tender offer for the stock of Great American.

Polaroid sank a half dozen points. Sanking dropped 11.

Some large blocks were traded.

Southern California Edison common was off 1/2 at 37 1/2 on a block of 100,000 shares.

Brown Co. preferred, selling ex dividend $1.50, was off 2 at 22 1/2 on 76,200 shares.

American Investment lost 1/4 at 1 1/4 on 10,200 shares. Martin Marietta gained 1/4 at 25 1/4 on 10,000 shares.

On Friday The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose 1 to 34 1/2.

Prices advanced today on the American Stock Exchange. Solitron Devices gained about 2 points.

Register Today, Women's League Tells Residents

Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan has proclaimed today, Aug. 7, a special day for Permanent Personal Registration and has arranged to have a registration center set up at the Municipal Auditorium on Broadway.

This center will be open until 9 p. m. tonight and The League of Women Voters of Kingston urges all residents of Kingston to take advantage of these special evening hours and register today for the November election. There will be ample parking and no problems of waiting in long registration lines. In order to vote this year, all citizens must re-register in person, regardless of whether they have registered permanently in the past.

The League of Women Voters began their work for Permanent Personal Registration in the 1920's and have pressed for this reform annually since the early '40's. PPR will guarantee the protection of the ballot by requiring a registration signature for identification of the voter at the polls on election day and annual checks to determine the voter's eligibility. In addition, it will provide added convenience for the voter.

Appoint Two To Advisory Board Posts

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Sens. D. Clinton Dominick III, R-Newburgh, and John J. Marchi, R-Staten Island, have been appointed to the advisory board of the New York State Legislative Institute, Senate Republican Majority Leader Earl W. Brydges announced today.

The institute, created by the 1967 Legislature, is to provide a permanent center at the State University's Graduate School of Public Affairs here for high-level research training and information on the legislative process.

A $25,000 planning appropriation was included for the institute, which will have four academic chairs.

The advisory board members serve without salary.

SEAL HARBOR, Maine (AP) — New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller's art collection netted $4,000 for Maine's Republican party.

An estimated 850 persons paid $5 each to view the collection during a two-day exhibit that ended Sunday.

The exhibit marked the first time that the collection, housed in a converted coal wharf on the governor's summer estate, has been opened to the public.

Nail Down Some Profits In High-Multiple Stock

Q) "I have $20,000 cash; 200 shares Memorex; 1,000 Fidelity Trend Mutual Fund; $100,000 2nd trust deeds with a monthly income of $1,500; a $60,000 home. My wife and I are 60 and the children are self-supporting. Should we sell one-half our Memorex and put the proceeds into additional mutual funds? Our trust deed income will last another eight years."

A) You have invested very wisely about its conversion value. The yield is 3.5 per cent and the shares move closely in price with the common to which they are related. No money is required to convert, but I see no advantage in doing so at present.

The OTC market — where Memorex is traded — has been getting its full share of speculative activity and I look for some cooling off in many of the really hot issues. I would certainly nail down one-half my profit and if you like an aggressive fund such as Fidelity Trend, you might discuss with your dealer, Invest, Dreyfus or Oppenheimer, each of which has performed well.

Social Activities

Berkshire Festival Concert Program

The seventh and busiest week of the Berkshire Festival includes three Boston Symphony Orchestra concerts, an appearance of Arthur Fiedler and The Boston Pops and the first five concerts in the Fifth Festival of Contemporary American Music.

For the Berkshire Festival concert on Friday, Aug. 11 at 9 p. m., Erich Leinsdorf, music director of the Boston Symphony Orchestra, will have Itzhak Perlman as guest soloist. Mr. Perlman will perform the Sibelius Violin Concerto with the orchestra. For the balance of the program Mr. Leinsdorf will conduct Mousorgsky's Khovanchina Prelude and Tchaikovsky's Symphony No. 6.

John Browning will present a recital of piano music by Chopin, Rachmaninoff and Scriabin for the now traditional Weekend Prelude on Friday, Aug. 11 at 7 p. m.

William Steinberg will be guest conductor of the Boston Symphony on Saturday, Aug. 12 at 8 p. m. in a program consisting of Glinka's Kamarinskaya, Borodin's Symphony No. 2 and Tchaikovsky's Manfred Symphony.

On Sunday afternoon, Aug. 13 at 2:30, pianist John Browning will perform the Prokofiev Piano Concerto No. 1 and Rachmaninoff's Paganini Rhapsody.

Erich Leinsdorf will also lead the orchestra in a performance of Michael Colgrass, "As Quiet As..."

The annual appearance of Arthur Fiedler and The Boston Pops at Tanglewood will be on Tuesday, Aug. 8 at 8 p. m. Mr. Fiedler will have Pianist Earl Wild as his guest for an all Gershwin evening. The program will begin with "An American in Paris," continuing with "The Concerto in F," for piano and orchestra and an orchestral suite from "Porgy and Bess." Mr. Wild will be heard again in the famous, "Rhapsody in Blue," for piano and orchestra, and the concert will close with "Strike Up The Band."

The friends of the Berkshire Music Center are invited to the first five concerts in the Fifth Festival of Contemporary American Music. The festival will open with a concert of the Berkshire Music Center Orchestra conducted by Gunther Schuller on Wednesday, Aug. 9 at 8 p. m. Thursday, Aug. 10 at 8 p. m., Iva Dee Hiatt will conduct at concert by the Tanglewood Chorus. Saturday, Aug. 12 there will be an unusual concert of electronic music in the Formal Gardens on the Tanglewood grounds.

Information on all Tanglewood events may be obtained by writing Festival Ticket Office, Tanglewood, Lenox, Mass. 01240.

Look Here! Mrs. Homemaker

The process of taking caffeine out of coffee is not a secret, says Louise M. Kakargo, Extension Home Economist. The fact is that two American food companies hold patents and facilities for decaffeinating coffee. The patents, available from the government, are available to anyone interested in learning about caffeine extraction from coffee. The caffeine is removed from green coffee beans by exposing them to a caffeine-free extract at the required temperature for a specific amount of time. The beans are then removed from the extractors and are dried and roasted like regular coffee beans.

Although some food prices seem to be on the rise, several processed fruits were lower in cost at the beginning of 1967 than they were the year before. The Bureau of Labor Statistics lists average retail prices in the New York metropolitan area for canned fruit cocktail, pears, and chilled orange juice. According to this BLS survey, a No. 303 (1-pound) can of fruit cocktail cost 25.2 cents in April, 1967 as compared to 27.0 cents the previous April. A No. 2½ (1-pound-13-ounce) can of pears cost 42.0 cents in April, 1967, as compared to 50.9 cents a year earlier. A quart of chilled orange juice cost 27.1 cents in April of 1967, as compared to the 36.7 cents it cost the previous year. The reason for lower prices this year is larger supplies.

At the Markets

Shoppers may expect varied foods to be abundant throughout the Northeast this August. Items on the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Plentiful Food list for August include:

TURKEY — Turkey is especially abundant. For one reason, cold storage stocks on June 1 amounted to over 150 million pounds, a third greater than average for the date. Too, marketing of turkey this August are expected to be greater than the year earlier.

Convenience turkey products as well as the whole, ready-to-cook birds will be abundant. About one-fourth of the turkey poundage in cold storage represents products made largely from boneless turkey meat, such as rolls and roasts.

FISH FILLETS AND STEAKS — Ample frozen fish fillets and steaks will be available this August, owing to heavy cold storage holdings.

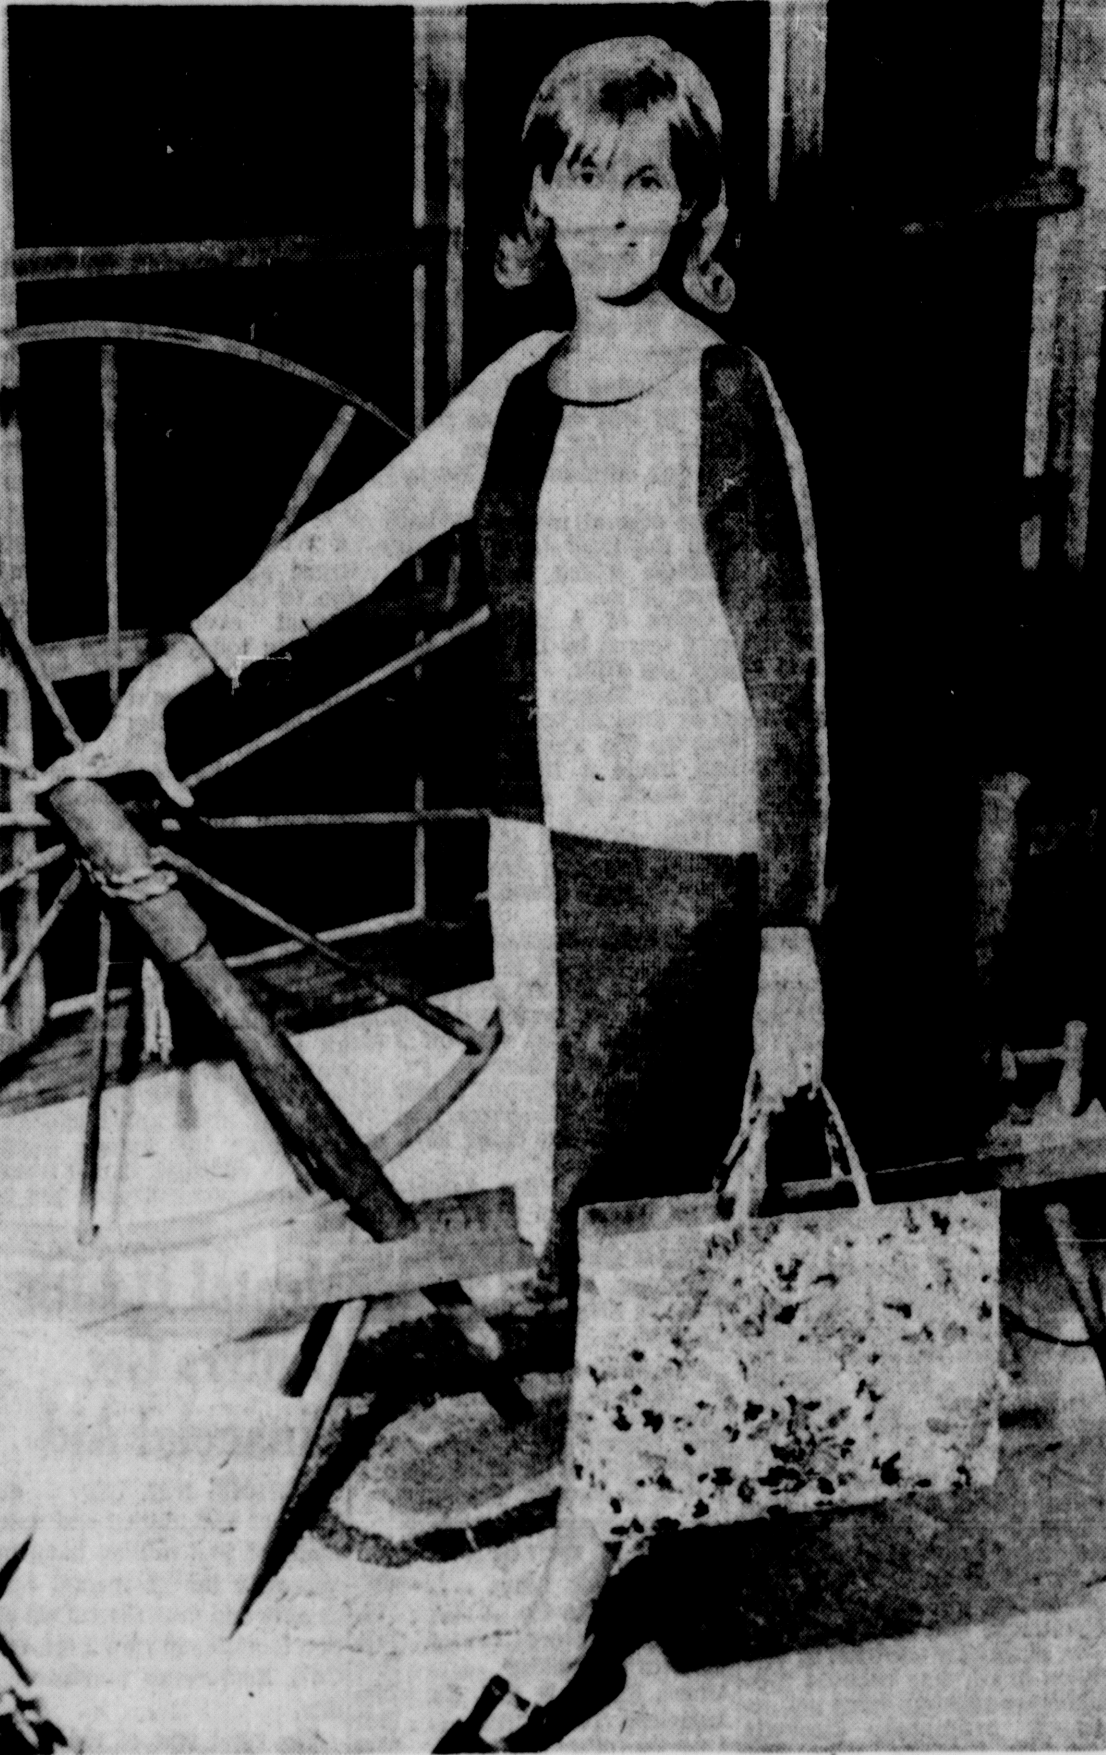

Some types will be relatively more abundant than others. For instance, holdings are larger for flounder, halibut, ocean perch, and whiting, but smaller for cod, haddock, and pollock.

PEANUT BUTTER — The 1966 peanut crop totaled more than 1.2 million tons, about 25 per cent above the '60-64 average and a new record. Peanut butter is the chief end use of the Georgia and Alabama crop. The two states combined produce about half of the United States crop.

Area Pupils Named To Dean's List

Several area students have been named to the dean's list for scholastic excellence at State University Agricultural and Technical College at Cobleskill.

They are: Diane Potter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Potter Sr., 170 Horton Lane, Port Ewen, a senior, studying nursery education; Joan Kinney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wendell A. Kinney, Society of Brothers, Rifton, a freshman, nursery education; John Waruch, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Waruch, St. Joseph Road, Accord, freshman, major field of study agriculture with concentration in horticulture; Susan Van Aken, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Van Aken, PO Box 26, Ulster Park, freshman, food service administration; Annemarie Zimmermann, ward of Mrs. Florence Potts, Society of Brothers, Woodcrest, Rifton, freshman, nursery education; Christa Zimmermann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kurt Zimmermann, Society of Brothers, Woodcrest, Rifton, freshman, nursery education; Ruth Stanaway, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stanaway, Society of Brothers, Woodcrest, Rifton, freshman, nursery education. The college awards the degree of Associate in Applied Science.

New Paltz Luncheon - Fashions

One of the feature attractions of Red Carpet Week in New Paltz will be an unusual luncheon and fashion show on Tuesday, Aug. 8 at 11:30 a. m. in Reggie's Inn, near exit 18 of the New York State Thruway.

The week-long celebration is sponsored by the New Paltz Chamber of Commerce. Some of the highlights listed for that week include a tour of State University College, fun day at Moriello Park, Army-Navy Veterans' softball game; piano recital; wild bird refuge tours, folk and square dancing, teen block dancing, choral music reading concert, theatre productions and tours of the historic sections of New Paltz.

According to Mrs. Richard Culver, chairman of the fashion show and luncheon, models will show the latest in ski sweaters to high style evening clothes. All fashions are hand knit or crocheted. Fashion commentator for the occasion will be Pat Yeager, heard regularly on the Mary Margaret McBride program, Kingston station WGHQ.

Modeling will be Danny Pine, Victor Wazewski, the Misses Jackie Kelly and Mary Winkley, and the Misses Jesse Bickmore, Schuyler Millham, Kenneth Morrison and Robert B. Taylor.

Organ music will be provided by Howard Houghtaling. Reservations for the luncheon-fashion show may be made by telephoning Reggie's Inn.

Miss Florence Ward Is Bride - Elect

Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Ward, 24 Harrigan Street, Highland, Park, N. J., announce the engagement of their daughter Florence, to Leonard F. Carey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Carey, Bordentown, N. J.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Edison Township High School, Edison, N. J. She is a senior at the Kingston Hospital School of Nursing.

Her fiancé, a graduate of Trenton Catholic High School, is employed as an electronic technician at IBM, Kingston.

A September 1968 wedding is planned.

Keep Your Distance

To prevent tailgating accidents that are deadly at expressway speeds, the Department of Motor Vehicles suggests you leave at least one car length space between you and the car ahead for every ten miles of speed. If someone gets on your tail—keep to the extreme right to encourage him to pass, and look sharply ahead to avoid sudden stops that may catch him off-guard.

Hints From Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE
Dear Folks:

Here's something absolutely fabulous that I discovered quite by accident.

You know those transparent, inexpensive, plastic wastebaskets we all buy? The kind that looks like cut glass? Usually you can get facial tissue boxes and the whole caboodle to match. . . . Well, this weekend I needed a big container to plant a flower in. I picked up one of these wastebaskets, heated my ice pick and punched some holes in the bottom of it. But when I put the dirt in, it looked awful.

So I grabbed a can of black spray paint and sprayed the INSIDE! You should see the beautiful results. It looks like a hand-carved piece of ebony! What a beautiful container for my potted plant it makes!

Not only that, if your bathroom or bedroom is pink, green, or whatever, and you want to match your decor, try spraying the inside of them with any color you need. I found flat paint to be the best. Oh, they look so nice.

Heloise

Dear Heloise: When sending get-well cards to a friend in the hospital, I always address the card to the hospital, but in the upper left-hand corner I write the name and HOME address of the person to whom I am sending the card.

This way, if my friend has been released from the hospital, the get-well card is sent to his or her home.

Irene Bauer

Dear Heloise: We found a solution to the fails that our little two-year-old used to have in her wading pool because the bottom was smooth and slippery.

We bought some of those bathtub treads and put them on the bottom inside of the pool and no more falls or crying because of slips.

Net and Bet

Dear Heloise: We decided at the last minute to go on a picnic and I needed a salt and pepper shaker.

I took two small, empty baby food jars and punched a few holes in the lids. Filled one with salt, the other with pepper. They served the purpose and I didn't worry about them getting broken or lost.

Mrs. F. Dibelka

Dear Heloise: In order to collect favorite recipes for the new bride, the following idea was planned for the guests at the shower:

I purchased a package of 3" x 5" index cards, an attractively decorated recipe file box to hold the cards, and typed some of my favorite recipes, one on each card.

At the shower, a blank index card was given to each guest with the request that she write her favorite recipe on the card. And if she couldn't remember all the ingredients, to write it later and mail the card to the new bride.

This way the bride had many "tried and proved" recipes to begin using in her new home. In addition, all of the recipes were on uniform cards and stored in a pretty box to harmonize with her kitchen decor.

Florals Are at Home in Any Room

By AILEEN SNOODY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Flowers that bloom in the spring, tra la, add a year-round freshness to many homes. The man-made variety, especially, adds a special touch to any room. For any number of purist decorators this is not always true. These shiver as though a worm crawled down their spines when they see a plastic or paper variety of plants decorating a home. Each to his own taste.

However, few decorators are down on using floral designs. Most react enthusiastically to new interpretations that pop up each year in fabrics and rugs.

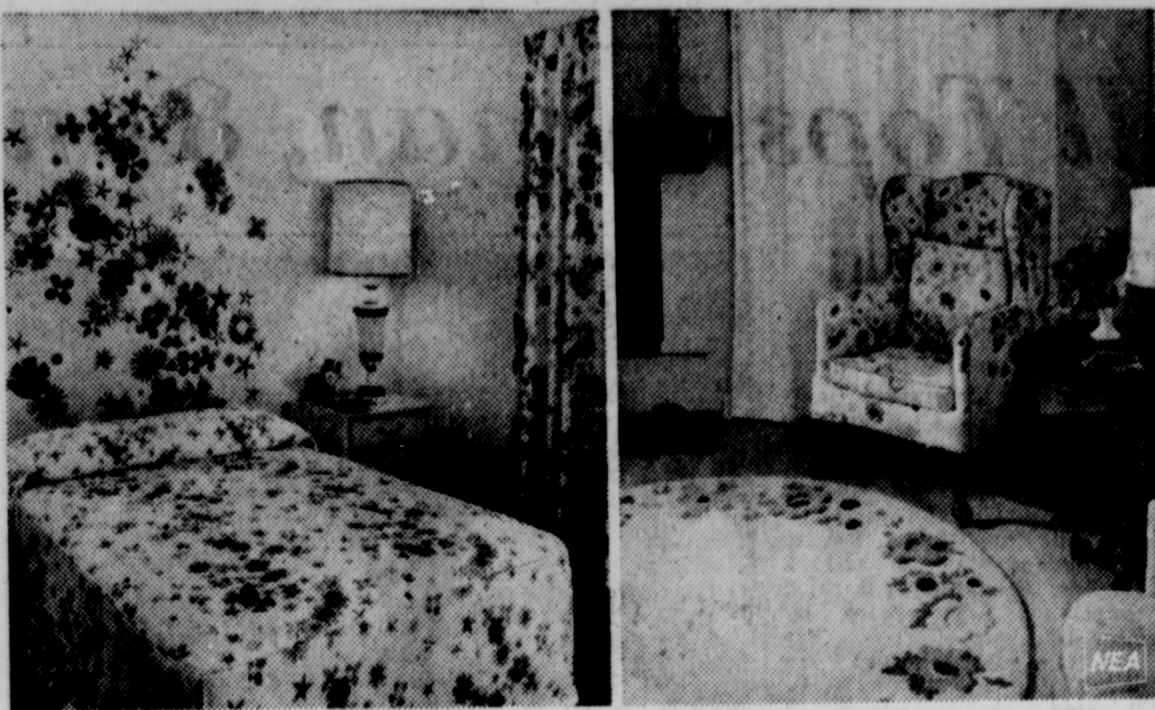

Floral designs take to the startling color combinations of pink and red, purple and green, blue and green, orange and hot pink that once caused headshaking among conservatives.

Whether the designs are perfect copies of a daisy, tulip or rose or so free-form it takes an artistic botanist to spot the periwinkles, your flowers more than hold their own with gaudy streaks, stripes, plaids or geometrics.

Traditionalists, like the French, would not let the petit fleur escape in their delicate designs for draperies and upholstery. English stylists during the Mod infiltration clung doggedly to their chintzy prints. And for good reason.

A dash of flowers adds something refreshing and peppy to a room. Women know this. One admitted she always has a vase or bowl of fresh flowers in her apartment when she wants to impress a date.

Aside from this canny move for entrapment, flowerers serve a decorating purpose. To illustrate this, designer L. Jarmine Roach, A.I.D., reworked a small room into a charming bedroom through use of the ment when she wants to impress a date.

Aside from this canny move for entrapment, flowerers serve a decorating purpose.

To illustrate this, designer L. Jarmine Roach, A.I.D., reworked a small room into a charming bedroom through use of the space and cost. The same pattern, reduced in size, is repeated in the bedspread and draperies.

With such a theme, Roach points out, only minimum of other decoration is needed. The print reflects today's sophisticated use of color with the wallpaper in celadon, bronze-olive touched with silver and gold on a textured white background. The white is continued on other walls in the room with the fringe of the Shanton rayon and Dacron polyester draperies in the deepest tone of the floral. The tone is repeated in the carpet. Nightstands are painted white with drawers framed in celadon and lamps are white with circles of bronze-olive.

Roach's approach to decorating with flowers is simple to adapt. Avoid conflicting pattern and repeat a dominant color sparingly in room accessories. Since a floral has a number of colorways it is easy to change a room with a new bedspread or draperies in one of the dominant tones.

Hammer, Conductor New Paltz Orchestra

Dr. Harry Hammer, who in 1954 was selected as guest conductor of the Los Angeles Philharmonic by the American Symphony Orchestra League, has been named conductor of the College-Community Orchestra at State University College, New Paltz.

Dr. Hammer has been Professor of Music at New Paltz since 1964, and is coordinator of General Education Music at the college.

His selection for the Los Angeles guest leadership was based on the outstanding reputation of the Mesa College, Colorado, community orchestra which he had organized in 1947 and conducted until 1964. The Colorado orchestra became known as one of the finest college - community orchestras in the western United States, and attracted as soloists such outstanding international artists as Grant Johannessen, David Bar-Ilan, Joseph Eger, and Roman Totenberg. Dr. Hammer appeared with the Los Angeles Orchestra during the Conductors and Music Critics Forum held there that year. He has also conducted the San Antonio Symphony Orchestra and has presented numerous violin recitals at New Paltz.

Musicians from the Mid-

Hudson region, along with college faculty members and students comprise the New Paltz orchestra. Area residents interested in joining for the coming concert season are invited to contact Dr. Hammer. Rehearsals for the orchestra will begin the first week in October and will be held on Tuesday evenings.

MATCHING OR RELATED FLORALS find homes as far apart as a bedroom in Los Angeles (left) and a sitting room in Bermuda. In both instances the prints are used sparingly, with dominant tones picked up by room accessories. Scenic floral in bedroom lends its celadon and bronze-olive tones to lamp and furniture trims. Floral design of Greeff is tangerine gold and wheat or lemon yellow repeated on the walls. Co-ordination of designs for wallcoverings, fabrics and rugs makes decorating much easier.

ment when she wants to impress a date.

Aside from this canny move for entrapment, flowers serve a decorating purpose.

To illustrate this, designer L. Jarmin Roach, A.I.D., reworked a small room into a charming bedroom through use of the single-pattern theme. To do this Roach chose a scenic floral wallpaper by Stockwell and substantiated it for a head-board. This saved

space and cost. The same pattern, reduced in size, is repeated in the bedspread and draperies.

With such a theme, Roach points out, only minimum of other decoration is needed.

The print reflects today's sophisticated use of color with the wallpaper in celadon, bronze-olive touched with silver and gold on a textured white background. The white is continued on other walls in the room with the fringe of the Shanton rayon and Dacron polyester draperies in the deepest tone of the floral. The tone is repeated in the carpet. Nightstands are painted white with drawers framed in celadon and lamps are white with circles of bronze-olive.

Roach's approach to decorating with flowers is simple to adapt. Avoid conflicting pattern and repeat a dominant color sparingly in room accessories. Since a floral has a number of colorways it is easy to change a room with a new bedspread or draperies in one of the dominant tones.

Hammer, Conductor New Paltz Orchestra

Dr. Harry Hammer, who in 1954 was selected as guest conductor of the Los Angeles Philharmonic by the American Symphony Orchestra League, has been named conductor of the College-Community Orchestra at State University College, New Paltz.

Dr. Hammer has been Professor of Music at New Paltz since 1964, and is coordinator of General Education Music at the college.

His selection for the Los Angeles guest leadership was based on the outstanding reputation of the Mesa College, Colorado, community orchestra which he had organized in 1947 and conducted until 1964. The Colorado orchestra became known as one of the finest college - community orchestras in the western United States, and attracted as soloists such outstanding international artists as Grant Johannesen, David Bar-Ilan, Joseph Eger.

Birthday Messages Extended in Italy To Mrs. Lou Schafer

Mrs. Louis H. Schafer, this city, was honored at a surprise birthday party Aug. 3 at Venice, Italy, where she and her husband plus 22 other Springfield College alumni are on an eight-country tour by jet plane, motor boat and bus.

The tour included England, Denmark, Germany, Austria, Switzerland, Italy, France and Holland.

States represented by the alumni were New York, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Virginia, Wisconsin, Washington, California and Colorado.

Over 250 people from many countries joined the alumni group at the restaurant in extending birthday congratulations to Mrs. Schafer.

Amenia Monarchs Dim Braves Interstate Hopes, 5 to 4

Randall Tops Byman, 8 and 7, for 10th Wiltwyck Title

Rash of Walks Disastrous to Local Chances

By CHARLES J. TIANO
Sports Editor

Fred Davi, the Kingston Braves promoter, has been shopping for ideas for a special night at Dietz Stadium before the 1967 season ends.

But his boys beat him to the punch Saturday night with their own giveaway program in blowing a 6-5 decision to Amenias Monarchs in an interstate League contest.

Not even the fact that the stadium archlight system had every bulb for the first time in several years could inspire the Braves or deter them from a couple of highly dubious pieces of strategy that completely changed the complexion of the game.

The defeat was a serious blow to Kingston's pennant hopes. The locals are now 4-3 instead of 5-2.

Ron Thomas was pitching brilliantly and held a 4-1 lead at the end of six innings. After walking the first two batters in the seventh, Thomas had to leave the game because of a sore elbow. The Braves luck changed quickly—and it was all bad.

Broom in Relief

Ted Broom was rushed in from the bullpen without sufficient warmup. He walked two more batters to force in a run. A walk, infield out, single and fielder's choice produced five Amenias runs on just one hit and the visitors forged ahead 6-4.

Bill Ostrom, a baseball legend from another Kingston era, was the third of three Amenias pitchers. He retired the side in order in the seventh but in the 8th, he plunked Lou Perry and Paul Buynkins singled to left putting runners on first and second with nine out.

The next two batters were Jerry Hawkins and Chuck Boice, the club's best hitters, but in what seemed an incredible move to the fans, the steal signal was flashed and Perry was cut down at third. Buynkins moved to third on a short passed ball and catcher Calahan's throw into centerfield.

Boice blazed a single through the third baseman's fifth hit in a "5 for 5" performance and Buynkins scored to make it 6-5. Pete Wetzke forced Boice to end the inning.

Braves' hopes rose when Johnny Eccleston lashed an Ostrom pitch into right center for three bases to lead off the Kingston ninth. The squeeze play signal was flashed but Paul Giannuzzi's bunt forced Eccleston at the plate. Joe Shabot then lined a shot to first baseman Ken Stahn who stepped on the bag and doubled Giannuzzi to end the game in a frustrating defeat for Kingston.

Thomas Effective

Thomas, who took an extra long warmup trying to work the kink out of his pitching elbow, checked the hard slugging Amenias crew on four hits in the first six innings. He yielded a quick first inning run to singles to Howie Mann and Carl Bates and a passed ball but was in complete command until the fateful seventh.

John Kelly, former Poughkeepsie High pitcher, survived a bases loaded threat in the first when Eccleston flied to deep center for the third out.

In the second, Joe Shabot got a triple to center and Thomas executed a quick first inning run to singles to Howie Mann and Carl Bates and a passed ball but was in complete command until the fateful seventh.

Kingston went ahead, 4-1, in the sixth. Thomas walked and Perry sacrificed him to second. Buynkins doubled to first scoring Thomas and he picked up the 4th run on Hawkins' double.

DIAMOND DUST: Boice will always remember the night all the bulbs were turned on. His "5 for 5" included three singles and two doubles. . . Bill Ostrom, the legendary Kingston Recreation pre-war pitcher, is grayer and several potshots heavier but still retains that classic swing. Thomas handled him easily in the No. 2 spot but he walked and singled against Broom. . . Kingston out-hit the Amenias powerhouse, 13-9, and lost the game despite 5 doubles and 2 triples. . . Another key inning was the fifth when Watzka forced Boice at second then overrid the bag on a successful steal. Eccleston and Giannuzzi followed with successive singles, giving Kingston no runs on 3 hits. . . Most popular pastime among the stadium regulars eight after the game? Chewing up the Braves strategy.

Teams Keep Tie In Interstate

Winsted and Millerton retained their Interstate Baseball League tie with victory on Sunday.

Winsted edged Torrington, 6-4, while Millerton was shut out by Pine Plains, 8-0, to stay tied with 6 and 2 records. Kingston held third despite a 6-5 setback by Amenias.

Lowly Viking Lounge threw the Met division of the Saugerties Softball League into a two-way tie for first place with an 11-10 upset triumph in the final regularly scheduled game of the circuit Saturday night.

The setback dropped Ted's into a tie with Miller's Rexall, the first in the eight-year history of the league. The teams will meet tonight at 8 o'clock for the regular season championship.

Tom Zulick was the batting champion with a .580 average. Don O'Connor drove in 19 runs and Fred Seither had a 5-0 pitching record. Barney Hoyt led in strikeouts with 43 and had a 3.03 earned run average.

Cubs Quiet After 6th Straight Loss

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Cub dressing room is quiet these days. There's no singing, shouting or telling of jokes.

The players sit in front of their lockers with empty stares on their faces. When they speak to each other, they speak in whispers.

Following Sunday's 6-4 loss to Atlanta — the sixth in a row and 11th in 14 games since July 24 when the Cubs were tied for the National League lead — the only noise in the dressing room was the eerie hissing from the steaming showers.

Over in Manager Leo Durocher's private quarters which are separated from the players area by a winding concrete walk, the action was nil.

Only a couple of weeks ago, Leo came into his office, kick off his shoes, tilt his chair against the wall and say "Okay, boys, what do you want to know?"

It's different now. Leo kicked off his shoes Sunday, said "Hello boys" to the three writers who ventured into the room and then slipped into the shower room where he began shaving.

Win, lose of draw, nobody in the world takes as long to shave as Durocher.

He was still shaving when asked "Leo, what's wrong other than the fact the club isn't getting any hitting and pitching?"

"Not a thing, you said it all," said Durocher.

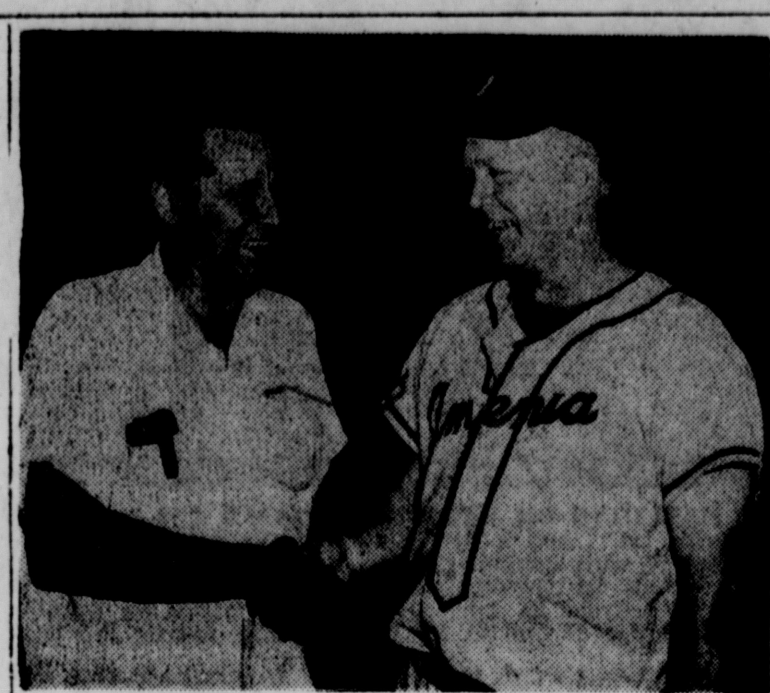

"Leo, a lot of people thought the Cubs had had it when they went into a seven-game losing streak but then they bounced right back."

"I let people think what they want," said Durocher.

"Leo, can the Cubs pull out of this? Do they need a break or some kind of unexpected come-from-behind win to get going again?"

"Hell, no," said Durocher as he started working on the upper lip. "We need a win. Any kind of win and I don't care how we do it. Just a little hitting and one lousy damned win, that's all."

The Cubs will get plenty of opportunities this week. They start with a doubleheader against Pittsburgh Monday and then don't miss a day before closing the home stand with a doubleheader against Philadelphia Sunday.

BACK HOME AGAIN: Veteran Bill Ostrom, a pitching great with the legendary Kingston Recreation, returned to Dietz Stadium Saturday night with Amenias in the Interstate League. Fred Davi of Kingston welcomes the Old Pro back to the scene of some of his greatest glories. (Staff photo by Kruh).

Ellis Manager Wants Spencer

HOUSTON (AP) — It is not known whether the winners in Saturday's Astrodome quarter-finals of the world heavyweight elimination tournament will meet later in the series, but the man who manages Jimmy Ellis says his fighter is ready for Thad Spencer.

Ellis is the Louisville fighter who reminds some of the other boxer from that town, Cassius Clay, who caused the World Boxing Association series to be set up when he refused to be drafted.

The man who trains Ellis, Angelo Dundee, predicted Saturday after Ellis finished off Leo Martin of Philadelphia on a ninth-round technical knockout that Spencer would knock out Ernie Terrell, the 8 to 5 favorite.

Spencer managed a knockdown in the second, but no knockout, winning on points. He was aided by a two-point penalty Terrell drew in the 10th for hitting low.

Dundee last visited the Dome in February, attending Clay's corner in the champion's most recent title defense, a thorough defeat of Terrell.

Johnson Captures Bowling Tourney

BROCKTON, Mass. (AP) — Don Johnson returned home to Kokoma, Ind., today with the $3,000 top prize in the Professional Bowlers' Association Brockton Open.

Johnson, who took the lead in the opening round, finished the 40-game grind Sunday with 9,622 pins, 279 pins better than second place Skee Foremsky of El Paso, Tex.

The win boosted Johnson's earnings for the year to $28,995. Final standings, scores and prize money included:

1. Marty Piraino, Syracuse, N.Y., 8,067, $1,050.
2. Nubbs McLaughlin, Rochester, N.Y., 9,008, $950.
3. Ralph Engan, Monsey, N.Y., 8,897, $700.
14. Joe Martorella, Rochester, N.Y., 8,723, $650.

Pennsy Golfer Graham Winner

SCHENECTADY — Bill Kittlemann of the famed Merion Golf Club at Ardmore, Pa. captured a one-under-par 72 and John Parsons of Auburn, posted 75-72-147 to win the pro and amateur divisions, respectively, in the first $3,500 Graham Ford Open golf tournament at Wall-halla Country Club Sunday.

Kittlemann collected the winning share of $600 by equalling par 37 on the front nine and coming in one under 35 on the second nine, to edge Ken Young of Niagara Falls by one shot.

Parsons had 75-72-147 to pace the amateur division and win maximum prize of $200 in merchandise. Fred Maurer, Jr., Schenectady, was runnerup with 74-76-150.

Top Northeastern PGA pro was Claude Young of Winding Brook, who gained a tie for fourth place with 75.

Weekend Fights

HOUSTON — Jimmy Ellis, 194½, Louisville, Ky., stopped Leo Martin, 192, Philadelphia, 9; Thad Spencer, 20½, San Francisco, outpointed Ernie Terrell, 20½, Chicago, 12.

BUENOS AIRES — Vincente Derado, 13½, Argentina, drew Carlos Canete, 13½, Argentina, 10.

Champ Gain Big Edge on Third Nine

The youth movement will have to wait at least another year to displace the Old Guard at Wiltwyck Country Club.

Leon Randall, the club's all-time great, made sure of that Sunday with a decisive 8 and 7 victory over 16-year-old Ed Byman for his 10th club championship.

Byman had to battle 19 holes to eliminate veteran George Cosenza, 1 up, in Saturday's semi-finals. Randall eliminated Frank Murray, 5 and 5.

Byman, one of the new group of young hawks at Wiltwyck, stayed with the old master through 12 holes of the 36-hole playoff then succumbed to the steady, relentless pressure exerted by the incomparable Blond Bomber.

Byman's birdie-4 on the par-five 510-yard 12th hole was the last stand for the young challenger. Randall took four of the next six holes to lead the morning round, 4 up. He carded 39-37 while Byman posted a pair of 40's for an 80.

Trouble With Woods

Tee markers were spotted at the extreme ends of the tees for the match and this factor plus a long, heavy course may have contributed to Byman's second round difficulties. In an effort to get more distance off the tees, he pushed several tee shots which got him in trouble and cost him several holes.

Byman recovered from a poor drive on the first hole of the second round (19th) with a clutch 6-foot putt for a par four to halve the hole. Byman's tee shots betrayed him on three of the next four holes which Randall swept with a birdie-4 from 3 feet on the par-5 500 yard second and a fine pitch shot and 20-foot par 3 on the 197-yard fifth hole.

Eight down at the end of 23, Byman halved the 24 with a par 4 but went 9 down on the par-5 25th where he pushed his tee shot into the area near the 9th tee and had to drop a ball. Both bogeyed the 26th in 4s and Byman salvaged the 27th with a bogey-5, as Randall needed 6 after getting treed on his approach shot.

On the par-4 28th, Randall was trapped on his approach. Randall was 5 feet short on his sand blast and missed the putt for a bogey-5. With a chance to prolong the match, Byman also missed from 3 feet and remained dormie 8.

The match ended on the par-3 second (29) when both hit the green. Randall 20 feet away and Byman 35. Each barely missed holing out but the halve closed out the match in Randall's favor 8 and 7.

Randall becomes the third area player to capture 10 or more club titles with his 10th. George Hughes of Twaalfskill holds the record with 12, one more than Bill Van Aken of Woodstock, who has won 11, nine at Woodstock and two at Wiltwyck's old nine-hole layout.

Byman, at 16, is the youngest challenger for the Wiltwyck crown since Randall won his first crown at that age. He is a sure threat for the future.

In his confrontation with Randall he succumbed to the temptation to stay with the Old Pro off the tees. He admitted as much but to the sparse crowd that followed the match he displayed fine temperament and a good old round game that will pay off in the future.

Van Aken Wins Twice In Woodstock Event

Defending champion Bill Van Aken in quest of his 10th club title has advanced to the semi-final round of the Championship Flight at Woodstock Country Club.

Van Aken played near par golf in two matches to eliminate Harry Kennedy, 5 and 4, and Walter Van Wagene, 5 and 3.

Alex Sharpe Jr. joined Van Aken in the round of four with a 2 and 1 upset of Floyd A. DeWitt and a default win over Joseph Modica. Ray DuBois, 1966 finalist against Van Aken, gained the semis by beating Lambert Dear, 6 and 5, and Drew Rubin, 4 and 3.

Dick Rydberg, a surprise semi-finalist, upended Arnold Broggi, 1 up, and Ross Van Wagene, 4 and 2.

In first round matches, Walter Van Wagene won over David Halper, 4 and 3; Modica over Alan Styles, 4 and 3; Drew Rubin over Robert Frederickson, 1 up; and Ross Van Wagene defeated Alex Sharpe, III, 5 and 4.

First Flight results:

Ed Strohsahl over George Seidler, 4 and 3; Jim Dills over Don Ferdon, 3 and 2; Don Becker over Howard Hanks, default; Don Hajec over Frank Murphy, 3 and 2; Ken Harder over Joe Forno Jr., 4 and 3; Robert Morse over Anthony Pizzarelli, 3 and 2; Jack Lee over Dr. Gordon Rubin, 5 and 3; Marty Benjamin over H. Strohsahl over Dills, 5 and 4; Hajec over Becker, 5 and 4; Harder over Morse, 2 and 1; Lee over Benjamin, 5 and 4.

Nicklaus Wins Western Open

CHICAGO (AP) — Jack Nicklaus' left ear ached and he couldn't hear out of it. When he putted, that old click was gone. Some 21,000 fans followed him but it was just half that many to him.

A doctor treated him for a fungus brought on by swimming. He plugged up Jack's ear, gave him a shot and what must be the world's greatest golfer went out and won the Western Open Sunday.

Nicklaus did it by coming in the back door. It was left open by Doug Sanders' collapse with bogeys on the last two holes.

Nicklaus, playing ahead of Doug, sat on the last green and watched him come in—a struggling, brightly garbed veteran trying desperately to lick a slump that has left him with only one tourney victory this year.

After missing the green on the 17th and taking a bogey, Sanders found the same trouble on the 18th and bogeyed to finish with a 72 for 276.

He had a chance until the last two holes. Nicklaus had three putted the 18th to close with a 69 for a 274 total, 10 under par.

Sanders said later that "I just used the wrong club."

Miller Barber, one of a trio thataced the 125-yard 12th during the tourney, and Steve Opperman of Daly City, Calif., shared third at 278.

Mrs. Davenport Reaches Final

Mrs. Richard Davenport has eliminated defending champion, Mrs. Sidney Pauker, 3 and 2, and advanced to the finals of the Wiltwyck Country Club women's Championship Flight where she meets the winner of the match between Mrs. Clifford Spiesman and Mrs. Arthur Motzkin.

Mrs. Davenport held a 5-hole lead over Mrs. Pauker at the end of 12 holes but the latter rallied to win three straight holes before Mrs. Davenport closed out the match.

In second round play, Mrs. Pauker defeated Mrs. Prescott Newell, 2 and 1; Mrs. Davenport topped Mrs. Beatrice Culum, 6 and 4; Mrs. Spiesman won over Mrs. Gerald Overbargh, 7 and 5; and Mrs. Motzkin edged Mrs. Werner Koller, 2 and 1.

Broncos Upset Lions, 13-7

DENVER (AP) — Coach Joe Schmidt didn't feel very good about John Gordy was very em-barrassed and quarterback Mill Plum was depressed.

Those feelings were expressed in the somber Detroit locker room Saturday night after the Denver Broncos become the first American Football League team ever to beat an NFL team by defeating the Lions 13-7 in an exhibition game.

There are 15 more preseason, interleague encounters, and the NFL—which long has scoffed at the strength of the AFL teams—could find itself embarrassed even further.

"I certainly can't feel very good about the game. Denver wanted it more than we did."

The defeat was particularly rough on Schmidt, a 13-year NFL veteran who was making his head coaching debut in the contest, the first between the two leagues since NFL Great Bay shipped Kansas City 35-16 in the inaugural Super Bowl last January.

None of the other Lions took it very well either.

District II, Division II of the New York State Jaycees would like a repeat performance of the Sports Spectacular it has so brilliantly conducted in Kingston the past two years.

Schenectady wants it, too. After all the Spectacular is a big baby now, an attractive sports plum any city would be proud to host.

Other groups in the state have indicated they will bid for the 1968 renewal. The decision will be made at the Aug. 18-19 meeting of the state Jaycees at an unlikely place called Three Villages in Long Island.

In the light of the two tremendous promotions in Kingston in 1966 and 1967, we find it difficult to believe the Jaycees would like to depart our beautiful Colonial city. On the other hand, it is easy to understand. After two solid stands in Kingston, the Jaycees Sports Spectacular has developed into one of the finest junior sports spectacles in New York State. That it would entice other cities was inevitable.

The 1967 performances were excellent, sometimes brilliant. Nine new track records were established and the golf field was particularly outstanding. The immortal Gene Sarazen of nearby Germantown, speaker at the awards banquet, admitted he was amazed at the golf enthusiasm the Jaycee tournament engendered.

District II, Division II includes Jaycees chapters at Coxsack, Hudson, New Paltz, Saugerties, Woodstock and Kingston. The home base is Kingston for purposes of the Sports Spectacular but in preliminary planning and actual operation of the meet the six units combined beautifully for a superior performance. Pre-Spectacular publicity arrangements and liaison with the communications media were handled in professional fashion. The tennis, golf and track meets were conducted with smooth, time clock precision. This is a remarkable group of young men who know what they want, how to get it and how to handle it once they get it.

On merit alone, District II deserves a third shot at the Sports Spectacular in 1968.

But the organization needs support, financial and otherwise to match the bids that will be thrown in the hopper at Three Villages. We urge all business and civic organizations in the area to pledge their support to the Jaycees and help bring the Spectacular back to Kingston next year.

MANY AREA ORGANIZATIONS combined to assist the Jaycees with this year's event. The list included: Kingston High, Rotron Manufacturing, Pepsi Cola, Ferroxcube, Tony's By-Pass Gulf Station, Montgomery Wards, Sears, Roebuck and Co., Hertz Systems, Tonche Transit Lines and the Jaycees of District II.

Among the individuals cited were N. Jansen Fowler and Al Miller of the Kingston Tennis Association, Wiltwyck Country Club made its splendid facilities available for three days, while Rip Van Winkle at Palenville and Twaalfskill in Kingston welcomed the golfers for practice rounds.

Already pledged to assist in the 1968 venture are The Kingston Daily Freeman, Miron Building, Hercules, Rotary and the Kingston Chamber of Commerce. More are needed and quickly.

IT TOOK MANY HANDS TO PUT the 1967 Spectacular together and make it click in the wonderful fashion it did. Chiefly responsible was a hard core of dedicated, enthusiastic young executives who did the job well and despite the tremendous drain on their time and energy are willing to do it all over again.

George Leombruno of Saugerties co-ordinated the event as general chairman. His co-chairman was Ray Lauterbach of Woodstock, who dreamed the Spectacular dream several years ago and saw it come true. Local sports chairmen included: John Lawrence of Saugerties in track; Ted Behm, Woodstock, golf; Jack Baer, Kingston, tennis. Paul Delisio of Woodstock was also deeply involved in the promotion. These are some of the top names but, as we said before, it took a lot of hands to put it over.

We enthusiastically endorse District II's bid for the 1968 Jaycees Sports Spectacular. We hope the delegates assembled on Aug. 18-19 at Three Villages, L. I. second the motion.

Rodriguez Wallops HR For Losers

National All-Stars of Albany erupted for five runs in the fifth inning to beat Highland, 6-3, Saturday and win the Section Two Little League tournament at the American League diamond in the Capital City.

The victory advances the winners to one of the four berths in the state tournament which begins Thursday in Corning. National captured the state title last year and was third in the Eastern Regionals.

Despite the setback, Carlos Rodriguez of the Highlanders slugged his third home run of the two-day tourney and his ninth during all-star play. It was a prodigious clout over the left field fence and it gave the District 16 champions a 1-0 lead in the first inning.

The winners evened the count in the third as Tom McGinn singled, was sacrificed to second and scored on an error.

Five Run Inning

Rodriguez and Bob Stanhan of Albany hooked up in a duel until the fifth when the up-staters scored their five runs.

They loaded the bases with none out on a walk, hit batter and a single. A dropped fly ball scored the first run and Rodriguez walked Rick Alfred for another score. A fielders choice and McGinn's double completed the scoring.

Highland came back and had Stanhan gasping in the last of the fifth. He walked Carl Relyea to begin the inning and Tim Panek doubled. After Rodriguez was intentionally walked to load the bases, Gary Van Kleeck singled for one run and Panek scored as he escaped from a rundown.

In the sixth inning, Relyea, Panek and Rodriguez singled in succession to load the bases with one out. Dennis Bragg forced Relyea at the plate and VanKleeck hit one on the nose but right at the shortstop to end the inning and the game.

Crockett Injured, Is Lost for Season

Bills' Coach Joe Collier made the announcement Sunday after Crockett, a sophomore pro from Arkansas, underwent surgery at Mercy Hospital here.

Crockett, 24, was injured during the second quarter of the game, won by the Dolphins, 10-7. After joining the Bills' starting line-up in the third game of the 1966 season, he caught 31 passes for 533 yards and three touchdowns. He was beaten out for the first string this year by veteran Art Powell.

In another announcement, Collier said veteran fullback Jack Spikes had changed his mind about retiring and would rejoin the Bills late this week. Last month, Spikes, 29, said he was planning to devote full time to his brokerage business in Dallas, Tex.

Sizzling Cards Widen NL Lead To Nine Lengths

By RON RAPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

The year of the streak in the National League is continuing along and about all the opponents of the St. Louis Cardinals have to console themselves with is a bit of ancient history.

The Cards won their fifth in a row Sunday, edging Cincinnati 3-2, while the Chicago Cubs lost their sixth straight, 6-4 to Atlanta, and fell into third place nine games off the pace.

The Cardinals should beware, however. It was almost exactly 10 years ago today that they started a nine-game losing streak while the Milwaukee Braves—remember them?—won the first 10 in a row and went on to the pennant.

In other National League games Sunday, San Francisco swept two from New York 9-7 in 10 innings and 4-1, Philadelphia beat Houston 8-4 and Los Angeles edged Pittsburgh 5-4.

If the Cards are to start losing games instead of winning them, they'll have to play an entirely different brand of baseball. Not only are they hitting the ball quite nicely—Orlando Cepeda hit his 20th homer Sunday—but also they are taking care of each other.

Nelson Briles was breezing along on a shutout until the sixth, for instance, when all of a sudden his curve ball straightened out and the Reds got two runs.

Willis Is Saver

But Ron Willis came in and took care of things and not another run scored. In his last 12 appearances, Willis hasn't given up a run.

The Cubs, on the other hand, can't seem to do anything right lately.

"We need a win," moaned Manager Leo Durocher. "Any kind of win and I don't care how we do it. Just a little hitting and one lousy damned win."

Joe Torre's two-run homer went a long way toward denying the Cubs that one win Sunday. Adolfo Phillips hit one out for the Cubs.

The Giants moved into second place on the strength of their two victories over the Mets. Ty Cline drove in the deciding run in the 10th and Willie McCovey's three-run homer in the eighth won the nightcap.

Bill White clubbed a three-run homer, highlighting a five-run Phillies' rally in the eighth inning. It was the sixth win in a row for the Phillies. Ron Davis and pitcher Dave Giusti homered for the Astros.

Len Gabrielson had three hits and Ron Hunt drove in two runs for the Dodgers, who ended a five-game losing streak. Bob Miller got the Pirates out with men on first and third in the eighth by getting Donn Clendenon to hit into a double play.

Nationals Win St. Mary's Tilt

National All-Stars nipped the American Stars, 1-0, in a St. Mary's Pee Wee League contest.

A hit batter, Pete Lyle's single and an error gave the winners the game's only run in the fifth.

Lyle pitched a three-hitter and fanned 10. Loser Mark Berardi and Pete Gallagher were touched for five hits.

Line score:
American 000 000 0-0 3
National 000 010 x-1 5
Pete Gallagher, Mark Berardi (L) and Gabby Kiernan, Robbie Bruck; Pete Lyle (W) and Nick Longendyke.

Chance Perfect For 5 Innings; Twins Now 2nd

By HAL BOCK

Associated Press Sports Writer

Fun-loving Dean Chance didn't let a little rain spoil his day.

In fact Chance was grateful for the precipitation that ended his mini-perfect game against Boston in the fifth inning Sunday.

The Minnesota right-hander had mowed down the first 15 batters he faced and was leading 2-0 after 4½ innings when the rain came. After a 57-minute wait, the game was called and Chance had a somewhat abbreviated no-hitter.

"Believe me boys," Chance said later, "I'm glad it rained. How do I know what would have happened if the game had continued. I could have gone back out and thrown, but they might have got 10 runs off me."

The victory was Minnesota's third straight over Boston and moved the Twins into second place in the American League, 2½ games back of the Chicago White Sox, who lost a doubleheader to Baltimore 5-2 and 4-0.

In other games, Washington dropped California 7-2, New York topped Kansas City 9-6 and Detroit split a doubleheader with Cleveland, winning 7-3 and losing 6-3.

Won't Make Books

Chance's game probably won't make it into the record books. He gets credit for a complete game but baseball records list perfect games and no-hitters only of nine innings or longer.

That's okay with Chance though. "It's just nice to win," he says. "I don't even think no-hitters anymore. I like to pitch shutouts but there's too much luck involved in pitching a no-hitter to worry about it. I just want to win."

So, he won. It was his fifth shutout of the season and his 14th victory. He leads the league with 190 innings pitched and 26 starts.

The Twins scored both their runs against loser Jim Lonborg, 15-5, in the fourth inning when Cesare Tovar walked and Harmon Killebrew singled. Bob Allison's double scored one run and Rich Rollins' single produced the other.

The White Sox were victimized by Russ Snyder's three-run pinch homer in the first game and Tom Phoebus' six-hit shutout in the nightcap.

Turck Captures Beaten Eight

Charles J. (Jimmy) Turck defeated Robert Merritt, 2 up, to capture Beaten Eight honors in the Championship Flight at Wiltwyck Country Club.

Turck won on forfeit from Harvey Bostic, then turned back Frank Weller, 3 and 2 to gain the finals against Merritt, who beat Robert H. Daley, 2 up, and won a default from Bill Kaufman.

Other results:
Kaufman defeated Sam Spiegel, 3 and 2; Weller over Tom Stenson, 3 and 2.

Nancy Kolln Winner In Shaker Tourney

Nancy Kolln of Wiltwyck Country Club won low gross honors with a 53 in the B Division (9 holes) of the Northeastern Women's Golf Association's Junior Girls tournament at Shaker Ridge CC in Albany.

Nancy Mills, also of Wiltwyck, took first low net in Class B with 56-16-40 on a matching of cards with Wendy Cohen of Shaker Ridge, who had had the identical score of 56-16-40.

Pat Gerberg of Wiltwyck was in a three-way tie for low net with 65-19-46.

Peggy Farny of Normanside led Class A gross with 82 and Ann Sadowskin Mechanville, topped A nets with 87-14-73.

A report on the annual clam-bake will be made and members are urged by chairman William Scott to make reservations by Wednesday, Aug. 16. The bake is scheduled Sunday, Aug. 16 and ticket sales indicate an early sellout.

Brown's Problems Produced By 1967's Long Hot Summer

By MURRAY OLDERMAN
(NEA Sports Editor)

NEW YORK (NEA) — The five-man boycott of the Cleveland Browns has a racial motivation, pure and simple.

It was a purposeful circumstance that John Wooten, Leroy Kelly, Mike Howell, John Brown and Sidney Williams — the men who sought redress for personal grievances against the Browns' management — banded together. They are all Negroes and active in the Negro Industrial and Economic Union. Wooten is the president.

Jimmy Brown, the retired fullback, has been the organizing and directing force for the NIEU, and it was perfectly logical that he'd issue a statement from Hollywood outlining the individual arguments of the men concerned.

"All of the facts in his statement," said Arto Modell, president of the Browns (and also of the National Football League) "are inaccurate."

With that incisive comment, Modell demurred from being drawn into further debate with his ex-star, and I might add, ex-friend.

"I refuse once again," said Modell, "to fall prey to Hollywood baloney." There remains a tinge of bitterness from Brown's retirement a year ago this summer — not so much the fact that Jimmy quit, because that was his prerogative, but how the rumors and then the actual announcement were nursed to exploit Brown's new career as an actor.

In the five-man boycott, Art is caught in the prejudicial position of being both the players' boss and the league president. The action of the players in banding together has explosive implications beyond the desire of a bunch of guys to get a better deal for themselves. If they remain adamant, it's difficult to see how the league or the commissioner can stay out of the debate.

First, professional football now inherits the issue of collective bargaining, first proposed by Sandy Koufax and Don Drysdale when they formed an entente to get better contracts from the Los Angeles Dodgers.

"I don't think it was inspired by the Koufax-Drysdale thing," Modell argued. "There's only one man of outstanding potential in this group, and that is Leroy Kelly. But I'll tell you its effect."

"It's horrendous for all sports."

In Ninth Season
Wooten, entering his ninth season of pro football, is already under contract to Cleveland. He's in the second year of a two-year pact. He used the five-man play as a wedge to reopen negotiations on his salary. In giving the 30-year-old veteran a two-year contract initially, the Browns gambled as much as he did.

Williams, a linebacker, wanted assurance he'd get a chance to start half the exhibition games.

"That," fumed Modell, "is like Koufax having it written in his contract that he has to start every fourth day."

No one enlisted Dale Lindsey, a young linebacker who deserves the opportunity to play as much as Williams.

Highest Paid Group
Over all the wrangling hangs the delicate insinuation that the Negro players have to hang together to make sure they get adequate compensation for their talents. "Historically," scoffed Modell, "they have been the highest paid group of football players, dating back to Jimmy Brown."

In meeting the threat head-on, he laid down four points before he'd even entertain discussions: (1): Wooten's contract wouldn't be discussed; (2): any discussion on Williams was to be fiscal — coaches alone determine when and where he plays; (3) each player would be dealt with individually and report to the camp the same way after a contract was agreed to—they were already losing money at the rate of $100 a day for every day absent; (4) there would be no discussion at all about the demand that if one man was traded, all wanted to be traded.

Was Modell being arbitrary in laying down the ground rules? "These aren't my rules," he said from the Browns' training camp in Hiram, Ohio. "There are 50 men here and a whole league elsewhere who adhere to them."

But in this unrefined summer of 1967, living by the rules hasn't been in vogue.

Crockett Injured, Is Lost for Season

Bills' Coach Joe Collier made the announcement Sunday after Crockett, a sophomore pro from Arkansas, underwent surgery at Mercy Hospital here.

Crockett, 24, was injured during the second quarter of the game, won by the Dolphins, 10-7. After joining the Bills' starting line-up in the third game of the 1966 season, he caught 31 passes for 533 yards and three touchdowns. He was beaten out for the first string this year by veteran Art Powell.

In another announcement, Collier said veteran fullback Jack Spikes had changed his mind about retiring and would rejoin the Bills late this week. Spikes, 29, said he was planning to devote full time to his brokerage business in Dallas, Tex.

Sizzling Cards Widen NL Lead To Nine Lengths

By RON RAPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer
The year of the streak in the National League is continuing along and about all the opponents of the St. Louis Cardinals have to console themselves with is a bit of ancient history.

The Cards won their fifth in a row Sunday, edging Cincinnati 3-2, while the Chicago Cubs lost their sixth straight, 6-4 to Atlanta, and fell into third place nine games off the pace.

The Cardinals should beware, however. It was almost exactly 10 years ago today that they started a nine-game losing streak while the Milwaukee Braves—remember them?—won the first of 10 in a row and went on to the pennant.

In other National League games Sunday, San Francisco swept two from New York 9-7 in 10 innings and 4-1, Philadelphia beat Houston 8-4 and Los Angeles edged Pittsburgh 5-4.

If the Cards are to start losing games instead of winning them, they'll have to play an entirely different brand of baseball. Not only are they hitting the ball quite nicely—Orlando Cepeda hit his 20th homer Sunday—but also they are taking care of each other.

Nelson Briles was breezing along on a shutout until the sixth, for instance, when all of a sudden his curve ball straightened out and the Reds got two runs.

Willis Is Saver
But Ron Willis came in and took care of things and not an other run scored. In his last 12 appearances, Willis hasn't given up a run.

The Cubs, on the other hand, can't seem to do anything right lately.

"We need a win," moaned Manager Leo Durocher. "Any kind of win and I don't care how we do it. Just a little hitting and one lousy damned win."

Joe Torre's two-run homer went a long way toward denying the Cubs that one win Sunday. Adolfo Phillips hit one out for the Cubs.

The Giants moved into second place on the strength of their two victories over the Mets. Ty Cline drove in the deciding run in the opener with a single in the 10th and Willie McCovey's three-run homer in the eighth won the nightcap.

Bill White clubbed a three-run homer, highlighting a five-run Phillies' rally in the eighth inning. It was the sixth win in a row for the Phillies. Ron Davis and pitcher Dave Giusti homered for the Astros.

Leo Gabrielson had three hits and Ron Hunt drove in two runs for the Dodgers, who ended a five-game loss streak. Bob Miller got the Pirates out with men on first and third in the eighth by getting Donn Clendenon to hit into a double play.

Nationals Win St. Mary's Tilt
National All-Stars nipped the American Stars, 1-0, in a St. Mary's Pee Wee League contest.

A hit batter, Pete Lyle's single and an error gave the winners the game's only run in the fifth.

Lyle pitched a three-hitter and fanned 10. Loser Mark Berardi and Pete Gallagher were touched for five hits.

Line score:
American 000 000 0-0 3
National 000 010 1-1 5
Pete Gallagher, Mark Berardi (L) and Gabby Kiernan, Robbie Bruck; Pete Lyle (W) and Nick Longendyke.

Chance Perfect For 5 Innings; Twins Now 2nd

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Fun-loving Dean Chance didn't let a little rain spoil his day.

In fact Chance was grateful for the precipitation that ended his mini-perfect game against Boston in the fifth inning Sunday.

The Minnesota right-hander had mowed down the first 15 batters he faced and was leading 2-0 after 4½ innings when the rain came. After a 57-minute wait, the game was called and Chance had a somewhat abbreviated no-hitter.

"Believe me boys," Chance said later, "I'm glad it rained. How do I know what would have happened if the game had continued. I could have gone back out and thrown, but they might have got 10 runs off me."

The victory was Minnesota's third straight over Boston and moved the Twins into second place in the American League, 2½ games back of the Chicago White Sox, who lost a doubleheader to Baltimore 5-2 and 4-0.

In other games, Washington dropped California 7-2, New York topped Kansas City 9-6 and Detroit split a doubleheader with Cleveland, winning 7-3 and losing 6-3.

Won't Make Books
Chance's game probably won't make it into the record books. He gets credit for a complete game but baseball records list perfect games and no-hitters only of nine innings or longer.

That's okay with Chance though. "It's just nice to win," he says. "I don't even think no-hitters anymore. I like to pitch shutouts but there's too much luck involved in pitching a no-hitter to worry about it. I just want to win."

So, he won. It was his fifth shutout of the season and his 14th victory. He leads the league with 190 innings pitched and 26 starts.

The Twins scored both their runs against loser Jim Lonborg, 15-5, in the fourth inning when Cesare Tovar walked and Harmon Killebrew singled. Bob Allison's double scored one run and Rich Rollins' single produced the other.

The White Sox were victimized by Russ Snyder's three-run pinch homer in the first game and Don Phoebe's six-hit shutout in the nightcap.

Turck Captures Beaten Eight

Charles J. (Jimmy) Turck defeated Robert Merritt, 2 up, to capture Beaten Eight honors in the Championship Flight at Wiltwyck Country Club.

Turck won on forfeit from Harvey Bostic, then turned back Frank Weller, 3 and 2 to gain the finals against Merritt, who beat Robert H. Daley, 2 up, and won a default from Bill Kaufman.

Other results: Kaufman defeated Sam Spiegel, 3 and 2; Weller over Tom Stenson, 3 and 2.

Nancy Koln Winner In Shaker Tourney

Nancy Koln of Wiltwyck Country Club won low gross honors with a 53 in the B Division (9 holes) of the Northeastern Women's Golf Association's Junior Girls tournament at Shaker Ridge CC in Albany.

Nancy Mills, also of Wiltwyck, took first low net in Class B with 56-16-40 on a matching of cards with Wendy Cohen of Shaker Ridge, who had had the identical score of 56-16-40.

Pat Gerberg of Wiltwyck was in a three-way tie for low net with 65-19-46.

Peggy Farny of Normanside led Class A gross with 82 and Ann Sadowskin Mechanicville, topped A nets with 87-14-73.

Brown's Problems Produced By 1967's Long Hot Summer

By MURRAY OLDERMAN
(NEA Sports Editor)

NEW YORK (NEA) — the five-man boycott of the Cleveland Browns has a racial motivation, pure and simple.

It was a purposeful circumstance that John Wooten, Leroy Kelly, Mike Howell, John Brown and Sidney Williams — the men who sought redress for personal grievances against the Browns' management — banded together. They are all Negroes and active in the Negro Industrial and Economic Union. Wooten is the president.

Jimmy Brown, the retired fullback, has been the organizing and directing force for the NIEL, and it was perfectly logical that he'd issue a statement on Hollywood outlining the individual arguments of the men concerned.

"All of the facts in his statement," said Arto Modell, president of the Browns (and also of the National Football League) "are inaccurate." With that incisive comment Modell demurred from being drawn into further debate with his ex-star, and I might add, ex-friend.

"I refuse once again," said Modell, "to fall prey to Hollywood ballyhoo." There remains a tinge of bitterness from Brown's retirement a year ago this summer — not so much the fact that Jimmy quit, because that was his prerogative, but how the rumors and then the actual announcement were nursed to exploit Brown's new career as an actor.

In the five-man boycott, Art is caught in the prejudicial position of being both the players' boss and the league president. The action of the players in banding together has explosive implications beyond the desire of a bunch of guys to get a better deal for themselves. If they remain adamant, it's difficult to see how the league or the commissioner can stay out of the debate.

First, professional football now inherits the issue of collective bargaining first proposed by Sandy Koufax and Don Drysdale when they formed an entente to get better contracts from the Los Angeles Dodgers.

"I don't think it was inspired by the Koufax-Dry-dale thing," Modell argued. "There's only one man of outstanding potential in this group, and that is Leroy Kelly. But I'll tell you its effect."

In Ninth Season
Wooten, entering his ninth season of pro football, is already under contract to Cleveland. He's in the second year of a two-year pact. He used the five-man play as a wedge to reopen negotiations on his salary. In giving the 30-year-old veteran a two-year contract initially, the Browns gambled as much as he did.

Williams, a linebacker, wanted assurance he'd get a chance to start half the exhibition games.

"That," fumed Modell, "is like Koufax having it written in his contract that he has to start every fourth day." No one enlisted Dale Lindsey, a young linebacker who deserves the opportunity to play as much as Williams.

Highest Paid Group
Over all the wrangling hangs the delicate insinuation that the Negro players have to hang together to make sure they get adequate compensation for their talents. "Historically," scoffed Modell, "they have been the highest paid group of football players, dating back to Jimmy Brown."

In meeting the threat head-on, he laid down four points before he'd even entertain discussions: (1) Wooten's contract wouldn't be discussed; (2) any discussion on Williams was to be fiscal — coaches alone determine when and where he plays; (3) each player would be dealt with individually and report to the camp the same way after a contract was agreed to — they were already losing money at the rate of $100 a day for every day absent; (4) there would be no discussion at all about the demand that if one man was traded, all wanted to be traded.

Was Modell being arbitrary in laying down the ground rules?

"These aren't my rules," he said from the Browns' training camp in Hiram, Ohio. "There are 50 men here and a whole league elsewhere who adhere to them."

But in this unrefined summer of 1967, living by the rules hasn't been in vogue.

Schovel Tree Wins Pair. Captures City League Lead

Van Etten, Buytkins Top Herzog's

(Standings)

Schovel Tree moved into first place in the sizzling City Baseball League race with 6-3 and 7-1 wins in a doubleheader Sunday at Dietz Stadium.

Gary VanEtten and Paul Buytkins did the job for winners, who moved a half game in front of the Lions Club and a game and a half in front of the All-Stars. The defending champions from Herzog's are now entrenched in the cellar with eight losses in 10 games.

Buytkins, who played third base in the second game, made his first mound appearance of the season in the opener and hurled a three-hitter. The winners tagged Joel Helmich for 10 safeties with George Druttman collecting a double.

Beat Cappilino

In the nightcap, VanEtten spaced seven hits and had the defending champions white-washed until the fifth. Buytkins tagged loser Greg Cappilino for a triple and single and Paul Gianuzzi had a double and single.

The All-Stars hope to stay in the pennant picture when they meet Elmer's Inn tonight. Elmer's is also slated to play on Tuesday against Herzog's. On Sunday, the All-Stars will duel Elmer's in a doubleheader.

Hutcherson Wins Dixie Feature

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Dick Hutcherson, leading the Dixie 500 for the last 35 to 40 laps, found the seat of his 1967 Ford Fairlane a pretty uneasy chair.

"I just knew something was going to happen," he said, "and I sat there praying that nothing would."

Nothing did. He crossed the finish line still in front Sunday to win his first super-speedway race since he joined the NASCAR ranks two years ago after several years on dirt tracks.

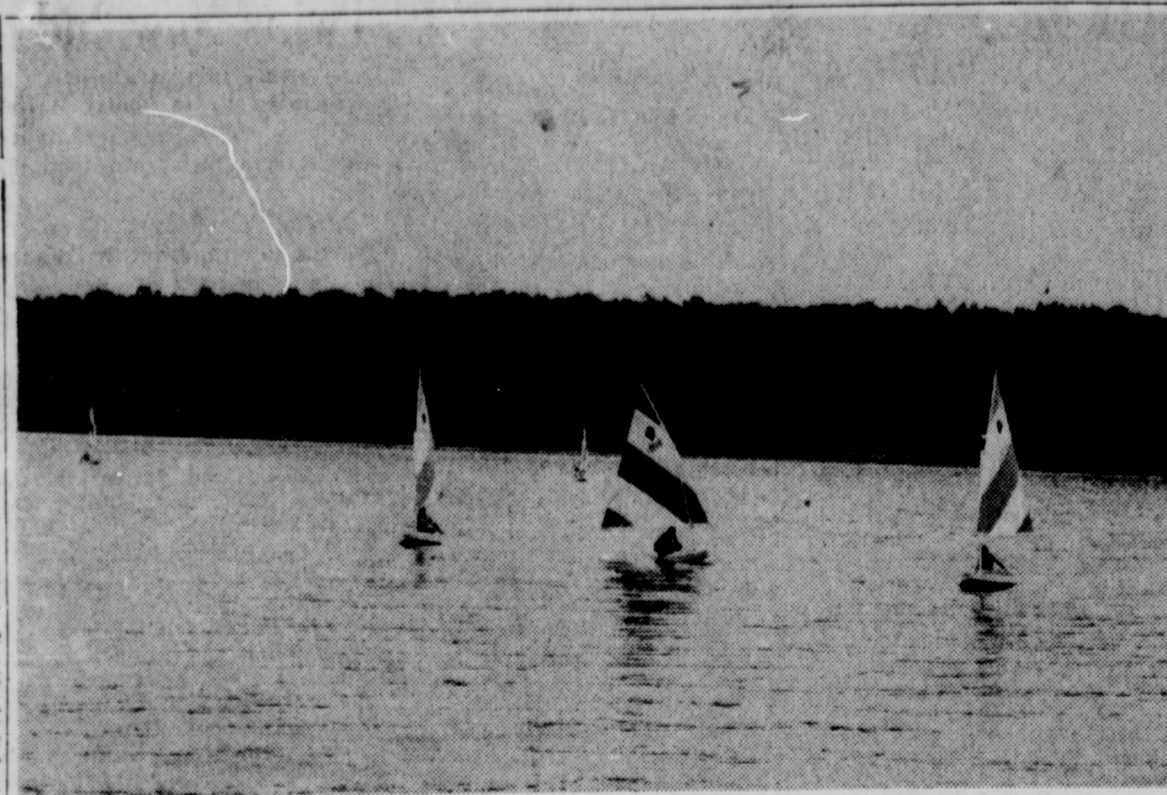

The 36-year-old Hutcherson, from Camden, S. C. said he played a waiting game with some of stock car racing's best before minor collisions and mechanical troubles eliminated

Then one by one

"They don't pay the money until the checkered flag comes down," said Hutcherson who averaged 132.2748 miles per hour and picked up $16,505.

Hutcherson said he figured it was time to abandon his waiting game when he gained the lead after 258 laps of the 334-lap race at the 1½-mile Atlanta International Raceway.

He went into first place while defending champion Richard Petty was making three pit stops under a caution flag, trying to remedy a leaky radiator.

Win Valley Tournament

'Best Kickers Team' Beats Shamrocks, 3-2

The best team ever fielded by Kingston Sport Club defeated the crack Shamrocks of New York, 3 to 2, Sunday to capture the Mid-Hudson Valley Soccer Tournament.

Another superlative to the tremendous afternoon of soccer: one of the largest crowds ever to see a game at Oehler's Mountain Lodge agreed with seasoned observers that this was probably the best exhibition of soccer ever played at the resort lodge.

Kingston's supercharged Kickers won the fast paced contest on All-America Gene Ventriglia's goal at the 81-minute mark. Four minutes from the end, Brian Ladyman scored his second goal for the Major League team of the German-American Soccer Association.

Schwebel Stars

Veteran Reiner Schwebel, one of the Kickers' all-time greats, scored two of the three Kingston goals, the first at 31 minutes with a header after an assist from Al Miller and again at the 64-minute mark to put the Kickers ahead, 2-0. Tony Reinhart furnished an assist for the header and free kick.

Ladyman's first goal at the 75-minute mark closed the gap to 2-1, before Ventriglia cracked through at 81 minutes on a rebound of Obbie Elliott's header from the post.

Manager Bob Graves explained the brilliant Kingston succinctly:

Nags Running From Damascus And the Travers

The way things are going Damascus may have a walk-over in the Travers stakes at Saratoga a week from Saturday.

Only a week ago the Travers had shaped up as one of the most exciting races of the year with Damascus, the Preakness and Belmont Stakes winner, seeking to even the score with Dr. Fager who passed up the Triple Crown events after beating Damascus in the Gotham Mile at Aqueduct.

Since then Dr. Fager has been declared out of the Travers after running a temperature and Damascus' easy victory in the $120,000 American Derby at Arlington Park last Saturday probably scared away other eligibles for the Aug. 19 stake at Saratoga.

Damascus, ridden as usual by Willie Shoemaker, romped home by seven lengths in the American Derby and set a track record for the 1½ miles of 1:46 4-5. In Reality finished second with Favorable Turn third and Barbs Delight, who finished ahead of Damascus in the Kentucky Derby, fourth.

Subject made a strong stretch run and beat the favored What A Pleasure in the $120,705 Sampling Stakes for 2-year-olds at Monmouth Park last Saturday before a getaway crowd of 42,264. Stupendous scored by a neck over Ring Twice in the Whitney Stakes at Saratoga.

Local Nine Fails to Hit In Key Spots

Failure to come up with a key hit was the undoing of Kingston Post 150 Saturday in Albany's Blecker Stadium as Green Island of Albany nipped the locals, 2-0, in a Legion Jr. game.

The setback knocked the Kingston nine out of the state playoffs.

The winners tallied in the second inning on a cheap home run and they clinched the decision with a sixth frame marker off Charlie Jones.

In the second, right fielder Tom Farley rapped a routine single over second and into center. The ball struck a board on the track surrounding the stadium and it rolled to left center field. By the time it was retrieved, Farley had circled the bases for a home run.

Second baseman Van Carnivel singled in the sixth and proceeded to steal second. A hit by Tom Murley scored Carnivel with the insurance run.

Kingston touched winner Jack LeMay for seven hits, including three by third baseman Pete Watzka. He also walked three batters. But, the losers couldn't dent home plate.

James allowed only six hits and three walks but that second inning home run was enough to beat him.

120 Gold Medals For Uncle Sam In Pan Am Games

WINNIPEG (AP) — The fifth Pan-American Games, which many skeptics figured would never get off the ground in Winnipeg, has ended a highly successful 15-day run for the United States and Canada.

Uncle Sam's powerful squad romped off with a record-tying 120 gold medals and still caused an upset on the playing field by winning the baseball title for the first time.

Winnipeg and Canada earned accolades for staging a beautifully organized program, thanks largely to the community efforts of thousands of youngsters and adults in this city of 500,000.

The United States, in tying the gold record of 120 set by it in 1959 in Chicago, swept 28 of the 33 golds in swimming and diving, 30 of 35 in track and field, all eight in wrestling, 11 of 12 in shooting, six of seven in rowing, 10 of 14 in gymnastics, five of seven in weight-lifting and swept the team titles in men and women's volleyball, water polo and men's basketball.

Brazil won the women's basketball crown from the defending United States and Mexico captured the soccer title.

In the baseball windup Saturday night, America defeated Cuba 2-1 for a 2-of-3 victory after losing two games to Cuba in the preliminary round. In basketball, the Yanks trounced Mexico's smaller men 93-74.

In all the United States had a total of 227 medals, 120 gold, 65 silver and 42 gold. Canada was second in both golds and totals with 123-74-82. Then came Argentina 9-14-11, Cuba 8-14-23, and Mexico 5-14-24.

Columbia, whose city of Cali will host the 1971 Games, had one gold, two silvers and five bronzes.

Predict One Soccer League Next Season

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — There'll be only one pro soccer league operating in the United States next year, foresees Commissioner Ken Macker of the National Professional Soccer League.

He also predicts more American team rosters than at present and a switch to night televised games in the middle of the week.

Macker told newsmen here Sunday that both the NPSL and the United Soccer Association have too much at stake to continue separately. He said he expects a merger agreement within the next few months, despite the big difficulty of six cities with two teams each.

Ellenville Police Probe 3 Burglaries

Three burglaries, two involving office safes, were reported to Ellenville Village Police this morning by the proprietors of two garages and a service station. Investigation of the three overnight break-ins is in charge of Chief Abe Rand.

According to Patrolman Robert Mance, burglars climbed through a small window on the south side of Van's Garage, 112 South Main Street and entered the building.

Mance said Ray Black's Garage, 53 Canal Street, was entered after a door on the east side of the building was forced. An unsuccessful attempt was made to open the safe. Police said apparently nothing of value was missing.

Johnny's Super Service Station at Main and Center Streets was entered through a door on the east side of the building. Police were told that six tires valued at $42.30 each were stolen by the thieves.

LEGAL NOTICES

There will be a Public Hearing of the Zoning Board of Appeals, of the City of Kingston, Tuesday, August 8, 1967 at 7:30 P. M., City Hall, Kingston, New York, to establish as the calendar for the Board that evening, the following matters:

Queens Rally Hears Call for Revolution

NEW YORK (AP) — While African-robed youths waved palm fronds, and a machete-carrying Mau Mau guard stood by, Black Power advocate H. Rap Brown called on Negroes to arm themselves against a "hunky (white) conspiracy of genocide."

Brown, chairman of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, told an audience at a rally Sunday:

"Stop buying all those big cars this year. When you get money give it to the brothers who are going to fight and let them get some stuff."

Brown did not explain what "stuff" was, but his speech drew a stomping, cheering ovation from about 700 Negroes who had earlier ordered white reporters to leave a ballroom with the cry "We want black reporters only."

Brown said the "rebellions" in Detroit, Newark and Plainfield, N. J. were the forerunners of "revolution." The white man hasn't been reading his own Bible, which says after the rainbow sign there's a fire next time."

The rally in St. Albans, Queens, a generally middle class Negro neighborhood, was called to support 17 Negroes charged with plotting the murder of moderate civil rights leaders.

Brown called President Lyndon B. Johnson "Lynching Johnson" and said he was the "greatest outlaw in history."

He said the current investigation in Washington of recent race riots is "an antiblack rally called by Johnson and headed by a criminal named Eastland."

Leroi Jones, the Negro playwright, dressed in orange robes, said "don't be where they think we are. Keep your women in the house and don't be out there stealing whisky. Get something to protect yourself. If you don't have enough warriors in your town—if your town is bogged down with the NAACP—go to the jail where there are warriors."

Mrs. Ethel V. Palen and Miss Ethel S. Martin of Kingston called on Mrs. Fred S. Osterhout and Miss Sara E. Osterhout Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Rose and family attended a birthday party for Mrs. Rose's mother, Mrs. Hazel Petersen at Delhi Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Bogert were in Syracuse Sunday.

The Rev. and Mrs. John Needham and children, Danny and Joyce have returned home from a vacation trip to South Plainfield, N. J., where they visited relatives.

Vacation Bible School of The Plattkill Reformed Church, Mt. Marion will be held Aug. 14-18 at 9:30 a. m.—noon in the church. Grades are preschool (3) through 6 grade.

Vernon Felton visited friends in Connecticut over the weekend.

Mrs. Fred Whitaker visited relatives in Ruby Tuesday afternoon.

Gregory and Gary Myers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Myers, South Road are visiting their aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Embert Marolf at Carthage.

Ladies of The Plattkill Reformed Church met Wednesday night in the church hall to complete plans for the roast beef dinner and bazaar to be held Sunday, Aug. 19 on the church grounds. The bazaar will open at 2:30 p. m. and dinner will be served at 4:30 p. m. and continue until all are served.

Farmers' Unit Blasts Bureau at Hearings

OMAHA, Neb. (AP)—Members of a Nebraska farmers organization said Saturday the American Farm Bureau Federation is an interlocking business organization operated for the benefit of those "other than farmers."

The testimony came in a hearing conducted by Rep. Joseph Y. Resnick, D-N.Y., who is investigating the tax-exempt status of the Farm Bureau.

Mrs. Frances Olmstead, a spokesman for the Webster County, Neb. farmers organization that was expelled from the Nebraska Farm Bureau Federation in 1964, declared that the farm bureau is part of an "interlocking of right-wing groups whose goal appears to be the overthrow of the American form of government."

The one-day Omaha hearing followed a similar hearing in Chicago in which witnesses testified that many persons joined the state farm bureau to obtain cheap insurance.

Mrs. Olmstead said that "insurance is only one small arm of a giant organization that is like an octopus." She alleged that farm bureau membership is based on insurance sales rather than service to members, that it is seldom operated for the farmers, that opponents of its policies are "silenced" or "neutralized by various means, and that many of its members are not farmers."

Resnick said it appears that the farm bureau is taking advantage of its tax-exempt status, posing as a farm organization but using its position "to build a tremendous business empire."

"This area of political thought or thought control by a tax-exempt organization using tax-exempt dues to propagate its political views is definitely against the law," he said.

Parker said, referring to Svetlana Alluyeva, the daughter of Stalin, "I always had to raise the issue. But as soon as I did, I got an outpouring of opinions."

"With some probing, I discovered most of them think she's simply crazy," Parker said. Educated Russians with whom he spoke were "sympathetic and understanding," Parker said, although they disagreed with her decision to go to America.

He said Vietnam and the Middle East always arose quickly in his talks.

"I found nobody who agreed with our basic foreign policy," Parker said. "Every one of them said we should get out of Vietnam, and they all condemned Israel as an aggressor."

Parker said he had hoped to find opinions that "differed widely from the official line on important issues."

"It was disappointing but revealing that few of them deviated," he said.

Drowned at Camp WATERBORO, Me. (AP)—An 8-year-old boy from Lima, N.Y., 18 miles south of Rochester, was drowned Sunday at his parents' camp on Little Ossipee Me. police said.

He was Peter S. Gilmore. The family had arrived at the camp Saturday.

Jet Deerslayer PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP)—A deer was killed Sunday when it ran in front of a jet airliner landing at Greater Pittsburgh Airport. The plane, flight 69 from New York, landed safely, though it had to have a hydraulic line replaced in its landing gear.

Clark in Hospital BANGKOK (AP)—U.S. Supreme Court Justice Tom Clark has been admitted to a U.S. Army hospital in Bangkok with an intestinal disorder.

The 68-year-old jurist, who is retiring from the Supreme Court, came to Bangkok after a visit to Australia.

Horse Killed SOUTH PLAINFIELD, N. J. (AP)—A horse touched off a five-car accident in which it was fatally injured early today.

Police said the horse, a gelding owned by Roger Young of South Plainfield, apparently wandered onto Route 287 after getting out of its corral about a quarter of a mile away.

The animal was knocked down and probably killed when a car driven by Edward Haluska of Metuchen, N. J., slammed into it, police said.

One hundred calories gives a man enough energy to climb a hill 1,640 feet high.

Russians Think Svetlana Is 'Simply Crazy'

MOSCOW (AP) — Talks with 40 Soviet citizens has produced opinion that Stalin's daughter is "simply crazy," a U.S. tourist said Sunday.

William Parker, a radio technician from Hannibal, N.Y., near Oswego, said he interviewed the citizens during a three-week tour through the center of European Russia, down the Volga and Don Rivers, to Kiev, Leningrad and Kharkov.

"The curious thing was that these people never once brought up the subject of Svetlana," Parker said, referring to Svetlana Alluyeva, the daughter of Stalin. "I always had to raise the issue. But as soon as I did, I got an outpouring of opinions."

"With some probing, I discovered most of them think she's simply crazy," Parker said. Educated Russians with whom he spoke were "sympathetic and understanding," Parker said, although they disagreed with her decision to go to America.

Horse Killed SOUTH PLAINFIELD, N. J. (AP)—A horse touched off a five-car accident in which it was fatally injured early today.

Police said the horse, a gelding owned by Roger Young of South Plainfield, apparently wandered onto Route 287 after getting out of its corral about a quarter of a mile away.

The animal was knocked down and probably killed when a car driven by Edward Haluska of Metuchen, N. J., slammed into it, police said.

Farmers' Unit Blasts Bureau at Hearings

OMAHA, Neb. (AP)—Members of a Nebraska farmers organization said Saturday the American Farm Bureau Federation is an interlocking business organization operated for the benefit of those "other than farmers."

The testimony came in a hearing conducted by Rep. Joseph Y. Resnick, D-N.Y., who is investigating the tax-exempt status of the Farm Bureau.

Mrs. Frances Olmstead, a spokesman for the Webster County, Neb. farmers organization that was expelled from the Nebraska Farm Bureau Federation in 1964, declared that the farm bureau is part of an "interlocking of right-wing groups whose goal appears to be the overthrow of the American form of government."

The one-day Omaha hearing followed a similar hearing in Chicago in which witnesses testified that many persons joined the state farm bureau to obtain cheap insurance.

Mrs. Olmstead said that "insurance is only one small arm of a giant organization that is like an octopus." She alleged that farm bureau membership is based on insurance sales rather than service to members, that it is seldom operated for the farmers, that opponents of its policies are "silenced" or "neutralized by various means, and that many of its members are not farmers."

Resnick said it appears that the farm bureau is taking advantage of its tax-exempt status, posing as a farm organization but using its position "to build a tremendous business empire."

"This area of political thought or thought control by a tax-exempt organization using tax-exempt dues to propagate its political views is definitely against the law," he said.

Parker said, referring to Svetlana Alluyeva, the daughter of Stalin, "I always had to raise the issue. But as soon as I did, I got an outpouring of opinions."

"With some probing, I discovered most of them think she's simply crazy," Parker said. Educated Russians with whom he spoke were "sympathetic and understanding," Parker said, although they disagreed with her decision to go to America.

He said Vietnam and the Middle East always arose quickly in his talks.

"I found nobody who agreed with our basic foreign policy," Parker said. "Every one of them said we should get out of Vietnam, and they all condemned Israel as an aggressor."

Parker said he had hoped to find opinions that "differed widely from the official line on important issues."

"It was disappointing but revealing that few of them deviated," he said.

Drowned at Camp WATERBORO, Me. (AP)—An 8-year-old boy from Lima, N.Y., 18 miles south of Rochester, was drowned Sunday at his parents' camp on Little Ossipee Me. police said.

He was Peter S. Gilmore. The family had arrived at the camp Saturday.

Jet Deerslayer PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP)—A deer was killed Sunday when it ran in front of a jet airliner landing at Greater Pittsburgh Airport. The plane, flight 69 from New York, landed safely, though it had to have a hydraulic line replaced in its landing gear.

Clark in Hospital BANGKOK (AP)—U.S. Supreme Court Justice Tom Clark has been admitted to a U.S. Army hospital in Bangkok with an intestinal disorder.

Clark, who arrived here Aug. 2 for a series of lectures to university students, became ill Friday night, a U.S. Embassy spokesman said.

Queens Rally Hears Call for Revolution

NEW YORK (AP) — While African-robed youths waved palm fronds, and a machete-carrying Mau Mau guard stood by, Black Power advocate H. Rap Brown called on Negroes to arm themselves against a "hunky" (white) conspiracy of genocide.

Brown, chairman of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, told an audience at a rally Sunday:

"Stop buying all those big cars this year. When you get money give it to the brothers who are going to fight and let them get some stuff."

Brown did not explain what "stuff" was, but his speech drew a stomping, cheering ovation from about 700 Negroes who had earlier ordered white reporters to leave a ballroom with the cry "We want black reporters only."

Brown said the "rebellions" in Detroit, Newark and Plainfield, N.J. were the forerunners of "revolution. The white man hasn't been reading his own Bible, which says after the rainbow sign there's a fire next time."

The rally in St. Albans, Queens, a generally middle class Negro neighborhood, was called to support 17 Negroes charged with plotting the murder of moderate civil rights leaders.

Brown called President Lyndon B. Johnson "Lynchings" and said he was the "greatest outlaw in history."

He said the current investigation in Washington of recent race riots is "an antiblack rally called by Johnson and headed by a criminal named Eastland."

Leroi Jones, the Negro poet-playwright, dressed in orange robes, said "don't be where they think we are. Keep your women in the house and don't be out there stealing whiskey. Get something to protect yourself. If you don't have enough warriors in your town—if your town is bogged down with the NAACP—go to the jail where there are warriors."

The one-day Omaha hearing followed a similar hearing in Chicago in which witnesses testified that many persons joined the state farm bureau to obtain cheap insurance.

Mrs. Oltstead said that "insurance is only one small arm of a giant organization that is like an octopus." She alleged that farm bureau membership is based on insurance sales rather than service to members, that it is seldom operated for the farmers, that opponents of its policies are "silenced" or neutralized by various means, and that many of its members are not farmers.

Resnick said it appears that the farm bureau is taking advantage of its tax-exempt status, posing as a farm organization but using its position "to build a tremendous business empire."

"This area of political thought or thought control by a tax-exempt organization using tax-exempt dues to propagate its political views is definitely against the law," he said.

With most of them thinking she's simply crazy," Parker said. Educated Russians with whom he spoke were "sympathetic and understanding," Parker said, although they disagreed with her decision to go to America.

LEAVING SPACE PROGRAM—Scott M. Carpenter, one of the original seven astronauts, leaving the space program to do deepsea research for the Navy, it was announced Thursday. Russians Think Svetlana Is 'Simply Crazy'

MOSCOW (AP) — Talks with 40 Soviet citizens has produced opinion that Stalin's daughter is "simply crazy," a U.S. tourist said Sunday.

William Parker, a radio technician from Hannibal, N.Y., near Oswego, said he interviewed the citizens during a three-week tour through the center of European Russia, down the Volga and Don Rivers, to Kiev, Leningrad and Kharkov.

"The curious thing was that these people never once brought up the subject of Svetlana," Parker said, referring to Svetlana Alliluyeva, the daughter of Stalin. "I always had to raise the issue. But as soon as I did, I got an outpouring of opinions."

"With some probing, I discovered most of them think she's simply crazy," Parker said. Educated Russians with whom he spoke were "sympathetic and understanding," Parker said, although they disagreed with her decision to go to America.

Dear Abby

Acts Don't Change Facts

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: Because I was pregnant when I was married, I am now wondering what to tell my daughter and son when it is "facts of life" time. Would it be wise to tell them of their parents' "mistake" and hope we have raised their well and they'll do better?
WONDERING MOTHER
DEAR WONDERING: The "facts of life" remain the same regardless of what the facts of your life may have been. As long as your children believe their parents have practiced what they've preached, permit them their illusions. If one day they "find out," don't lie. They'll understand.

DEAR ABBY: Even tho we've been married more than 40 years, I still am embarrassed by the way Bernie talks. Profanity is his second language. We go out a lot socially, and it is extremely humiliating for me to listen to him. Every other word is a cuss word. Swearing is as natural for Bernie as breathing. He was raised in a good home and has been thru college, so you know he's not an uneducated bum. Our old friends are used to hearing Bernie swear, but when we are with new acquaintances for the first time, they look at me as if to ask, "Is that husband of yours a mental case?" What makes a person swear all the time? How can I cure him?

BERNIE'S WIFE
DEAR WIFE: If you've been humiliated for 40 years and are only now seeking a solution to your problem, you've wasted a lot of valuable time. The man who peppers his prose with profanity is advertising a limited vocabulary. Bernie may have gone thru college, but college never went thru him. The cure? After 40 years, your chances for "curing" him are slim.

DEAR ABBY: You recently filled your entire column with letters from anti-religious readers who disagreed with your religious point of view. That was very generous of you, but count me as one who thought you were right in suggesting psychiatric help for the man who suddenly turned anti-religious after having been reared in the Catholic church. (He shouted at his wife who said grace at the table. "Don't thank God for the food—Thank me!")
I would not question a man's

CONFIDENTIAL to the many readers who wrote to question my accuracy with regard to the following: "My medical authorities inform me that my answer was indeed correct. When a Negro and a White marry, their child will be no darker than his darkest parent. The 'coal black baby' throwback you describe is possible only if there is Negro ancestry on both sides. How has the world been treating you? Unload your problems on Dear Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal., 90069. For a personal unpublished reply, enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1.00 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal., 90069. (© 1967 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.)

Horoscope By SYDNEY OMARR It's In The Stars— ("The wise man controls his destiny . . . astrology points the way.")

FORECAST FOR TUESDAY, AUGUST 8, 1967
ARIES (Mar. 21-Apr. 19): Conditions at work, home apt to be less than settled. Your own sense of order may appear abused. Key is to adjust to changing conditions. If you let go, you actually gain.
TAURUS (Apr. 20-May 20): Day to be an innovator. Bring forth inventive ability. Find new ways of expressing needs, desires. Young persons may appear disturbed. This is but a temporary condition.
GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Conditions close to home base could change—suddenly. Don't depend too much upon support of older individuals. Create your own allies. Develop resources. Challenge waste, carelessness.
CANCER (June 21-July 22): Not wise to wander with no purpose. You could ask for trouble and receive it. Say no to proposal of journey which lacks direction, meaning. Argumentative relative may be tolerated.
LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Don't permit one who talks a big game to sway you. Applies especially where investments are concerned. Take time to be thorough. Check reliable sources. Stick to conservative course.
VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Some ways of communicating require revision. Understand that associates, others around you are apt to be temperamental. Don't compound error. Take time to be analytical.
LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Some of your past could catch up. Means be aware of promises, resolutions, obligations. Important person makes reappearance. Maintain poise. Cycle begins to move up.
SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Disputes among friends indicated. Strive to be fair, neutral. Those who battle today reconcile tomorrow. If you become involved, your intentions may be falsely interpreted.
SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Routine is disrupted. Changes are handed down from the top. Means what was established now is revised. Be ready, alert and versatile. You get chance to show off talents.
CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Dig deep for information. You discover special aspects of project which others overlook. Key is to be thorough. Check plans, information, travel instructions.
AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Some beliefs may be shaken. Realize mate or partner has right of self-expression. If you disagree, do so in mature manner. Avoid tendency toward envy. Make necessary adjustment.
PISCES (Feb. 19-Mar. 20): Steer clear of foolish dispute with mate, partner, close associate. Pressure applied to hurry you. Do your best to comply without giving up quality or principles.
IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY you are a natural executive, capable of attracting money, power, love. Opportunity now is knocking. Answer.
GENERAL TENDENCIES: Cycle high for VIRGO, LIBRA, SCORPIO. Special word to LEO: effort made in recent past due to pay off.

Oswald: "Modern bidding is a strange and wonderful thing. Take the cue bid as an example. Once upon a time it was used to show first-round control and a very good hand. Today it may show almost anything."

Jim: "I notice that you seem to take to these modern cue bids as a duck to water. What are you complaining about?"

Oswald: "I'm not complaining at all. It is just a matter of getting used to them."

Jim: "Here's a hand that shows cue bids at their best, although most complicated."

Oswald: "South's double is a good one. West's heart raise presents to North a real problem. He doesn't like to bid no-trump with only one heart stopper. He holds only three spades and he has a maximum pass. A three-heart cue bid is a slight overbid but it does solve his problem temporarily."

Jim: "South's four-diamond bid is the normal response to the cue bid. He doesn't know where North is heading but he is ready to go."

Oswald: "If South had bid three spades, North would raise him to four. The four-diamond bid encourages North and he makes a repeat cue bid."

Jim: "He is still willing to settle for four spades if South bids it but South is after a diamond slam in spite of the fact that North has passed originally. He gets there by means of the Blackwood route."

Oswald: "The slam makes easily. Since diamonds break 2-2 and the jack of spades drops doubleton, South is able to discard one of dummy's clubs on his fourth spade; knock out the ace of clubs and ruff his third club."

Jim: "Otherwise, South might have had to locate the jack of clubs to make 12 tricks."

DEAR ABBY: You recently filled your entire column with letters from anti-religious readers who disagreed with your religious point of view. That was very generous of you, but count me as one who thought you were right in suggesting psychiatric help for the man who suddenly turned anti-religious after having been reared in the Catholic church. Jerry Van Dyke Has Troubles

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
HOLLYWOOD AP — Jerry Van Dyke has his troubles even before the public sees his new series.

"Every time I talk to some one from the newspapers," he complained, "the story comes out with the headline, 'Dick's Brother Tries Again.'"

This is a hard problem to lick. Jerry is indeed Dick Van Dyke's younger brother and Jerry's television career to date has been pretty much confined to a few successful guest shots on the old "Dick Van Dyke Show"—playing the star's brother—and regular employment in three of the worst disasters in TV history.

CBS, seeing him in his brother's show, put him under contract on the theory that two Van Dykes were better than one, and then put him to work as host in what is still remembered as an all-time low in game shows, "Picture This."

Next came an even more spectacular fizzle: "The Judy Garland Show."

"I never knew what I was doing there," Van Dyke says now. "But the first lines I had in the opening show were to ask her, 'What's a nice little old lady like you doing on television?'"

"I hated them. I thought they were rude, and I made me look bad and I fought them all the way up to the head man. I lost but I was right."

Then came along a pilot show, "My Boy Goggle"—"They ran it this summer and it was pretty bad."

"My Mother, the Car" rolled along during the recent fantasy fad and still holds the distinction of being used almost universally by critics of television to demonstrate the depths to which programming can sink.

Performers, however, are not often given so many chances unless they have some sort of special quality or talent. This season's string of comedy success that son, with Jerry back playing in NBC's "Accidental Family," his show to "The Dick Van Dyke Show."

The half hour comedy is the first series developed by Sheldon Leonard under his recent NBC production deal. Leonard, in partnership with Danny

OFFICE CAT

Trade Mark Reg. By Junius

An enterprising young mother explained that she got her son out of bed in the morning by opening the door to his bedroom and throwing the cat on his bed.

Mrs. Smith (her friend) — How does that help?

She replied: — Mrs. Jones — He sleeps with the dog.

Harry — Have you ever seen a prize-fight?

Larry — No, I've never seen a prize-fight, but I have looked in on a woman's afternoon bridge party.

Debbie — What is that animal which has the head of a cat, and the tail of a cat, and yet which isn't a cat?

Carole — A kitten.

Restaurant sign: Our steaks are so tender we wonder how the steer ever held together.

New Paltz Man Qualifies for DC-6

Long before a United Air Lines pilot dons his uniform and gets behind the controls of his airplane he will have spent scores of hours "flying" on the ground.

The feat is accomplished at United's Flight Training Center in Denver where pilots in training can "fly" multi-million dollar simulators that duplicate every operation of any plane in United jet and piston fleet.

William B. Cotton, son of Mrs. Jane D. Cotton, 47 Church Street, New Paltz, recently graduated from United's Flight Training Center and has been assigned as a second officer flying out of Newark. He is qualified to fly DC-6 aircraft.

A native of Bellingham, Wash., Cotton is married and has two children. He is a graduate of New Paltz Central School and also was educated at Swarthmore College, the University of Illinois and Massachusetts Institute of Technology. He holds both bachelor's and master's degrees. Cotton has logged 1,125 flight hours.

The pilot training program begins with five weeks of first officer training, which includes classroom, simulator and airplane instruction, followed by eight weeks of second officer training.

The student pilot then moves into a DC-6 simulator (United has five) for three weeks of intensive "flight" training, the simulator duplicating every operation from takeoff and level flight to landings, complete with "tire squeak" sound effects.

A week of "finals" for the training pilot includes a rating ride, oral exams, a simulator check and finally, a check ride in the air at the controls of his plane.

Local, State Meet Set on Perrine Span

It was announced today by Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson of Ulster County that he has called a second meeting with various state officials in an effort to enlist state assistance in the restoration of Perrine's Bridge in Rifton.

Wilson said that he and several members of the local Perrine's Bridge Committee, including Supervisor Gerard DeFelicis of Rosendale, Supervisor Roger Mable of Esopus, and A. Clifford Henze, the committee's treasurer, will be in Albany today for the meeting.

Two weeks ago Assemblyman Wilson and members of the Bridge Committee met with R. Burdell Bixby, chairman of the State Thruway Authority, to discuss the possibility of constructing rest areas along the Thruway in the vicinity of Perrine's Bridge. At the meeting, Wilson said that if state funds are to be expended for the restoration of the bridge there should be some means of making the local historical site more accessible to the general public. The Assemblyman said that one of the best methods to accomplish this objective would be to construct rest areas along the Thruway in the immediate vicinity of the bridge.

Assemblyman Wilson said that the cost estimates for such a project were advanced by John A. Tiesler, the Thruway's executive director, and that a preliminary design of the proposed rest areas was presented at the meeting by the Thruway's Chief Engineer, Conrad E. Lang. Wilson said that the Thruway officials seemed to feel that Perrine's Bridge should be preserved as a historical site, and they agreed with him that the proposed rest areas should be constructed to make the bridge more of a tourist attraction. Chairman Bixby informed the Assemblyman, however, that no Thruway Authority funds could be expended for such a project, and that all construction costs would probably have to be drawn from the State's $200-million dollar recreational development bond issue.

Others at Huddle

Because of the various factors involved with the entire project, including the rest areas, the actual restoration of the bridge, and possible construction of a recreation area in conjunction with the bridge, representatives of other agencies will also be at today's meeting in Albany. William G. Tyrrell, who recently made an inspection tour of Perrine's Bridge with Assemblyman Wilson and other local officials, will be representing the State's Historic Trust, and there will also be a representative of the Palisades Park Commission since the Bridge will undoubtedly become the responsibility of that agency if it is accepted as a State historic site.
